HARDWARE MEN FORM BIG TRUST

Combine with $120,000,000 Capital Organized by Fifty Leading Houses of Country.

MORE FIRMS TO COME IN.

Huge Union Expects to Have Practical Control of Trade and to Save Much in Buying.

CHICAGO CONCERNS STAY OUT

New York, April 9.—[Special.]—Authoritative announcement of a consolidation of the great hardware jobbing interests of the country in a combination capitalized at $120,000,000 will be made by the Iron Age, the organ of the industry, in its current issue tomorrow.

The consolidation embraces:

Simmons Hardware company at St. Louis.
Bindley Hardware company of Pittsburg.
William Bingham company of Cleveland.
Supplee Hardware company of Philadelphia.
Marshall-Wells Hardware company of Duluth.
Bigelow & Dowse company of Boston.
George Tritch Hardware company of Denver.
Janney, Semple, Hill & Co. of Minneapolis.

Besides those named there are forty other houses, representing nearly every important trade center of the country. Negotiations are still pending with other houses, and it is expected there will be further accessions to the number already enrolled in the combination.

Several names have been suggested for the consolidation, such as the International Hardware company, National Hardware and Metal company, International Hardware and Metal company, and there is little doubt that one of these will be chosen.

List of Probable Officers.

The organization not being technically completed there has been no formal choice of officers. It is purposed that the officials shall be as follows: E. C. Simmons, President; John Bindley, Vice President; and W. D. Simmons, chairman of the Executive committee. There will be a Board of Directors, consisting of from twenty-five to thirty persons, representing the different sections of the country. There will also be an Executive committee of nine.

The financing of the company is attended to by Moore & Schley of New York, and George B. Hill & Co. of Pittsburg, Pa. It is intended to incorporate under the laws of New Jersey with a capital of $120,000,000—$40,000,000 preferred and $80,000,000 common stock. The preferred will be a 6 per cent cumulative stock, preferred both for liquidation and dividends. The general headquarters for buying and selling and transportation of goods will be in St. Louis. The Eastern headquarters will be in New York City. The members of the Executive committee residing in the East with Mr. Bindley will manage the Eastern business of the corporation.

Adopt Home Rule Plan.

The Eastern office will have charge of the finances and of the auditing and insurance of the company, as well as the general direction of all the houses in Maryland, Pennsylvania, New York, and New England. The general buying for the company will be from the St. Louis headquarters, where the larger contracts will be placed, but the smaller buying will be done by the local houses.

The principle of home rule will be recognized in connection with the local houses, who will make their own selling prices, except so far as this may interfere with the buying department or the expressed wishes of the manufacturers, which it will be the policy of the company to respect. Each house will be held responsible for the results of its business, and if these are not satisfactory the house will be closed up.

Point Out Advantages.

Apart from the fact that the company naturally expects to purchase goods on the most favorable terms, in view of the large volume they will handle, attention is called to economies which will be secured as the direct result of the combination. Among those the following may be mentioned:

All the houses constituting the company will be in a position to avail themselves of cash discounts. A mutual insurance fund will be created, and the sums which would naturally be paid by the companies for insurance under the present system will be paid into such fund.

It is estimated that at least $100,000 per annum will be saved in the matter of catalogues.

It is intended to continue the present force of salesmen connected with the various houses, so that existing personal relations between wholesale and retail distributers will be preserved. There may be a gradual transfer of salesmen from territory that is overworked at present to other territoy, where the salesmen's efforts can be more advantageously expended.

As at present constituted, it is estimated by the company that they embrace something like two-thirds of the distributing efficiency of the jobbing trade of the country in the hardware line. They are content that the other third should remain competitors, as it is not intended to monopolize the jobbing business.

Largest Mercantile House in World.

In commenting editorially on the new combination, the Iron Age says:

"Opinions will differ widely in regard to the wisdom of the action and the practicability of the scheme. It introduces a new element and presents new problems. Whether it will be for the benefit of the class of trade in whose interest it is formed, and what will be its influence on the trade at large, are questions an answer to which may be long delayed. It will be unquestionably the largest mercantile house in the world, using this term to designate distributing as contrasted with manufacturing."

Chicago Firms Not Included.

The promoters of the hardware trust gave the Chicago field a wide berth in their organization. Members of leading wholesale hardware firms yesterday said no Chicago dealers had joined the trust, and it was not believed any would.

KEILEY QUITS CAIRO POST

CHIEF JUSTICE OF INTERNATIONAL COURT RESIGNS.

Man Whose Appointment as Minister to Italy and Later to Vienna Caused Trouble During Cleveland Administration Vacates Important Position in Egypt Because of Wife's Death—President Roosevelt Notified by Khedive—Will Name Successor.

New York, April 9.—[Special.]—The news was received in this city today that Chief Justice A. M. Keiley of the International Court at Cairo, Egypt, had resigned his position. This resignation was tendered to the Khedive of Egypt, who has notified this government of the fact.

The vacancy is to be filled by President Roosevelt, and as the position is regarded as a most desirable one, it is expected there will be many applicants as soon as the fact becomes known.

The resignation of Mr. Keiley is understood to have been due to the death of his wife.

Appointed by Cleveland.

Anthony M. Keiley first came into national prominence through his nomination by President Cleveland in 1885 as Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to Italy.

For twelve years Mr. Keiley was President of the National Irish Catholic Benevolent union. He professed the Catholic faith. Between Mr. Keiley and Cardinal Gibbons there has existed a warm personal friendship. He did not let his religion stand between him and his happiness when he fell in love with a young woman who was a Jewess. They were married, and their wedded life was one of unbroken affection.

Repudiated by Two Courts.

Mr. Keiley's appointment as Minister to Italy was canceled on account of objections of the Italian government. He was then accredited by President Cleveland as Minister to Vienna. The Austrian government also objected. Secretary Bayard went so far as to say the appointment would be allowed to stand even though it resulted in a cessation of diplomatic relations between the United States and Austria.

To relieve the administration of President Cleveland of further embarrassment Mr. Keiley resigned. He was later appointed by President Cleveland to the international court at Cairo, and has served in that court continuously since that time.

GIRL BRUTALLY MURDERED AND LEFT LYING IN STREET.

Unknown Man Stabs and Clubs to Death Young Woman Not Yet Identified—Mystery in Whole Affair.

Detroit, Mich., April 10, 3 a. m.—A young girl, who has not yet been identified, was stabbed and pounded to death just before midnight in Thirteenth street, near McGraw street.

Her throat was cut from ear to ear, a knife was thrust into her brain behind the ear, and a mark on her forehead showed that she had been clubbed.

A resident of the neighborhood, Harry Jewell, heard cries and screams, and, looking out, saw a man striking a girl down. After felling her and running away a short distance, Jewell says the assailant turned again and renewed his attack on her prostrate body. Jewell notified the police, who found the girl dead. She was apparently a working girl.

Several people residing in the vicinity of the murder were taken to the morgue by the police, but none of them could identify the girl.

Coroner Hoffman says the dent in her forehead was evidently made with a hammer or some other blunt instrument.

There was absolutely nothing on her person by which she could be identified. She is apparently about 20 years of age, and weighs about 120 pounds.

Thirteenth street, in the vicinity of the crime, is sparsely settled. Harry Jewell was walking along McGraw avenue towards his home when he heard screams coming from Thirteenth street. Looking across the vacant lots he saw the girl struck down. The murderer ran away, and then, apparently not sure that he had accomplished his purpose, returned.

Jewell ran to the house of his brother-in-law, near-by, for assistance, and the two men ran across the lots. Lying on the sidewalk they found the mutilated body. They then notified the police.

An examination of the neighborhood revealed a great pool of blood on Antoinette street, two and a half blocks from where the body was found. How it came there is a mystery. Up to 2:30 the police had not captured the murderer nor had any clew to his identity been discovered.

RIOT CALL AT A WEDDING: POLICE CHARGE THE CROWD.

Curious Men and Women Block Entrance to Bethlehem Lutheran Church and Tear the Bride's Veil.

A throng of women who were curious to witness a wedding ceremony, and a larger throng of men who were curious to learn what the women were curious about, blocked the entrance to the Bethlehem Lutheran Church at Center avenue and Huron street last night, and the bridal party was delayed in its march until the police of the West Chicago Avenue Station could clear the way.

Later the ceremony was delayed again by the attempt of a crowd of hoodlums to force a way into the church and a larger detail of police was summoned.

The bride was Louise Moe, 295 West Erie street, and the groom Henry Peterson, 222 North Elizabeth street. When Miss Moe finally reached the inside of the church, after being jostled by the crowd, her veil was torn and she was on the point of collapse.

The police were forced to handle the crowd roughly, but no one was hurt and no arrests were made.

BLAZE STARTS IN CITY HALL.

Flames Discovered in a Storeroom, but Are Put Out Before Much Damage Is Done.

A small fire was discovered in the City Hall early this morning, and was put out before it had done much damage. Policeman Richard Pugh, who is stationed in the building, saw smoke and traced it to the storeroom on the first floor in the rear of the elevator. The door was opened and a pile of lumber was found to be in flames. The blaze was put out with a chemical. The origin of the fire is not known. A quantity of lumber and several barrels were burned.

RIOTING FOLLOWS INSULTS TO KING

TROOPS READY TO MOVE.

Minister of War Calls Eighteen Regiments to Colors to Guard Against Civil War.

SOCIALISTS IN ANGRY MOOD.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BRUSSELS, April 10, 3 a. m.—The Socialist demonstration against King Leopold at the railway station yesterday developed into a mob, which held the streets of Brussels until after midnight. In the street fighting a number of rioters and police were shot. The mobs smashed windows, looted shops and cafés, extinguished street lights, and stoned houses. They were finally dispersed after midnight.

The riots, the demonstration against the King, and the insistent demands of the Liberals, Radicals, and Socialists for universal suffrage have created so great a feeling of alarm for the safety of the government that tonight all divisions of the gendarmerie have been in readiness to march wherever they may be needed.

Reserves Ordered to Colors.

General Cousebant d'Allemade, Minister of War, has ordered the reserves to join the colors. These include the militia and fourteen line regiments of the years 1898 and 1899, besides the carabinier and grenadier regiments.

Wednesday's disturbance was started by the action of the government in expelling from Belgium four Spanish Republican Deputies who came to visit the country. They addressed a Socialist meeting on Tuesday, and yesterday morning they received notice from the police to leave Belgium at once.

Mob Hoots the King.

Their departure from the railway station happened to coincide with the arrival of King Leopold from France. His Majesty was entering his motor car when a number of Socialists, accompanying the expelled Spaniards, pushed towards him shouting, "Long live universal suffrage," "Long live the republic." The police kept the course of the motor car, which speeded off. A section of the crowd cheered the King.

His Majesty's return from Biarritz is connected with the agitation for universal suffrage, which the Liberals, Radicals, and Socialists are insistently demanding. The government strongly resists, and the working classes are becoming dangerously angry. The Ministers are resolved to absolutely refuse the demand for a change in the electoral law under street pressure, and are preparing to maintain their position by force.

Mobs Attack Catholics.

All night there were disorders in several places, the violence of the mobs being usually directed against the Catholics, for the clerical party is the mainstay of the opposition to universal suffrage.

A noisy parade of Socialists in Brussels this evening culminated in a riot in one of the suburbs. A mob attacked some convents and houses of clerical deputies, smashing the windows. They also extinguished the street lamps. The police were resisted and several revolvers were fired by the crowd. The police then fired their revolvers, but were outnumbered and forced to take refuge in a café. The crowd pursued, wounded them, and wrecked the café. Afterwards they smashed the windows of all the shops that were open. It is reported that many persons were wounded in the fighting.

Rioting in Other Cities.

There has been rioting at Liege and Ghent, and the reports from those places represent the trouble as being serious. Many persons were injured, and numerous arrests were made.

A dynamite cartridge was thrown at a priest's house at La Louviere. The house was damaged, but nobody was hurt. The miners and ironworkers are keenly interested in the agitation. Strikes have begun in some of the collieries, and there is talk of a general strike on April 14.

Spaniards Arrive at Liege.

LIEGE, Belgium, April 9.—A procession of 1,500 persons met the delegation of Spanish Republican deputies, who were expelled from Brussels, when they arrived at the railroad station here. The Spaniards were given a riotous welcome, but the gathering was dispersed by the police. Four persons were injured.

During an anti-Catholic riot at Ghent several persons were injured and a number arrested. Troops were called out to quell the troubles.

WOMAN SLAYS HUSBAND AND SON: THEN KILLS HERSELF.

Everett, Wash., April 9.—Mrs. Shepard R. Bucey, wife of the assistant cashier of the American National Bank, this evening killed her husband, their 4-year-old son, and herself in a fit of insanity.

When neighbors arrived at the house the clinched hand of Mrs. Bucey retained the revolver. In the parlor was Mrs. Bucey, shot through the heart. By her side was her 4-year-old boy, Eugene, with a bullet hole through his head.

In the dining-room, adjoining the parlor, was Bucey's body with two bullet holes behind the left ear.

Under the new management the theater will be known as The Garrick. Fifteen thousand dollars will be expended in remodeling, redecorating, and refurnishing the theater.

CRACK A DEAD MAN'S SAFE

Chicago Experts Summoned to Kankakee to Open a Steel Chest Containing the Private Papers of the Late Truman Huling—Beneficiaries Cannot Agree and the $300,000 Estate May Be Thrown Into Court—Other Faction Gets Attachment.

A big steel safe which contained the private papers of the late Truman Huling of Kankakee was "cracked" yesterday by Chicago experts, who were summoned to the asylum city to do the work.

The heirs are at war over a division of the estate, and without the papers contained in the safe it was impossible to ascertain just how much property Mr. Huling left. When the Chicago cracksmen had finished their work yesterday—and the "cracking" required nine hours—it was found that the estate would approximate $300,000.

Come Home Satisfied.

Satisfied with the day's work, E. C. Huling, brother of Truman Huling, together with Jacob R. Custer, his attorney, and George S. Gaylord and the experts returned last night to Chicago.

The contest for possession of the papers left by Mr. Huling has been on for some time. The combination of the lock on the chest has been held by Milo C. Huling, a younger brother of Truman Huling, who for a time was in charge of the estate. He refused to divulge the combination, and the other relatives then determined to hire "good" burglars to aid them.

Mr. Huling's will provided that his widow should receive $80,000, and that the remainder of the estate should be divided between the four children of Edward C. Huling and the children of Milo C. Huling.

Had to Open the Safe.

"This matter will all be settled in the courts," said Edward C. Huling. "It was necessary for the people interested in the estate to know of the contents of the safe and it had to be forced. My great interest in this matter is to see that the widow gets her dower rights. That will cut down the portion for my children, but I want the right thing to be done. It may be necessary to formally contest the will. Before the chest was broken open writs of attachment were served on the executors of the estate for two claims on my son Walter C. Huling. They have no judgment, and my son did not, as was claimed, sell land that did not belong to him."

The attachments referred to by Mr. Huling are in favor of Charles S. McCoy and James Grassie. Both are for borrowed money, about $5,000 being involved.

"HOODOO" PATROL WAGON RECORDS ANOTHER DEATH.

Instead of a patient for the County Hospital, policemen of the Englewood station yesterday found they had a corpse for the morgue. The latest victim of the "hoodoo" Englewood patrol wagon was Oliver Lewis, 6030 Center avenue, who died in the vehicle while being taken from his home to be treated for pneumonia.

Six months ago Timothy Ryan, who had been detailed to the patrol wagon for years, died. A month later Henry Wilson, wagonman, was seized with an illness which terminated fatally. Captain Louis Haas rode in the wagon on the day he was taken home sick. Then John Reddy, patrolman, dropped dead while in the wagon.

HOW ONE POLICEMAN "RESTS."

Patrolman Benson Spends Vacation Making Wholesale Arrests of Street Car Flippers.

At least one of Chief O'Neill's men has succeeded in occupying his time during his enforced vacation. Within a week Policeman Benson of Central detail has arrested seventy-five boys under 17 years of age, the charge being "flipping" street cars. When Benson went on his furlough of fifteen days he was employed for that length of time by the City railway company to conduct a crusade against the "flippers." The boys have been arraigned in the Harrison street police court each day and suspended fines placed against them.

POLITICS LOADS CANAL PAY ROLL.

CARTER THROWS A BOMB.

SESSION AN EXCITING ONE.

Isham Randolph, for more than ten years chief of the engineering work of the Chicago drainage channel, arose yesterday afternoon during a meeting of the Sanitary board—his employers—and spoke what he confessed was a belated word of protest against political interference in the engineering work of the district.

"I must speak plainly," said Mr. Randolph. "I am on judgment—on trial, as it were. You, as men, know that when you went to Springfield you had to put men to work. Some were good and some were bad. The men selected by the trustees are not ordinarily chosen according to their fitness."

Power of Political Pull.

Mr. Randolph then, under fire of questions, confessed that he sometimes hesitated about discharging men because of the power of politics.

"Have you now any surplus men in your department, Mr. Randolph?" demanded President Thomas Smyth of the board in the midst of a heated scene that had developed.

"Two or three," responded Mr. Randolph.

"How long have they been there?" persisted the President.

"For some time," said the engineer. "But I'd rather discuss the matter in private with the trustees."

Stirred by Mr. Randolph's sudden exposure of political influence weighing down the great engineering work, Trustee Wenter, speaking under the stress of great feeling and indignation, declared:

"Patronage is a curse. It kills every man that depends upon it. The taxpayers look at results, and I don't want this board to be in a position to be assailed constantly."

Refuse Control to Engineer.

After Mr. Randolph's avowal that political domination had been felt in his department in spite of his desire to keep clear of it, the Commissioners went on record as opposed to giving the entire power over engineering employés to the chief engineer, only Mr. Carter and Mr. Wenter favoring such a course.

Having defeated that plan, the board passed a resolution directing Mr. Randolph to report to the Engineering committee "whether the rule of the board which declares that the chief engineer shall have entire charge of the engineering department has been observed and all matters pertaining thereto." Trustee Braden, who introduced the resolution, declared it meant that an investigation will be made of the department. Chief Engineer Randolph is expected to make a report in detail telling what employés of the department have secured their positions through influence and how and why they have been maintained on the pay roll despite incompetency.

Carter Throws the Bomb.

The board had completed its routine work when Trustee Carter arose and fired the bombshell which started the debate. He spoke slowly at first, but as he became warmed up to his subject he talked more rapidly and earnestly.

"I believe that every trustee has the utmost confidence in the head of the engineering department," he said. "His unswerving fidelity has saved the district many hundreds of thousands of dollars. It is fitting that we give some public expression to our appreciation of this fidelity. Bearing in mind Mr. Randolph's integrity, and believing it is the best way to convince the public that our work is properly conducted, I move that the chief engineer have full and absolute control of the engineering department, and that he be directed and empowered to make any changes that he may deem necessary, either to increase the efficiency of his department or to eliminate expenses."

Wenter Lends Support.

As Mr. Carter resumed his seat Trustee Wenter arose.

"I wish heartily to indorse that resolution and to second it," he said. "I believe in the non-interference with the heads of departments. While it may be obnoxious to some trustees to delegate their powers to another—I'm not meaning anything personal—it's the only way to attain results. The heads of the departments have the technical knowledge that we all lack, and that is essential to an economical administration."

Then Mr. Wenter gave expression to his views, quoted in the foregoing, on the blighting effects of patronage.

Braden Resents Criticism.

Before Mr. Wenter had finished, Trustee Braden, but two seats away, was on his feet awaiting a chance to speak.

"I can't understand these spasms of Mr. Carter and Mr. Wenter," he said. "The chief engineer has been at all times, since I have been a member of this board, in charge of his department, and he never has been interfered with, so far as I know. I have not done it. If the engineer hasn't the force that is capable, or the expenses ought to be reduced, it is his fault. He should report it. The members of this board are working just as hard as they did under the Presidency of Mr. Wenter, and this resolution appears to be a direct reflection on the present administration. I think all the trustees are just as good as Mr. Wenter."

Trustee Carter arose to explain. "I didn't want to make any trouble with my resolution," he explained. "I merely thought the best way to meet criticism in the future was to place the entire responsibility in the hands of the chief engineer. Let him be responsible, both to the trustees and to the public alike."

Symth Holds to Responsibility.

"As a trustee—I'm not speaking as the President—as a trustee I wouldn't saddle the responsibility of my position on Mr. Randolph's shoulders," broke in President Smyth. "Mr. Randolph is in full charge of his department, as are the heads of the law department, the police, and the clerk's office."

"Suppose we call upon the chief engineer," suggested Trustee Baker, who had refrained from the discussion before. "Let's hear from you, Mr. Randolph. Have you ever been interfered with in the conduct of your department?"

Mr. Randolph was seated in a chair facing the semi-circle of desks at which the trustees sat. Rising, with one hand on the back of his chair, he made the sensational statement quoted in the foregoing.

Braden Waives His Rights.

Trustee Braden, upon whom the remarks of the chief engineer had apparently some effect, walked in front of his desk, and, looking directly at Mr. Randolph, said:

"I'm surprised to hear Mr. Randolph say that he had incompetent men. If any men are incompetent I am ready to see them dismissed. Until the engineer made the statement that influences from Springfield had caused him to give men employment and keep them when they were not competent, it was the first intimation I ever had that he was not in complete control of his department. His work has never been interfered with by me, as chairman of the Engineering committee. Any man he does not wish to retain will be discharged if I have anything to say. Let him report to the committee, which is the proper way, any laxity in his department, and it will be remedied."

"I supposed," continued Mr. Braden, speaking to the chief engineer, "that you were in control. You made one statement, Mr. Randolph, which I think you ought to amplify, when you spoke of having raw men recommended to you. Isn't it a fact that, from the nature of the work, all men are raw and have to be taught at the start?"

"It is," replied Mr. Randolph.

"It is right that you should say so in justice to the members of the board. Now, Mr. Randolph," pointing his finger at the engineer, "I want you to report to me on Monday any incompetent members of the engineering department."

Webb Favors Reciprocity.

Trustee Webb interrupted:

"Of course, there is a practicalside to this. We, as practical men, ought to understand this. If the board goes to the Legislature and secures favors, no practical man would object to some sort of a return, provided the employés so obtained performed their daily work satisfactorily. If the subordinates do not work the heads are to blame. This is no new policy for the board. It is a business board, run on business principles, and criticism only turns to actual benefit. If the resolution offered by Mr. Carter was meant merely to emphasize the present rule we have conferring power upon the chief engineer I am in favor of it."

"The motion was evidently not made in that spirit," responded Mr. Cloidt, who was in the chair, "and, as it merely reiterates a rule of the board, it is superfluous. The present rules make Mr. Randolph supreme in his department. If a resolution is offered suggesting more expeditious work I will vote for it. This is not the proper thing."

"Of course it isn't," said Trustee Braden, again entering the discussion. "It was meant for a reflection on the board. I charge Trustees Carter and Wenter with supporting this resolution for effect."

Sharp Reply by Carter.

In a second Trustee Carter was on his feet. He shouted at the top of his voice:

"That is enough. The time has gone by for that. There has been a time when I would sit still on this board when such insinuations have been cast at me, but no longer. The time has gone by for any trustee to charge me, unchallenged, with making any motion for mere buncombe. I brought this in here in good faith, to put us right with the public, and to protect my own good name, whether the rest care for it or not."

President Smyth objected to the word "absolute" in the Carter resolution.

"As long as I am a trustee no one will have absolute control. I'll resign first. I was elected by the people and sent here for some purpose, and to the best of my ability I will fulfill that purpose. There must be nobody in absolute control but the trustees, and they are supreme. They must not delegate their powers to anybody else. Do you realize that this resolution, if enacted, would give Mr. Randolph the power to take fifty or twenty feet off Madison street or any other place if he so desired?"

"I'm in full accord with President Smyth in upholding the prerogatives of the trustees in the management of the district," said Mr. Baker.

Substitute Motion Opposed.

Following this expression of opinion, Trustee Baker offered as a substitute for the Carter resolution a motion ordering Mr. Randolph to plan a reorganization of his department and report upon its condition at the next meeting of the Engineering committee on Monday.

This substitute, as well as the original Carter motion, was declared out of order.

"Let the matter go over for a week," suggested Mr. Baker. "I've got an important engagement and would like to get away."

The idea apparently met with the favor of the chair, when Mr. Webb broke in:

"O pshaw, Mr. Chairman. Adjourn after all this talk! I believe we ought to settle this matter one way or the other tonight."

Braden Resolution Adopted.

"Well, I'll offer a resolution which ought to satisfy everybody," said Trustee Braden. The resolution was:

"The chief engineer is directed to report to the Engineering committee next Monday whether rule 38 and all matters pertaining thereto had been enforced."

"This gives us scope to go into everything, and the engineer will be able to explain, and we can make public the exact amount and nature of influence which has kept any incompetent men in the employ of the department," said Mr. Braden.

"Call the roll," said Mr. Carter.

The vote stood 6 to 2. Trustees Baker, Braden, Cloidt, Legner, Smyth, and Webb voted for the Braden resolution; Trustees Carter and Wenter against it.

Trustee Carter declared that the resolution was designed to "sidetrack the whole proposition," and in this he was seconded by Mr. Wenter.

Big Building Settles.

The condition of the H. Channon Building, five stories high, which stands on the river's edge at Randolph and Market streets, is causing anxiety to the Northern Trust company officials, the company being trustees of the building. Since the Sanitary District began to construct the bridge at Randolph street the outer portion of the big building has begun to settle, and Deputy Building Commissioner O'Shea and Chief Inspector Barry have made several trips to ascertain the exact amount of damage done.

The Channon company, dealer in contractors' supplies, occupies the structure, with 150 employés, many of whom are women. Mr. Channon remains in the building and declares that he is confident that there is no danger.

In the wall facing Randolph street, close to the river, is a gap eight inches thick, the chinks having been closed with cement. The wall, Commissioner O'Shea said, settled an eighth of an inch on Tuesday night, and in all has settled an inch downward and one and a half inches outward. From the interior of the main storeroom can be seen a crack indicating the depression. Mr. Channon declares that the big gap existed before the construction of the bridge began, and was caused by the driving of piles for a dock.

Vesselmen Serve Warning.

At the meeting of vesselmen held yesterday at the Board of Trade to devise some means of doing away with the obstruction to navigation caused by the old center pier in the middle of the river at Taylor street bridge it was decided to lodge a complaint with the Secretary of War.

The Housekeeper's Corner.

Empire pieces are heavy with gilt mountings.

Do not forget that the earlier you sweeten the cellar and basement by cleaning them the better for the health of the family.

Dainty boxes for cotillon favors are round in shape, covered with white tissue paper, and to be filled presumably with bonbons.

In bedroom sets there are white enameled pieces to be painted to order, in jonquils, poppies, roses, or whatever may be the floral motif of the room in which they are to be used.

Don't allow pet birds to take bits of sugar or other food from your lips. You might contract in this way a peculiar parasitic growth in the throat or lungs that has been found to be fatal.

Furniture, like rugs, is made for the lawn as well as for the house. Many of the tea and work tables in rattan and reed have circular bottoms, so that there are no feet to sink into the earth.

Every sleeping room should have a fireplace or a ventilating flue of fifty square inches area. Neglect of this precaution may not be without an injurious effect upon the health. Apartment house builders should be taken to task.

"DICKIE" DEAN TO COME TO TRIAL.

HOW HE GETS "GRAFT."

Now Is Under Three Indictments and Yet He Continues to Offend.

NEW LAWS ARE REQUIRED.

State's Attorney Deneen may be able to bring the official career of "Dicky" Dean as "constable" to an end. Three indictments are now standing against Dean, and Mr. Deneen has ordered his assistants to report why the cases have not been brought to trial.

Two indictments are for conspiracy and one for larceny. Assistant State's Attorney Newcomer was assigned to the first two and Assistant State's Attorney Olson to the last.

The fact that Dean is under three indictments makes his official misdeeds somewhat more unbearable than those of the ordinary constable. His latest exploit is arresting his fellow-craftsmen for alleged trespass on his slot machine "graft." One of those arrested, Thomas Reed, a private detective, declares that he was kidnaped.

"I will have a report on the cases tomorrow," said Mr. Deneen. "It is possible that those who should have been interested in prosecuting the cases have left the city, but the assistants to whom the cases have been assigned will be called on for a report."

How "Dickie" Dean Protects.

Dean is most likely to be brought to trial on the indictment for larceny. Attorney Kitt Gould furnished the evidence to the grand jury which indicted Dean, and he said yesterday that the testimony was still obtainable. In this case Charles Scannell swore that he had paid Dean $100 a month for "protection" of slot machines on the South Side.

"Dean was 'protecting' Scannell's slot machines on the South Side and was receiving $100 a month," explained Mr. Gould. "Scannell also was paying $500 a month to some city official. After a time business began to fall off, and Scannell, who could not continue his payments to Dean, stored his slot machines in the Empire Storage Warehouse at Fiftieth street and Lake avenue.

"Dean, after payments had been stopped, went after the machines. He found that they had been taken to the warehouse, so he secured a search warrant to search for gambling devices and a writ of replevin. Then he and his gang broke into the warehouse and began to put the machines into carts.

"The machines went into the possession of Herbert Mills of the Mills Novelty company. He was frank enough in saying that Dean brought them to him, and added that I could not get them, writ of replevin or no writ. Scannell was then the owner of the machines. Mills sells them. Dean either 'protects' or seizes them. When Mills gets them they are for sale again."

Raid That Paid $2,000.

In another recent raid of the constabulary on slot machines the loot amounted to $2,000. The constables themselves were overheard telling of this expedition by Attorney Henry Gibbs, who represents some of the men Dean has arrested for interference with his "graft."

"These fellows were telling of a raid on machines in West Hammond," said Mr. Gibbs. "They had gone down with wagons for a wholesale harvest. They cleaned out the place, gathering in $2,000, according to their own story, and then started back for town."

It is asserted by attorneys that unless a constable resorts to illegal methods the business is not sufficiently profitable to make it worth his while to seek the office.

"A decent man can't be a constable," said Attorney Gould.

Other "Holdups" Worked.

A law that can be used as a "holdup" measure is said to be the chief joy of the type of constable of which Dean is cited as an abnormal growth.

"They have used the law forbidding the covering of fruit with colored gauze to hold up the fruit dealers," said an attorney. "They go to a dealer and find baskets covered with red or blue gauze. Then it costs the dealer $5 or so to escape prosecution. They made the same use of the flag law before it was declared unconstitutional."

Some of the Remedies.

It has been suggested that some thought be given to the election of constables and that an effort be made to secure honest men. The abolition of justice courts and the substitution of municipal courts and the substitution of Deputy Sheriffs for constables have been advocated. Reduction in the number of constables and justices and the abolition of the fee system have been recommended.

Statutory or constitutional changes would be necessary to carry out most of the reform plans.

Attorney Gould, as a member of the State Legislature, has a measure which was introduced at the last session and for which another attempt will be made at the next. This provides that when a citizen thinks he is being persecuted in justice courts he may carry the case to the County Court on a writ of certiorari.

"In the County Court," said Mr. Gould, "the defendant will give bond to guarantee the court costs. If he proves his case the costs will have to be paid by the prosecuting parties. This would relieve a man from being dragged out to Harlem or some more remote place in the county. It might pile up work on the County Courts, but more Judges could be secured. It may be good law to haul a man to the farthest end of the county, but it's bad morals.

"That bill would have been passed at the last session of the Legislature if it had not been for the opposition of some of the country members. As it was it nearly passed. There undoubtedly will be some justice court legislation at the next session. People have about reached the limit of their patience."

Trial May Reveal Methods.

Some details in the method of the constables in working the slot machine field for profit will be obtained at the trial of the three constables and one private detective arrested by Dean on warrants sworn out before Justice Chott by "Ed Eaton." The men are charged with raiding slot machines on forged warrants. This they deny, and charged Dean with arresting them because he thought they were trespassing on his "protection" territory.

Justice Chott Explains.

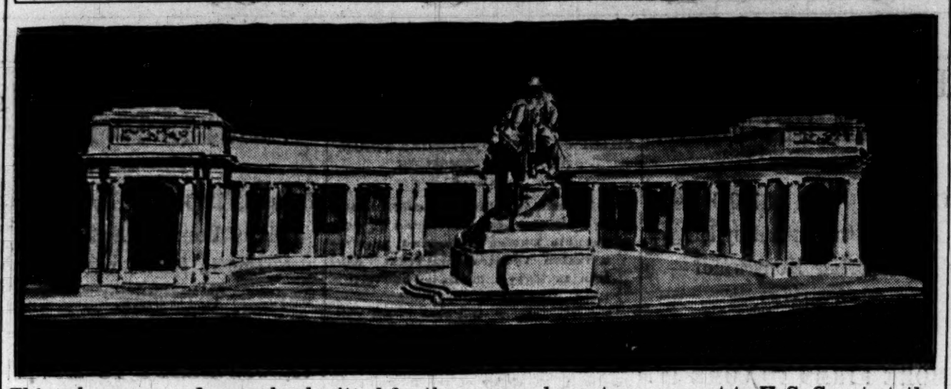

Justice Chott denied yesterday that there was any collusion on his part in the arrests. He said he never had seen "Dickie" Dean, and that neither Dean nor any member of his "agency" ever had been given work from his court.

"The warrants were issued on good testimony of two citizens that the three alleged constables—I am informed that they have not even qualified—were seizing the slot machines without process of law. Dean did not appear in the matter at all, so far as I was concerned.

"As for Reed, the private detective, who says he was kidnaped, his complaint is unfounded as far as I know. When he asked to telephone for bondsmen I told him that I had no 'phone, but that he could leave my court in company of Constable Havey, who had him in charge, and use a 'phone elsewhere.

"Reed asserts that he was dragged into my court by Havey and then railroaded to jail, without privilege of giving bond. Havey, he says, was the constable who did the dragging. When Reed and Havey appeared in my court they seemed to be on the best of terms, and they might have been mistaken for close friends."

LABOR MAYOR A SURPRISE

ELECTION OF CLOTHING CLERK AT HARTFORD UNEXPECTED.

I. A. Sullivan, the New Executive, Explains His Plans—Favors Municipal Ownership of Chief Utilities, an Eight-Hour Day, and Good Pay for All Wage Earners—Republican Majority of 3,000 of Two Years Ago Is Upset by Workers' Vote.

Hartford, Conn., April 9.—[Special.]—Never was ancient Hartford more surprised than when the news spread last evening that Ignatius A. Sullivan, clerk in a clothing store, labor candidate for the Mayoralty, had upset the Republican majority of two years ago, over 3,000, and had won the fight by nearly 600 votes.

For years past the Democratic party has been steadily losing ground in Hartford, but the practical transfer this year of the reins of management to the labor element resulted in repeating in Hartford the recent labor victories of two other manufacturing centers —Bridgeport and Ansonia.

It is no political secret that the labor element will not rest content with this, but will aim to capture the ticket in part or wholly in the Democratic State convention next September.

Salesman for Clothing House.

Mayor Sullivan is of Irish descent, but born in Massachusetts thirty-four years ago. He is tall, of medium build, with regular and pleasing features and courteous manners. In early life he learned the papermaker's trade, but dropped it for the more congenial pursuit of salesman in a clothing store. He became a proprietor at Springfield, and only three years ago came to Hartford as a salesman in a large local establishment. He became interested in the labor movement, was chosen President of the Central union of the city, and now is serving his second term as President of the State Federation of Labor. He is in moderate circumstances and occupies a modest home in the outskirts of the city.

In conversation this afternoon the Mayor referred to his victory as a triumph of the working element of the city, pulling together on union lines. The immediate influence which won the victory, he said, was his two days' campaign last Friday and Saturday, when he and his managers visited every ward in the city in hacks, addressing meetings of the workmen at the noon hour and in the evening.

Aided by Economic League.

Enthusiastic backing came from the Economic league, a non-political association of workingmen, holding weekly open meetings for months past, at which questions of direct interest to workingmen were discussed.

"I fully indorse," said Mayor Sullivan this afternoon, "the principles of the league as to municipal administration. Foremost among these and covering live questions of the day are free text books in the schools, municipal ownership of the local gas plant, to give better service at lower cost, eight hours to be a day's work for all employés, living rates of wages for these men; employment of citizens only on any work paid for by the city; no contracts for street cleaning, sprinkling, or garbage collection, and, generally speaking, an honest and economical administration of city affairs.

Victory for Working People.

"Here in Hartford we have seen the strength of united workingmen, and a demonstration of what the common people, an organization of the working people, can accomplish when the voters work shoulder to shoulder.

"We are gradually coming to the time when all men will be equal. We have got it in our power now in this city to place our principles in practice. The present is not a day of politics and politicians, but of men and measures. I do not favor any man or set of men. I am anxious to be assisted in giving this city the best administration possible. If questions of finance are to be considered it seems to me right and proper for men who are known as skilled financiers to come and advise with the Mayor on questions of finance.

Gives Advice to Business-Men.

"When business matters are under consideration it would be proper, it seem to me, for business-men to consult with the Mayor, not to come and attempt to force him to the wall. It is a teaching of our league as workingmen to be courteous to all men, to comport ourselves as the Christian virtues exact. We wish to respect all men and to respect the property rights of every one. It makes no difference to us whether a man is a union man or not. Is he deserving? is the only rule we shall apply.

"They say we are inexperienced in public matters. We have given a little time, a little attention, and a little study to civic affairs. If men who control capital would come and talk with us and learn our aims and our intentions there would be less misunderstanding. We do not want their wealth; we have the right to live, and we want to get living wages, and we want to raise labor in the estimation of the people of the American continent."

In conclusion Mayor Sullivan stated emphatically that he came into office without and pledges. The Republicans control the City Council, and his nominations on the various boards and commissions must run the gantlet of their approval.

CREED REPORT NEARLY READY.

Presbyterian Committee Meets at Washington to Complete Work of Revision.

Washington, D. C., April 9.—The Presbyterian Committee on Creed Revision assembled here today. The final report on the subject is expected to be adopted by the committee within a week. Pending decisive action, the committee is carefully guarding its deliberations from publication.

As a result of the work already done overtures will be submitted to the General Assembly, which meets in New York in May for action on the declaratory statement with reference to the third and tenth chapters of the confession. These relate to predestination and the election of infants. The object is to remove misunderstandings on these points by declaring that the confession is not to be understood as teaching that any children who die in infancy are lost; also that the confession is not to be understood as teaching that the provisions of the gospel and the offer made by it are to be limited to a certain number—that Christ died for all men. Nor is to be understood as in any way interfering with human liberty and with the freedom of men.

An overture will be sent to the General Assembly dropping from the text of the confession the chapters relating to the Pope of Rome, and that it is a sin to refuse an oath when administered by rightful authority.

CAR-BAITERS WIN A POINT

TRAVEL FROM AUSTIN TO BOWMANVILLE FOR NICKEL.

Citizens of Suburb Test Ruling of Court by Refusing to Pay More than One Fare for the Trip Between Extremes of City—Traction Employes Submit Without Show of Violence—Distance of Thirteen Miles Is Covered.

Leaders in the Austin transfer war claim a great victory. Last night they demonstrated that five cents is sufficient to pay their passage from Austin to Bowmanville, a distance of thirteen miles, at the rate of three-tenths of a cent a mile.

This is the first time that passengers have been carried from the two extremes of the city for one fare, and citizens of the suburb are jubilant. They say that the universal transfer is now inevitable as long as Judge Ball's decision stands, and they insist that it is impossible for the Supreme Court to reverse the decision because of the old ordinance which requires the traction companies to transfer between the North and West Sides of the city.

In making the trip from Austin to Bowmanville to attend a mass-meeting in the cause of the universal transfer, Alderman Race, W. E. Golden, and J. C. Carrier decided to test the ruling of the court to the limit. The trip involves more than thirteen miles, and the fare now charged by the traction company is 40 cents for the round trip.

When the employés of the street car company found that the passengers were riding for a nickel on the strength of Judge Ball's recent decision they merely smiled, and made no attempt to compel the payment of the extra fares.

Meet with No Violence.

The men who rode the entire distance fully expected that violence would be resorted to by the employés, but they were disappointed. However, they did not neglect to take the number of the conductor and the car in every instance, so that they could use the evidence if necessary. At all transfer points they asked for transfer slips, but these were promptly refused by the conductors.

The lines used in making the trip were the West Madison street electric, the West Madison street cable, the Lincoln avenue cable, and the Bowmanville electric. Alderman Race carried a supply of printed blanks, which he handed about to the other passengers in the cars, requesting them to ride from the city to Bowmanville for five cents, and to make a report to the Corporation Counsel's office in case they were ejected by the employés of the traction company.

"After last night's demonstration there is nothing but victory in store for us," said W. E. Golden. We rode from Park avenue, in Austin, to Lawrence avenue, in Bowmanville, for five cents, and by allowing us to do so the traction company virtually relinquished its right to demand an extra fare from any passenger. There is now no reason for them to avoid giving us transfer slips, and I am certain that the slips will be issued soon."

Enthusiasm at Meeting.

At the mass-meeting the citizens displayed great enthusiasm for the movement, many standing in the aisles to hear the speakers. Aldermen Race, Butler, Blake, and Kuester, and W. E. Golden spoke against the traction company, and urged the citizens to coöperate in the fight. Each speaker cited the importance of keeping up the fight, while the time was ripe, and asked that as many women and children as possible be enlisted in the cause.

The citizens have decided to bring matters to a climax in the struggle, and another mass-meeting will be held at the Jefferson Park club house on Saturday night. A number of Aldermen and others who have taken a lead in the fight will address the meeting.

At the close of the meeting a resolution was adopted which demanded that the Aldermen representing the wards directly concerned take a decided stand in the Council against allowing the traction companies any quarter until they agreed to the universal transfer system.

TO CALL COUNTY CONVENTION.

Republican Committee Will Meet Next Monday—Date Will Probably Be Set for May 2.

It was announced yesterday that the Republican County committee would meet next Monday to call the county convention. As the State convention meets on Thursday, May 8, the understanding is the county primaries will be called the Friday previous and the convention held on Saturday, May 2.

The announcement made yesterday that Alderman Patterson would be a candidate for Congressman in the Sixth District, the one in which ex-Congressman Lorimer lives, seemingly did not disturb any of Mr. Lorimer's friends. One of them, who lives in Alderman Patterson's ward, the Twentieth, said Lorimer could have the delegates from the ward if he wanted the nomination for Congress.

The Thirteenth Ward Republican club has indorsed the renomination of Judge Orrin N. Carter as County Judge, and recommend Patrick J. Cahill as the next Republican candidate for County Clerk.

Peter M. Hoffman, County Commissioner, has announced himself as a candidate for the Presidency of the County board. He claims all the delegates from the county outside of the city.

The Referendum league has prepared to invade the State outside of Chicago, and has started an organization which will take in as many of the interior cities and counties as possible. Its plan is to have submitted to the people of the State referenda asking their views as to the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people; and on the establishment of the principle of the initiative and referendum in the government of cities and towns; and as to laws enacted by the State Legislature.

READY FOR NEW THOMBS TRIAL

Second Hearing of the Alleged Murderer to Begin in Judge Brentano's Court Today.

The second trial of Lewis G. Thomba has been placed first on Judge Brentano's call for this morning. A special venire of 150 jurors has been issued, returnable at 10 o'clock in the morning, and Deputy Sheriffs were busy yesterday serving notices on prospective jurors.

Thombs declares he will take the witness stand and deny young Klessig's story. He says he will be heard in spite of any efforts his attorneys may make to the contrary.

"I can put that kid's story to the bad," said Thombs. "You just watch me tell them jurors a few things next time. I will make Klessig look cheap, even if he has got some new clothes."

DURBIN POSHES INQUIRY

GOVERNOR TAKES CHARGE OF PRISON INVESTIGATION.

Summons Board of Charities to Michigan City and Will Personally Superintend Hearing of Accusations Made Against Warden and Deputy by Penitentiary Physician — Asks Board of Control to Permit Other Body to Act as Judges in Matter.

Michigan City, Ind., April 9.—[Special.]—Governor W. T. Durbin's declaration that the alleged scandal involving the State prison of Indiana, and more particularly Deputy Warden M. M. Barnard and Warden J. D. Reid, would be given a thorough investigation will be carried out to the letter. He reiterated this statement tonight immediately upon his arrival from Indianapolis.

"We will sift those charges to the bottom," said the Governor, "Dr Horne, who brought these charges, will be given a fair and impartial hearing, every bit of evidence will be carefully weighed, and all sessions will be open to the public. I do not care to discuss the charges further."

Board of Charities in Charge.

The investigation will be conducted by the Board of State Charities, the Board of Control having decided to turn the entire matter over to the other board. Governor Durbin is accompanied by a stenographer, who will make a full record of all the proceedings. The Board of State Charities is represented by three members, Professor D. C. Brown of Indianapolis, Judge Davis of Terre Haute, and William P. Cooper of Fort Wayne, who are accompanied by the secretary of the board, A. W. Butler.

"We came here on orders from the Governor," said Professor Brown. "The court of investigation will begin at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, and it cannot be predicted how long it will take to dispose of the business on hand, although it is hinted by the prison officials that the charges may fall flat before the first session is finished, and that the developments will be such as to bring great discredit if not censure on the head of Dr. Horne. The doctor relies mainly on the testimony of convicts and ex-guards."

Barnard Accuses Dr. Horne.

The Deputy Warden says he will have two convicts brought forward to testify in his behalf to every one produced by Dr. Horne. Deputy Warden Barnard said:

"We will show the doctor to have been the most abusive officer who has entered the prison in the last several years. He will be sorry he ever started this affair."

The deputy is the coolest man in the institution. Dr. Horne has engaged J. E. Gallaher of Michigan City to handle his case for him, but the board indicated tonight that he would not be admitted. The other side will not be allowed an attorney.

Late tonight E. H. Nebecker, President of the Board of Control, announced that the board had decided to turn the whole matter over to the Board of State Charities for investigation. While they do not wish to shift any of the responsibility, they are grateful to Governor Durbin, on whose advice this action was taken.

NORTH SIDE SMALL PARKS DELAYED BY AN ASSESSOR.

Official Who Is Elected Through Apathy Refuses to Authorize $500,000 Bond Issue.

Bonds for purchasing small parks on the North Side are likely to be delayed a year because John Clark, who was elected North Town Assessor last year while Democrats and Republicans were napping, refused to sign the proper papers authorizing the Lincoln Park board to make a $500,000 issue.

The Park board adopted a resolution asking authority from the North Chicago Supervisor and Assessor to issue the half million in bonds. Supervisor Baynes signed the paper. Last Saturday, before Mayor Harrison, by his proclamation, ended town offices, Alderman Jackson and Secretary Arthur O'Neill waited for hours to hear from Clark, but in vain. Then came the proclamation and the passing of the duties of the Assessor to City Clerk Loeffler.

Mr. Clark had been deaf to the entreaties of Dwight H. Perkins, former Congressman George E. Adams, Frederick Greeley, and Alderman Jackson and refused to affix his signature.

Republicans of the Seventh Precinct of the Twenty-fifth Ward who are opposed to the purchase of land to be added to the north end of Lincoln Park met last night at 318 Evanston avenue to organize for their fight. It is said the proposal is for the board to pay $350,000 for the tract, while the complaining citizens assert the property is not worth over $250,000.

It was charged at the meeting last night that James Pease was interested in the transaction, and the opposition was directed toward him in a political way. A committee was appointed to enlist the support of the Republicans in defeating Mr. Pease and his friends at the coming primaries.

SAYS HER ENGAGEMENT TO OGLESBY WAS NOT A JOKE.

Miss Rogers Does Not Believe That Jasper Thinks So—Declares It Love at First Sight—Young Man Silent.

New York, April 9.—[Special.]—For the first time since her romantic engagement on shipboard to Jasper P. Oglesby, son of the late Governor Oglesby of Illinois, Miss Ida Rogers today told her story of the ocean wooing at her home, 1078 Boston road, Bronx Borough.

"My engagement was not a joke," said Miss Rogers. "I considered it real and in earnest. I was really and truly engaged to Mr. Oglesby.

"He paid me marked attention from the start, and I think it must have been a case of love at first sight on the part of both of us.

"We became engaged with the full consent of my parents, which was obtained after the St. Paul landed. It was all far from a joke. I do not believe Mr. Oglesby can have said what he is reported to have said."

During the interview Miss Rogers nearly broke down several times. There were tears in her eyes.

Jasper Oglesby Will Not Talk.

Elkhart, Ill., April 9.—[Special.]—Jasper Oglesby refuses to say a word about the report of his engagement to Miss Rogers.

BRITISH DEFEND THE MULE CAMP

United States Begins Investigation of Port Chalmette Station, La.

DENY PEARSON'S CHARGES

MEN NOT ALLOWED TO ENLIST

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

New Orleans, La., April 9.—[Special.]—Information, secretly secured, is being forwarded from here to the State and War departments at Washington as to the exact conditions attending the British stock camp at Port Chalmette. Secret service men are hard at work. Even Chief John E. Wilkie was here for a few hours, but he has gone on westward, insisting that only a shifting of his men called him this way.

Colonel E. H. Crowder, assigned to investigate by Adjutant Geenral Corbin of the United States army, spent the day canvassing the court records which came into existence through the many rounds of litigation raised by Geenral Samuel Pearson, formerly of the Boer army, as props for his charges that England is violating the neutrality laws. This is as far as the inquiry has proceeded.

Official advices from Washington today indicate the War department originally intended a secret surveillance, and, on the facts thus gained, to take open steps when the facts were in hand. Premature announcement of the investigation plan has spoiled that idea. To inquiries from Washington word was sent tonight that, under the conditions now raised, only a public inquiry can be of avail.

May Involve Other Nations.

New fuel was added by the return of two transports from Cape Town during the night and morning. Officers in this service have raised the claim that action on the part of the United States likely will involve Russia, Austria, and Spain. In these three countries England is maintaining stock depots and shipping out thousands of mules and horses. Should the United States, as a result of the present inquiry, hold that neutrality laws are violated, then, it is contended, the European nations, which watch the international laws with jealousy, will take action.

British Invite Investigation.

England's representatives here, from the local Consul to the lowest ranking officer in charge of the shipments, insist they desire a searching, careful investigation. During the twenty-seven months that the British government has been buying horses and mules in the United States for the south African service they show that $25,000,000 has been paid into American trade and industrial channels. Charges of neutrality violation, they point out, have been made only after this traffic has gone on for two years. Governmental restrictions, they assert, have kept their mouths closed and prevented answer being made to the charges raised by Pearson and other Boer representatives. An inquiry would allow presentation of their side of the matter.

Deny Charges of Pearson.

England's agents, both military and civil, talked freely of the case, urging only that their names be withheld, as any statement accredited to them would involve an official collision with the British government heads. On one point especially do they demand inquiry, and that bears on General Pearson's charges that 42,000 men have been carried out of this port for enlistment in the British army.

Guard Against Entanglements.

To prevent any entanglements with the United States government, it is contended, the most extreme precautions have been taken.

"We have had English citizens come here in numbers and request that they be allowed to enlist," said this same official. "They resided at points in the United States and in Canada. To each and every one the flat statement was made that they could not enlist nor be sent over from here under any circumstances. They were told to go to enlisting agencies in Canada. We did this with the view that no shadow of suspicion should be cast on our trade here."

Holds It Is Business Enterprise.

Colonel Crowder met Captain Fenner, embarkation officer in charge of Port Chalmette, this morning. The latter was frank to a degree. He stands firmly on the ground that the big shipping plant ten miles out on the levee road is merely a business proposition—the buying and shipping of mules and horses. No steps toward an inquiry were discussed, and the meeting began and ended practically with conventional salutations. Then Colonel Crowder repaired to his offices in the custom-house and began investigation of affidavits and legal documents that did service in Governor Heard's report to the Secretary of State.

Means $500,000 a Month to City.

This is the proposition faced by the investigators now here, and it is from these sides that witnesses will come in the event of a formal hearing. That the shipping post is a monster affair is shown by the fact that it means $500,000 monthly to the Port of New Orleans. The pay roll of the local men employed there totals $1,000 a week. The bill for fodder bought from local merchants is about $8,000 weekly. Every transport that is fitted out—and two have sailed weekly until the existing labor troubles hampered this schedule—represents an outlay of $8,000. The great docks, which have a water frontage of 1,950 feet, are stacked with small mountains of hay, sacked oats, bran, and corn. There are tiers and tiers of lumber. Each transport that sails has from 3,500 to 4,000 tons of coal stowed away in its bunkers. England pays out its money for this fuel at the rate of $3.60 a ton. The New Orleans Belt and Terminal line, which owns the property, handles about 100 cars daily in and out of the port.

The monster cotton sheds, which have been turned into stables, cover 750 acres. The corrals cover as much more, while the entire strip of land under lease to the British government comprises 2,350 acres. The mixing bins, where feed is prepared, have fifty men scurrying about them three times daily. The product of a good-sized farm goes in each time.

Each ship, aside from the foreman, carries one muleteer for every fifteen mules, and the number of mules carried ranges from 1,000 to 1,400. When horses are taken more men are required, the division being one man to each eight or ten horses. The corrals average about 1,800 by 2,000 feet in size, divided by stout wooden fences, braced by heavy wire. Barbed wire has been used, too, in plenty to prevent inquisitive persons from creeping between the lengths of planks. England has insisted on an old custom being rigorously followed—every horse's tail docked as carefully as if the animal were to do saddle service on Rotten Row.

Ship 1,000 Mules Today.

Tomorrow night there will be 1,000 less mules in the camp, for the transport Honorious will sail in the afternoon on its thirty-two days trip to Cape Town. Three big transports—the Mount Temple, Patrician, and Tempican—arrived during the night and this morning. The former reported one deserter at Cape Town, while four men were paid off and remained there. The Patrician reported four men less than it sailed with and the Tampican three.

Deny Attempt to Enforce Enlistment.

Muleteers who came back denied the stories that there was any attempt made to secure their enlistment. Of this number was A. Temple, son of a prominent resident of Atlanta, who shipped on the Mount Temple in a spirit of adventure two months ago. He made no secret aboard the ship of his intention of joining the army, once Cape Town was reached. When the mules had been cleared he got ashore and offered himself for a soldier. He was refused because the thumb of one of his hands is missing.

"That doesn't look as if they were hard up for men, does it?" he argued in conclusion.

Boers to Push Claims.

The Boer side of the case will be more vigorously represented here during the latter days of the week. General Pearson is scheduled to reach here on Friday or Saturday from Washington. Commandant Jan Kiege will lecture tomorrow night, urging that if shipment of the American mule is cut off the war will be ended.

INSPECT LATHROP MULE FARM.

Secret Service Agents Visit British Remount Station in Missouri and Make an Investigation.

St. Joseph, Mo., April 9.—[Special.]—Two secret service agents came to Lathrop today and went to the farm of Guyton & Harrington, where the horses and mules of the British remount commission are kept, and asked many questions. The work of buying mules and horses goes on, and there will be a shipment some time this week. Several men are here waiting to go with the shipment to New Orleans, and some of them will accompany the animals to south Africa.

SHERMAN TALKS CIVIL SERVICE

Speaker of Illinois House Delivers Address at Illinois Steel Works Club Banquet.

Joliet, Ill., April 9.—Lawrence Y. Sherman, Speaker of the Illinois House of Representatives, was the principal speaker tonight at the banquet of the Joliet Steel Works club. His subject was "Merit in Business and Political Life." He devoted the greater part of his speech to civil service, hitting the Taft administration sarcastically several times. Speaker Sherman said in part:

What! Does the Grim Spectre Follow You Into the Joyous Springtime?

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Defeats the work of Death by Removing Your Terrible Burden of Disease.

Are you still in suffering, misery, and despondency? Does the grim spectre of Death follow you closely as the joyous springtime brings happiness and blessings to others around you? Are you still clinging tenaciously to false theories of physicians or friends who persist in assuring you that time, care, and the use of present medicine will give you new health?

Be assured your present condition is a perilous one. The continuance of the medicine you are now using is a folly; you are simply trifling with life and wasting precious time.

You should remember that while nature clothes the fields with fresh grass and flowers, and while the trees with a strong life are showing bursting buds and new foliage, that human beings—old and young—drop off in thousands in springtime.

Now is the time for prompt, decided, and practical action if life is to be saved. Prejudice and the erroneous theories of even medical men should be set aside when the hand of death is upon you. It matters not what your social position be; the medicine that saves the humblest man or woman is surely the one adapted for the needs of the rich and those in high social positions.

Paine's Celery Compound has a record of life saving that no other medicine can ever equal. It has rescued rich and poor from the grasp of death when physicians and friends most carefully prepared prescriptions failed in the work. If the suffering men and women of today could but see the happy faces and hear the kind words spoken by thousands of those who have been made well and strong by Paine's Celery Compound, it would soon dispel their existing doubts and fears.

Paine's Celery Compound is the only medicine that reaches the root of disease; it is the only agency that can remove your terrible load of disease. Unsolicited testimonials of cures pour in every day. Young and old constantly bear witness that rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney disease, liver complaint, dyspepsia, and blood diseases are banished permanently when Paine's Celery Compound is faithfully used for a time. Begin its use today, poor sufferer; delays are dangerous.

SOUTH PRAISED BY ROOSEVELT.

President's Day at Charleston Fair Marked by Heartiest Good Feeling.

SWORD FOR ROUGH RIDER

NOTABLE SPEECH IS MADE.

Charleston, S. C., April 9.—[Special.]—Roosevelt day at the exposition today was one of enthusiasm and good will. The ceremonies began early with a parade through the streets, followed by speeches at the auditorium, the presentation of a sword to Major Micah Jenkins, a visit to the Woman's Building, and a general tour of the exposition grounds and exhibits.

Parade a Notable One.

Besides the President and distinguished visitors, United States artillerymen, United States marines and jackies, there were soldiers from various States and cadets from two military academies in the parade.

The procession moved from the St. John Hotel promptly at 10 o'clock and proceeded through the principal streets to the exposition gates. The march was continued through the Grove street gate and then around the court of palaces.

The Presidential party was driven directly to the exposition auditorium, where the President reviewed the troops from a platform erected at that point. The President's salute of twenty-one guns was fired by the German artillery on the entrance of the President into the exposition grounds.

Roosevelt Center of Interest.

When the President entered the auditorium he bowed and smiled his acknowledgements to the cheering which greeted him from 10,000 throats.

Speech of President Roosevelt.

The President opened his speech with a bit of personal history by saying that his mother's people came from Georgia. Then, outlining Charleston's part in the formative history of the country, he continued:

With delicate and thoughtful courtesy you originally asked me to come to this exposition on the birthday of Abraham Lincoln. The invitation not only showed a fine generosity and manliness in you, my hosts, but it also emphasizes what hardly anything else could have emphasized how completely we are now a united people. The wounds left by the great civil war, incomparably the greatest war of modern times, have healed, and its memories are now priceless heritages of honor alike to the North and to the South.

President Roosevelt paid an earnest tribute to the men of the North and South who fought in the civil war for what they believed was right, and who today admired each other for the qualities that made them ardent fighters.

All Eager to Serve Country.

Coming down to the Spanish war, President Roosevelt said:

When four years ago this nation was compelled to face a foreign foe, the completeness of the reunion became instantly and strikingly evident. The war was not one which called for the exercise of more than an insignificant fraction of our strength, and the strain put upon us was slight indeed, compared with the results. But it was a satisfactory thing to see the way in which the sons of the soldier of the union and the soldier of the confederacy leaped eagerly forward, emulous to show in brotherly rivalry the qualities which had won renown for their fathers, the men of the great war. It was my good fortune to serve under an ex-confederate General, gallant old Joe Wheeler, who commanded the cavalry division at Santiago.

In my regiment there were certainly as many men whose fathers had served in the Southern as there were men whose fathers had served in the Northern army. Among the Captains there was opportunity to promote but one to field rank. The man who was singled out for this promotion because of conspicuous gallantry in the field was the son of a confederate General, and was himself a citizen of this, the Palmetto State; and no American officer could wish to march to battle beside a more loyal, gallant, and absolutely fearless comrade than my former Captain and Major, my fellow-citizen, Micah Jenkins.

Tells of General Wright's Work.

Another Southerner who was now in a position of national responsibility, the President said, was General Luke Wright of Tennessee, who was acting Governor of the Philippines during the absence of Governor Taft. Concerning his work the President declared:

The progress which has been made under General Wright and those like him has been indeed marvelous. In fact, a letter of the General's the other day seemed to show that he considered there was far more warfare about the Philippines in this country than there was warfare in the Philippines themselves! It is an added proof of the completeness of the reunion of our country that one of the foremost men who have been instrumental in driving forward the great work for civilization and humanity in the Philippines has been a man who in the civil war fought with distinction in a uniform of confederate gray.

What Exposition Has Done.

In the future, the President said, the Northerner and the Southerner could be relied upon to strive in friendly rivalry for the advancement of the national welfare, the strife of peaceful arts replacing the battles of war. Speaking of the exposition he said:

You have made a particular effort in your exhibition to get into touch with the West Indies. This is wise. The events of the last four years have shown us that the West Indies and the isthmus in the future occupy a far larger place in our national policy than in the past.

This is proved by the negotiations for the purchase of the Danish Islands, the acquisition of Porto Rico, the preparation for building an isthmian canal, and finally by the changed relations which these years have produced between us and Cuba. As a nation we have an especial right to take honest pride in what we have done for Cuba. Our critics abroad and at home have insisted that we never intended to leave the island. But on the 20th of next month Cuba becomes a free republic, and we turn over to the islanders the control of their own government. It would be difficult to find a parallel in the conduct of any other great state that has occupied such a position as ours. We have kept our word and done our duty just as an honest individual in private life keeps his word and does his duty.

Duty Toward Cuba.

The President briefly reviewed the chief benefits visible in Cuba as the result of three years' occupation, and then, taking up the island's future, declared:

Cuba's position makes it necessary that her political relations with us should differ from her political relations with other powers. We have rightfully insisted upon Cuba adopting toward us an attitude differing politically from that she adopts toward any other power; and in return, as a matter of right, we must give to Cuba a different—that is, a better—position economically in her relations with us than we give to other powers. This is the course dictated by sound policy, by a wise and far-sighted view of our own interest, and by the position we have taken during the last four years. We are a wealthy and powerful country, dealing with a much weaker one; and the contrast in wealth and strength makes it all the more our duty to deal with Cuba as we have already dealt with her, in a spirit of large generosity.

New Industrial Problems.

The Charleston Exposition, the President said, was made possible by the industrial prosperity of the nation, by which some individuals benefited more than others and some jealousy had been aroused. These conditions, he declared, were grave, and said:

Every industrial exposition of this type necessarily calls up the thought of the complex social and economic questions which are involved in our present industrial system. Our astounding material prosperity, the sweep and rush rather than the mere march of our progressive material development, have brought grave troubles in their train. We cannot afford to blink these troubles any more than because of them we can afford to accept as true the gloomy forebodings of the prophets of evil. There are great problems before us. They are not insoluble, but they can be solved only if we approach them in a spirit of resolute fearlessness, of common sense, and of honest intention to do fair and equal justice to all men alike.

This is an era of great combinations both of labor and capital. In many ways these combinations have worked for good; but they must work under the law, and the laws concerning them must be just and wise or they will inevitably do evil; and this applies as much to the richest corporation as to the most powerful labor union. Our laws must be wise, sane, healthy, conceived in the spirit of those who scorn the mere agitator, the mere inciter of class or sectional hatred; who wish justice for all men; who recognize the need of adhering so far as possible to the old American doctrine of giving the widest possible scope for the free exercise of individual initiative, and yet who recognize also that after combination have reached a certain stage it is indispensable to the general welfare that the nation should exercise over them, cautiously and with self-restraint, but firmly, the power of supervision and regulation.

The address closed with an appeal for justice and fair and honest laws for all alike.

Sword Presented to Major Jenkins.

Immediately after the addresses a handsome sword was presented to Major Micah Jenkins, the presentation being made by President Roosevelt. The sword was handed to the President by ex-Governor Hugh S. Thompson, who said:

"Mr. President: On behalf of South Carolina friends of Major Micah Jenkins I have the honor to offer you their greetings and to ask that you will present a testimonial of their regard and esteem to your gallant comrade in arms in the war with Spain. His gallantry recalled vividly memories of his heroic father, Brigadier General Micah Jenkins, whose name and fame are dear to South Carolinians.

"Mr. President, the men and women of South Carolina who greet you today have come to testify by their presence their esteem for your character, their admiration for your achievements, and their respect for the office which you fill—the highest in human gift. They will be animated by sentiments of pride and patriotism as they see one native to their soil thus honored by their Chief Magistrate."

President Concludes Ceremony.

President Roosevelt, in presenting the sword to Major Jenkins, said:

"Major Jenkins: Nothing could give me greater pleasure than to hand you, my old friend and comrade, whose courage I saw again and again, and whose courage was of a temper that made it indifferent what the trial was, to hand you this saber. I am glad to do it, as a guest of South Carolina, as the President of the United States, but gladder to do it as your old friend and comrade."

In accepting the sword Major Jenkins said:

"Mr. President: In the Spanish-American war I had the honor of being the only representative from South Carolina in that peerless volunteer regiment—the Rough Riders. My State, with her gentle, soft-voiced, glorious women, and her sons, almost without exception of soldier extraction, has always demanded of her representatives afield that they come back with their shields or be brought back on them. With these reflections to start with, and later on the proud privilege of serving with that 1,000 picked from 10,000 gallant fellows who strove to form what was to be the 'Rough Riders,' and brigaded and divisioned with the flower of the American army, the United States cavalry, it might well have been expected that the single South Carolinian would do his duty.

"If I measured up in any manner the standard of these high privileges it is to me a matter of lifelong thankfulness. Your prompt and generous recognition of the little that fell to my lot to accomplish—a recognition that was as quickly extended to the soldier from Arkansas as to the soldier from New York—has now been followed on the part of my fellow-Statesmen by the gift of this beautiful sword.

Is Proud of Sword Given Him.

"From time immemorial this form of testimonial has been especially gratifying to its recipient. It is as gratifying to me as this beautiful offering by which, Mr. President, my fellow-Statesmen have added much to their gift by their graceful thoughtfulness in requesting you, my late Colonel, to present it.

"In accepting this sword, sir, I wish to express to my fellow-Statesmen, through you, my deep appreciation of the high honor they have this day conferred upon me, and to assure them that this sword, from now on, whether in my hand or in that of my son's son, will be consecrated to the common service of South Carolina and the United States, for, thank God, that service in the event of war is evermore the same.

"I have fought with the sons of Hood and Wheeler, and with the men in blue, and again I say, thank God for our reunited country, the greatest, most magnificent, best beloved country on the face of God's green earth—the home of the free, the land of the brave—the United States."

Make Tour of Grounds.

With the conclusion of the exercises at the auditorium the Presidential party was escorted to the West Indian Building; from there they went to the South Carolina Building, and made a tour of the great buildings in the court of palaces.

At 2 o'clock the President and party were taken to the Woman's Building, where a luncheon was served by the Woman's board.

The President and party then boarded the special train on the Southern railway at the exposition station and departed for Summerville, where the day was closed with an informal dinner.

The Reaper.

There is a Reaper, whose name is Death,
And, with his sickle keen,
He reaps the bearded grain at a breath,
And the flowers that grow between.

"Shall I have naught that is fair?" saith he;
"Have naught but the bearded grain?
Though the breath of these flowers is sweet to me,
I will give them all back again."

He gazed at the flowers with tearful eyes,
He kissed their drooping leaves;
It was for the Lord of Paradise
He bound them in his sheaves.

"My Lord has need of these flowerets gay,"
The Reaper said, and smiled;
"Dear tokens of the earth are they,
Where He was once a child.

"They shall all bloom in fields of light,
Transplanted by my care,
And saints, upon their garments white,
These sacred blossoms wear."

And the mother gave, in tears and pain,
The flowers she most did love;
She knew she should find them all again
In the fields of light above.

O, not in cruelty, not in wrath,
The Reaper came that day;
'Twas an angel visited the green earth,
And took the flowers away.

LAWSON TALKS IN LIBEL SUIT.

Says He Said He Would Have Killed Plaintiff if Article Had Been About Him.

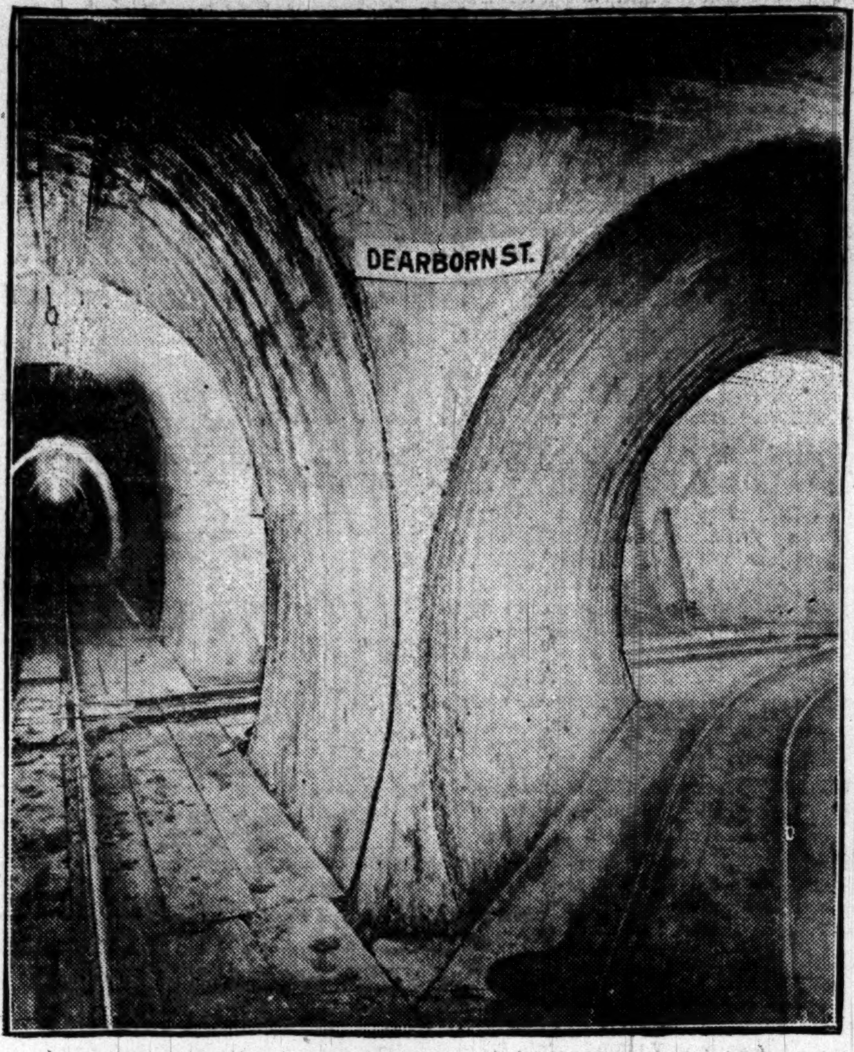

Boston, Mass., April 9.—[Special.]—"I said to Mr. Bennett: 'If you published that about me I'd kill you,'" declared Thomas W. Lawson, the copper magnate, this afternoon in the Superior Court, where, during the last week, the case of alleged libel on Frank P. Bennett by John F. Donohue of Lynn and the Lynn Item has been on trial.

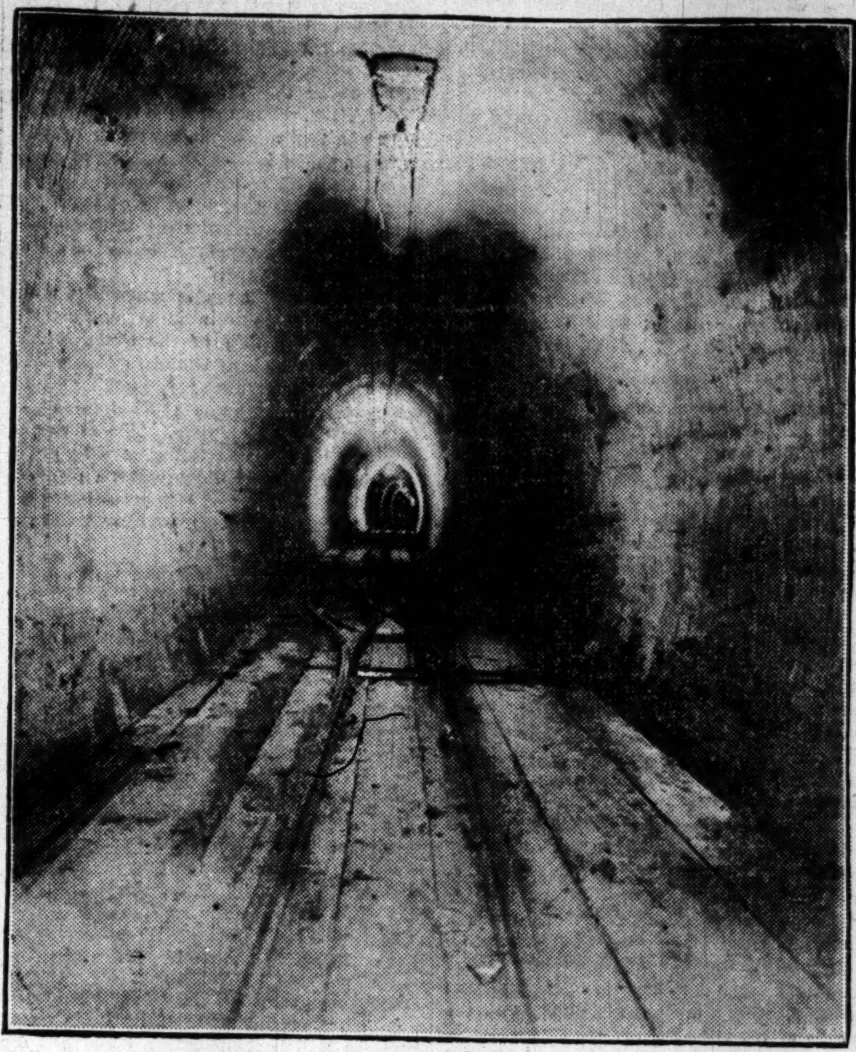

The article to which Mr. Lawson objected made reference to the Grand Rivers corporation, with special attention to Aretas Blood, who was connected with the corporation as well as Mr. Lawson. Mr. Lawson added that the whole scheme was blackmail.

Lawson testified that at one of the meetings Bennett said in substance that they had been long enough fighting, and he wanted to be on Lawson's side, and wanted Lawson to support him for Speaker of the House of Representatives in 1892. Mr. Lawson said he declined to promise support, although the sum of $15,000 or $20,000 was mentioned as necessary.

VIEWS IN TUNNEL BENEATH BUSINESS DISTRICT OF THE CITY.

Plans for the extension of the Illinois Telegraph and Telephone company's system of tunnels are being made with the purpose of establishing a general delivery, business. Originally the company announced that it would use the tunnels for carrying its telephone and telegraph wires, and the franchise under which construction has been going on makes this specification. President Wheeler announced yesterday, however, that the company would ask the City Council for additional rights and that it would pay extra compensation to the city for such added privileges. The accompanying illustrations show a track switch in the tunnel beneath Jackson boulevard, just east of La Salle street, and the intersection at Dearborn street and Jackson boulevard.

RESTS ON MATOPPO HILL

BODY OF CECIL RHODES AT BURIAL PLACE.

Funeral at Buluwayo Attended by Signs of General Mourning—Entire Population Follows the Procession as the Coffin Is Borne Out of Town on Its Way to the Sepulchre in the Mountains, Leaving the Town Deserted.

BULUWAYO, Matabeleland, April 9.—After an impressive service at the drill hall today by the Bishop of Mashonaland the coffin containing the remains of Cecil Rhodes was taken to the Matoppo Hills, where it rested tonight in the hut he once lived in.

At today's service there occurred a remarkable demonstration of sorrow, in which the whole surrounding country participated. Hundreds of persons were turned away from the drill hall, which was crowded to its utmost capacity, and thousands of voices in and around the building took up the funeral anthem.

The streets through which the funeral procession passed were lined with troops, and everybody fell in behind the coffin as soon as the cortége left the town limits. The entire population of Buluwayo took part in the procession, leaving the town deserted.

Compared to Warren Hastings.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, April 9.—Dr. Mommsen, the great historian of the Roman Empire, in conversation today drew a parallel between Cecil Rhodes and Warren Hastings, holding the former to be an inferior copy of the latter. Both were imperialists; both extended immoderately their empire, caring little by what means, provided their end was attained. Rhodes was less patriotic than Hastings, for though Hastings wrung vast sums from the peoples he subjugated, he died poor. Rhodes also served a company, but one of his own creation and chiefly for his own ends, and he died a sextuple millionaire. Speaking of world policy, Dr. Mommsen said he was in favor of an alliance of Germany, England, and America. It was to be hoped for and if attained it should be a guarantee of the world's peace and progress.

E. Benjamin Andrews on Rhodes.

Lincoln, Neb., April 9.—[Special.]—Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews today addressed the students of the university on the will of Cecil Rhodes. He considered the offer of scholarships a generous and novel proposition and the conditions as altogether admirable. The chancellor said the maker of the will clearly manifested his opinion that the English speaking people are the most eminently fitted to take their part in ruling the affairs of the world. Chancellor Andrews, on the other hand, believed that other nations deserve their share of appreciation. For his part, he declared that he liked Germany remarkably well, and was pleased by the recognition Prince Henry obtained. He thought, furthermore, that undue stress is placed upon the importance of Great Britain since the signs of the times seem to point to the United States as the future leader of progress. Oxford, he said, is not the scientific center of the world, but rather Cambridge. The University of Nebraska is ahead of Oxford in science. But still the will of Cecil Rhodes will do great good to American scholarship, urging on renewed college spirit.

BRITISH BUDGET IS DELAYED.

House of Commons Not to Receive New Financial Proposals Until Next Monday.

[Copyright: 1902: By the New York Tribune.]
[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, April 10, 3 a. m.—Mr. Balfour announced to the House of Commons yesterday that the budget for the coming financial year would not be introduced before next Monday. The budget was to have been presented today. Not for a long number of years has the budget been postponed after the date of its introduction had been once fixed, but Sir Michael Hicks-Beach has fallen a victim to the east winds, which have prevailed more or less since April was ushered in.

A change in the order of public business is rendered necessary by the postponement of the financial proposals, and advantage will be taken of the two days to proceed with the new rules.

It is evident that the government expects much opposition to the budget, for in addition to allowing two days for the consideration of the Chancellor's statement, Mr. Balfour has given notice of his intention to suspend the rule which brings the debates to a close at midnight.

This unusual precaution has caused much speculation as to the nature of the proposals which Hicks-Beach intends to submit to the House of Commons.

It is rumored that Charles T. Yerkes has secured the powerful backing of Speyer Bros. to carry through the financial part of his comprehensive scheme for providing London with a system of electric underground railways.

The London cattle market scouts the idea of the establishment of the American beef trust in England. Butchers and meat traders declare, however, that the scarcity of cattle will increase and prices continue to rise until the government once more allows South American cattle to be carried alive to this country for slaughter, and also removes the prohibition upon Canadian store cattle. The crisis has been increased by the diversion of Australian and New Zealand carcases for British troops and Boer prisoners in south Africa.

DENMARK TO SIGN TREATY

ISLANDS TO BE CEDED AFTER PEOPLE VOTE ON THE SALE.

Thirty-five Members of the Landsthing Sign a Favorable Report Recommending the Ratification of the Agreement to Transfer the West India Group to the United States—Twenty-two Favor Conclusion of the Agreement Without a Plebiscite

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

COPENHAGEN, April 9.—The secret session of the Upper House today resulted in three reports. The majority report favored by thirty-five members defers the ratification of the treaty ceding the West Indian Islands to the United States until a vote can be taken on the islands by the qualified electors on property suffrage. Eight independent members voted for ratification with a popular vote of the islands afterwards. About twenty-one government supporters voted for a ratification outright, following the example of the Lower House. These reports will be presented in open session and the two Houses will be forced to effect some compromise. Probably the final result will be the ratification of the treaty with a subsequent popular vote on the islands. The resolution of the eight independents is a natural compromise. The jubilation of the opponents of the treaty is not justified by the facts, because a resolution to reject the treaty outright was defeated by a vote of 35 to 28.

Vote to Come Next Week.

The Landsthing will vote on the report in open session next week, when the question will be returned to the Folkething, or Lower House, which has already ratified the treaty without providing for a plebiscite. A conference committee will then be appointed, and it is thought possible that this will eventually result in the adoption of the report submitted by the eight Independents.

The United States Minister to Denmark, Mr. Swenson, ignores the communications which Captain Christmas has addressed to him, denying the alleged bribery of Congressmen. Mr. Swenson declines to become involved in the Christmas-Gron quarrel. The Minister's name has never been connected with the scandals, and it is asserted that Christmas is now trying to secure Mr. Swenson's influence in order to help himself out of a predicament. I. N. Islanders Tire of Uncertainty.

ST. THOMAS, D. W. I., April 9.—The St. Thomas Bulletin, in its comments on the proposed plebiscite of the Danish West Indies, says:

"It is simply intended to let the islanders share the responsibility. They cannot undo what has been done, hence it only signifies further delay, which nobody wants. The people have had enough of the enormously harmful and demoralizing effects of the question. Therefore, irrespective of party feeling and views, they all wish to have it settled forever. The high contractors having agreed on the matter, let the executive end the intolerable situation."

LOSES $1,000 ON RACE TIPS: CAUSES ARREST OF TWO MEN.

Victim Plays a "Sure Thing" Twice at $500 a Throw and Then Confides in Detectives—Thieves Raid Stores.

J. Scott, living at 397 East Superior street, says he was swindled out of $1,000 by the old game of a telegraph operator's tip on horse races, and on his complaint L. Howard and Harry Hamilton were arrested last night and locked up at the East Chicago Avenue Station. The men were captured in Scott's house, where, it is said, they went expecting to get another $1,000. Scott says he lost $500 one day, but on the advice of his "friends" tried it again a few days later and lost $500 more. Then his eyes opened.

Raid on Grocery Store.

Thieves have been raiding grocery stores on the South Side, the following thefts having been reported to the police yesterday:

I. Jesselson, 515 Forty-seventh street; cash drawer robbed of $20.

V. Vehstedt, 516 Forty-seventh street; 40 cents secured.

Ernest W. Eggers, Forty-seventh street and Lake avenue: $5 secured.

Mrs. M. E. Kane, 4821 Champlain avenue; robbed of $5.

Steal $900 from Butcher.

D. Gapszez's butcher shop at 589 South Jefferson street was entered by thieves yesterday morning, who secured $900 in cash. Gapszez reported his loss to the Maxwell Street police, and the detectives captured a number of suspects.

Volunteer Soldier Arrested.

After serving as a volunteer in eleven battles in the Philippines, and receiving honorable discharge, J. G. Pohler, recently the possessor of a fortune estimated at $30,000, slept last night in a cell at the Harrison Street Station. He is charged with obtaining money by means of worthless checks. C. J. Lark, a clerk employed by Swift & Co., and W. E. Harrington, a student at the Chicago College of Physicians and Surgeons, are the complainants. Both men are said to have been comrades of Pohler in the Eleventh Minnesota Regiment. Pohler admitted signing the checks, but said he expected to secure a position, when he would be able to return the money.

PEACE TALK IN ENGLAND

BOER DEMANDS FOR INDEPENDENCE TO BE DENIED.

Gerald Balfour, President of the Board of Trade and Member of the Cabinet, Defines the Ministry's Unbending Purpose on One Point—London Full of Rumors—Transvaalers Believed to Be Ready to Surrender, but the Orange Free Staters Are Not.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, April 10, 3 a. m.—Walter Long, President of the Local Government board, and Gerald Balfour, President of the Board of Trade, made speeches last night in which they indicated that the government does not anticipate that peace will be the outcome of the mission to the Boer leaders in the field of Acting President Schalk Burger of the Transvaal.

Balfour, speaking at Leeds, said that no negotiations were proceeding with Lord Kitchener, who was merely facilitating a conference between the Boer leaders. He added that he did not know whether the leaders intended to offer terms of surrender. For himself he was not sanguine in the matter, and he advised his hearers not to be sanguine. Great Britain was still prepared to go as far as was stated a year ago, but that was absolutely the last word. If the Boers adhered to their demand for independence they might as well abandon the idea of negotiations.

Rosebery as a Peace Envoy.

The Daily Chronicle this morning publishes a rumor that Lord Rosebery is going to south Africa to study the situation there with a view of submitting his impressions and advice to King Edward.

It is stated by gossip in connection with the reported postponement of the presentation of the budget to the House of Commons that the indisposition of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach is diplomatic, that peace is impending, and that the consequent prospect of relief to the estimates has something to do with the postponement.

Peace Rumor in Holland.

Telegrams received here from Amsterdam say private dispatches have been received there from London reporting that peace in south Africa may be proclaimed within two days. All kinds of rumors were current on the Stock Exchange, but nothing had reached official quarters in London to justify such an optimistic view of the situation.

It is stated from Pretoria that Mr. Steyn, the former President of the Orange Free State, who is taking part in the peace negotiations in south Africa, is suffering from severe ophthalmia, and is threatened with total blindness.

How Kritzinger Was Acquitted.

GRAFF REINET, Cape Colony, April 9.—The trial of Commandant Kritzinger, who was this week acquitted on the charge of murder, lasted two days. No evidence was obtained to connect the prisoner with the shooting of natives, and one scout who had been captured by Kritzinger testified that he hed been well treated and that a pass had been granted him. The charge of train wrecking against the Boer commandant was withdrawn and he was acquitted without cross-examination by counsel for the defense.

British Planning Campaign.

PRETORIA, April 9.—The British are making preparations for a great series of "drives" on the arrival of reinforcements. The general outlook for the Boers is said to be most disheartening. It is thought here that the bulk of the rebels are only waiting a promise that they will not be banished to come in and surrender.

WESTINGHOUSE SAID TO HAVE LOST CONTROL OF COMPANY.

Pittsburg Speculators Declare General Electric Company Has Bought Up Stock and Will Take Charge.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 9.—[Special.]—The advance in Westinghouse Electric seconds has given rise to several rumors here. The story was circulated in Pittsburg several days ago that George Westinghouse and other Pittsburg holders of the stock had unwittingly sold enough of the stock to lose control, and that a contest to regain control would send the stock up.

It is now said that J. P. Morgan & Co., acting for themselves or the General Electric company, secured the stock alleged to have been parted with. The notification to the stockholders of General Electric that a special meeting will be held on May 5 to vote an increase in the capital stock is said to be to raise money to pay for the shares bought from Pittsburgers.

W. D. Uptegraff, Mr. Westinghouse's confidential man, said: "There is nothing in it. The control of Westinghouse Electric lies absolutely with Mr. Westinghouse, and it can't be taken away from him by any manipulation of the stock market, and we have nothing to do with the manipulation."

ASK NEW TUNNEL GRANT

CONDUITS MEANT FOR GENERAL DELIVERY BUSINESS.

President Wheeler of Illinois Telephone and Telegraph Company Talks of the Plans—Acknowledges Necessity of Getting Permission from Council Before Entire Project Can Be Put in Operation—Transportation of Mails Part of Scheme.

The general down-town delivery of mails, newspapers, and packages of all sorts is the use to which the Illinois Telephone and Telegraph company proposes to put the elaborate system of tunnels it has been constructing, in addition to using them for the stringing of telephone wires. President Wheeler told the story at length yesterday, and, acknowledging it would be necessary to get permission from the Council before the plan could be put in operation, said the franchise would be requested as soon as the ordinance could be prepared.

The plan outlined is for the most extensive system of conduits of large size ever devised in any city. Outside of the carrying of the telephone wires it is proposed to handle the United States mails, either by pneumatic tubes or by a carrier system, as the government may prefer; to carry from all parts of the business district all packages and other articles now handled by delivery wagons; to carry newspapers from the offices of publication to either depots or distributing stations; or, in other words, to transmit to and from all points reached by the conduits all merchandise and other articles not too bulky to be handled in them.

If Congress authorizes the adoption of the pneumatic tube system for the transmission of mails in Chicago the company will make a bid for the work. It claims, however, that its plan of carrying the mails is superior to the pneumatic tube system, and will be adopted instead of it.

Discusses Plans of Company.

Speaking of the plans of his company, President Wheeler said:

"We have built the conduits so far constructed with the primary object of carrying telephone wires. We must put them in and establish our telephone system before we can do anything else. The wires, however, will be strung in the roofs of the tunnels, and we will have left ample space to be devoted to other uses. In order to do this we have recognized all along that we would have to get the permission of the City Council, as our present franchise only entitles us to use the conduits for the stringing of telephone and telegraph wires.

"We have been in no hurry about the matter, as our first work of necessity is to get our telephone system established. We felt also that with the telephone system once installed and working we would be in better shape to go before the Council and ask for an addition to the powers contained in our franchise than if we sought it in advance. The city government, however, is of the opinion we must get our full franchise before we can build the trunk line tunnels, and we will make application for an addition to our ordinance as soon as it can be drawn up.

"The new ordinance will provide for tunnels 12x14 feet in the down-town district, to be used as trunk lines. In the outlying district we will have 6x8 foot conduits. The trunk lines will be four miles long under down-town streets and will have an extension running as far south as Sixty-third street, with lateral conduits at every street intersection of a half section line. On the North Side the system will extend to Diversey boulevard."

Could Carry Mailbags.

Mr. Wheeler's attention was called to the plan now before Congress to install a system of pneumatic tubes in Chicago for the transmission of the mails, for which the United States government is asked to pay something like $500,000 a year. He was asked if that scheme was a feature of his program.

"If the government was to decide on any such plan," said Mr. Wheeler, "we could put the pneumatic tubes in our conduits at a less cost than an independent company could install them. We think, however, that we can offer the government a carrying system superior to pneumatic tubes, by which the mail bags can be handled without breaking bulk. Under the pneumatic tube system the bags would have to be opened and the contents put into different receptacles, necessitating breaking bulk twice."

Mr. Wheeler said that electric motors would be used in the conduits, the designs for which were yet to be worked out.

Favor Granting Extension.

Corporation Counsel Walker, who was in consultation with the officers of the company yesterday, said:

"Should the company get the extension it wants from the Council it will have to pay adequate compensation. Aldermen Minwegen, Mavor, and Jackson are in favor of giving the company the extension on this condition, though what it will be depends on the Council."

"We have approved of the tunnels so far built," said Alderman Minwegen, chairman of the special committee which looked into them, "but we hold that if the company wants any added privileges it must give the city extra compensation. So we have recommended it come before the Council with an amended ordinance, stating what it wants and what it is willing to pay for a change in its franchise."

'PHONE MEN HAVE A BREAD BATTLE.

They Pelt Each Other at a Banquet Till Two Policemen Are Called.

PLAN TO INVADE CHICAGO.

MONEY SAID TO BE READY.

Telephone men from seven States met at a banquet in the Sherman House last evening and enjoyed themselves so thoroughly that two policemen were called in to suppress them. The banquet followed the first day's session of the Interstate Independent Telephone association, which is figuring on invading the Chicago field with an independent system.

The speaking was almost over when a delegate from Indiana started the revelry by throwing a chunk of bread across the table, hitting a Michigan man in the nose.

"Excuse me, sir; your wires are crossed," responded the Michigan man, firing back his own bread and that of his two neighbors.

Air Full of Bread.

In a moment fifty or more men were throwing bread around the room, and soon it seemed that the staff of life was coming down as hail.

Bread throwing soon ceased to be a pleasing diversion, and then some of the delegates whiled away the time by pouring wine down each others' necks.

It was at this stage of the proceedings that Policemen Norton and Derrick appeared, and, grabbing hold of a number of the more mirthful banqueters, forced them into their chairs. Previously J. Irving Pearce Jr., son of the manager of the hotel, had tried to quell the disturbance. Things came his way so fast that he was glad of a chance to retreat.

President I. A. Lumpkin and Toastmaster I. J. Nate said that they regretted the actions of some of the delegates. "But it was all in good spirit," they added.

Many 'Phone Men Here.

More than 400 members of telephone companies in Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky, and Missouri were present when the association met in the morning. Others are expected to arrive today, until it is believed every independent company in the seven States mentioned will have a delegate in the convention.

The primary object of the organization is to seek admission to Chicago, a handicap all of the companies have felt since their organization.

Plans for Chicago Invasion.

"The object of this meeting here in Chicago," said President Lumpkin in his opening address, "is to bring our various companies into closer alliance one with the other, to the end that long distance toll lines may soon be built from Chicago to the States represented here today. For it is a fact that these public gatherings attract the attention of the public, and, like the press of the country, have much to do with the forming of public sentiment.

"In this way it is possible to reach the ear of the Mayor and City Council of this city and obtain a franchise, after which the money would soon be raised to build an exchange in this city.

Money for the Project.

"When the Bell patents expired and the independent people were permitted to enter the field, the money interests of this country had little faith in our success, and would not respond to our appeals for money to carry forward our great and growing industry. But now what a change! Scarcely a day passes by that some inquiry is not received as to the value of some independent property, and our securities are now asked for by the best financiers of the country.

"By coöperation our independent companies can be so materially strengthened that Chicago, as a common center, must eventually come into the field with an independent telephone system, the benefits of which no telephone subscriber can fail to appreciate."

Today's session of the Interstate Independent Telephone association will be devoted to addresses which may have further to do with the proposed invasion of Chicago.

YATES ANSWERS FITZ-SIMONS.

Governor Denies That He Asked the General to Explain His Part in the Round Robin.

Springfield, Ill., April 9.—[Special.]—Governor Yates today denied he had made a demand upon General Fitz-Simons for an explanation of his connection with the round robin, but said that he received such an explanation from General Fitz-Simons voluntarily in a letter that said:

I had not the remotest idea that the letter signed by Cullom, Stewart, et al., reflected on you directly or indirectly in any manner. I felt that what was ascribed to Mr. Rowe was, in my judgment, reprehensible and subversive of Republican policies. I on that account signed the letter. I have no criticism to make on the State administration. On the contrary, I have taken some pains to make public my approval in certain instances. I am out of politics and will stay out.

Governor Yates, when informed later that General Fitz-Simons was industriously circulating the round robin, thought it time Fitz-Simons should sever his connection with the administration, and therefore called for his resignation.

General Fitz-Simons has not received Governor Yates' acceptance of his resignation yet and finds his successor appointed while he is technically holding his office. General Fitz-Simons will not take any further action and will let the public make its own conclusions as to the rights of the case.

General Fitz-Simons' staff will retire with him, and the promotion of Colonel George M. Moulton to fill his place will leave that commission open.

One of the most picturesque figures in the art studios of New York is that of Dark Cloud, or Mr. Tahamont, a model. He is considered the best all around study or model of his race. He is much sought for by leading Indian illustrators and sculptors, for they find in Dark Cloud the best representative of the noble type of the red man.

"Hold the Wire."

There is a habit of telephoning in Chicago which is utterly selfish and should be stopped. Its workings are as follows: Jones asks his office boy to get Smith on the wire. The boy summons Smith to his instrument and tells him to wait, "Hold the wire," saying Mr. Jones wishes to talk to him. So Smith waits while the boy tells Jones to come. He does come in thirty seconds or two minutes, during which time Smith is waiting more or less patiently. Jones tries to save the time of waiting, so he robs Smith of it. Probably, since Jones called up, the business concerned him more particularly. If Jones is so busy that he cannot spare the time of waiting at the telephone he should be able to afford a desk instrument. If he is not so busy he should make the wait himself, instead of shifting it to his correspondent. The habit is a discourtesy and should be severely rebuked.

Another Labor Mayor Elected.

Last Monday night the trades unions of Hartford, Conn., had occasion to employ bands and to carry transparencies. Ignatius I. Sullivan had been elected Mayor. Mr. Sullivan is a clerk and apparently a shrewd and capable person. He has been President of the Hartford Clerks' union, of the Hartford Central Labor union, and of the Connecticut Federation of Labor. He is now Mayor of a city which is said to have more wealth per capita than any other city in the United States. What makes Mr. Sullivan's victory all the more remarkable is that he was elected as the candidate of a party organization which was last year defeated by a majority of more than 3,000 votes. This year the final result was 6,648 to 6,134. The change was accomplished by means of a direct appeal to the laboring people. Mr. Sullivan's opponent was Major William B. Dwight, who is a member of a distinguished Connecticut family and who gained a little distinction on his own account during the Spanish war. Major Dwight, however, was unable to reach the wage earners. He found that they had made up their minds to put one of their own number in office. His solicitations had no effect on them. It was a case of community of interest. The trades unions wanted certain things, and in order to be sure that they would get those things they intended to put a trades unionist in control of the municipal government. It was not expected that they would be successful. Major Dwight's hold on the town was strong, and he was indirectly assisted by the Socialists, who had a candidate of their own and who made a savage attack on the trades unions for going into politics. Despite the opposition, however, both of intrenched interests and of the enemies of those interests, Mr. Sullivan's organization, assisted by the Economic league, carried him through to a spectacular success. Of course, Mr. Sullivan is not the only labor Mayor in the country. San Francisco has one. So has Bridgeport. And so has Ansonia. Both Bridgeport and Ansonia are, like Hartford, in Connecticut, so that Connecticut now has three labor Mayors at the same time. It may have more of them. The labor population of New England is immense, and, being engaged largely in manufactures, is easily organized. If it determines to go into the business of electing Mayors it is likely to be even more successful in the future than in the past.

CERTAIN ANNEXATION OF CUBA.

The preliminary voting in the House on the Cuban reciprocity bill is encouraging. It shows that the number of unpatriotic Americans is smaller than it was thought it would be. The case of the beet root men seems to be hopeless. The reduction of the duties on Cuban sugar may even be increased. Instead of 20 per cent it may ultimately be 25 per cent, or 33 1-3 per cent, or more. There are enough men in both parties able to rise superior to personal and party considerations to insure doing justice to Cuba. There are not enough men who are governed by selfish motives, and who consider the beet sugar industry superior to all other considerations, to make it possible to deny to Cuba what it is justly entitled to.

What Mr. Payne said is significant. His words were: "Cuba is not now a part of the United States. I do not want her to be, but I believe she will be." Omitting the expression of his wishes on the subject, that is the common belief of the people of the United States. They look upon the annexation of Cuba as "manifest destiny," and do not agree with some members of the House of Representatives that a reduction of the duty on sugar, or a refusal to reduce it, will materially help or retard annexation.

It is a curious fact that people argue both ways. Some say that if the reduction is not made it will force Cuba into the United States. Others say if made it will tend to bring the island under the jurisdiction of the United States. The truth is that, whether made or not, Cuba will become a part of the United States, as it cannot continue as a dependency. It cannot remain half independent, as it will be under the Platt amendment. It must be altogether free and independent, or altogether a part of the United States.

That is what its manifest destiny is, and what the people of the United States wish it to be. As an original proposition the opposition to annexation might have been serious, but when the relations between Cuba and the United States are incumbered by the obligation to protect the island, there can be no serious objection to annexation. As the United States is burdened with the duty of taking care of the island, it may as well make a complete job of it and take the island under its wing.

Probably if the question were to be submitted to a vote of the people of the United States, annexation would be favored by 90 per cent of the population. There would be no North and South in this question, as the South would be almost unanimously for it, and the number of people at the North opposed to it would be small.

As there is not likely to be any serious or persistent opposition on the part of the Cubans, it seems to be a question of only a few years when the island will come under the eagle's wing.

"SAFE IN SOUTH CAROLINA."

Governor McSweeney's assurance to President Roosevelt that "he was as safe from bodily harm in South Carolina as he was in Washington" has today a humorous aspect. Fifty years ago many Northern men if in Charleston would have been relieved in mind by such an assurance. It seems to be unnecessary now to assure a President of the United States that he is "safe from bodily harm" anywhere within the boundaries of the republic. The asseverations of the Governor of South Carolina to that effect are wanting in tact if not in judgment. The Governor of no other State would deem it necessary to assure the Chief Magistrate that he was "safe." Rebellious as South Carolina has been, turbulent as it has occasionally been since it abandoned rebellious ways, it has never encouraged—it has never harbored—the idea of a bodily assault on a President of the United States. We cannot imagine that President Roosevelt would be treated any differently there than in any other State of the union. Certainly he would not appear to be in any greater danger than President McKinley at Buffalo, where he was absolutely "in the hands of his friends."

The President's speech was adroit and calculated to commend him to the good will of the people of South Carolina. He called attention to the great growth of the State in manufactures. He spoke of the friendly feelings which he had for the people individually and collectively. He dwelt on the fact that sectionalism had been in a measure wiped out by the Spanish-American war. Altogether, he dealt with the situation in a spirit of manly fortitude and good nature that must have commended him to the favor of a brave, spirited people.

In the address made by the President at the exposition yesterday he paid a compliment to Charleston and a graceful tribute to the valor of confederate soldiers in the civil war and of ex-confederate soldiers and their sons in the late war. He spoke at greater length than on the preceding evening on the completeness of the reunion of North and South. Referring to the exposition itself—"an exposition rendered possible because of the period of industrial prosperity through which we are now passing"—the President said it called up the thought of the complex social and economical questions of the day. Among them is the trust problem. Concerning it the President reiterated his opinion that the nation must exercise cautiously but firmly the power of supervision and regulation of the great industrial combinations of today.

One thing the President said in Tuesday's speech was quite felicitous. It was that the Spanish-American war "was a little one because it did not have to be any bigger." It was big enough for the purpose of wiping Spain off the map of the western hemisphere. That is all that was aimed at. We did not half try to do that.

In a general way the President seemed to commend the present purpose or ambition of the South Carolinians to raise more crops and less Hades, and if possible to increase their manufactures and supply their own wants. His appeal to their patriotism in reference to Cuba and the West Indies was timely. The bearing of it may be perceived by an analysis of the vote in the House of Representatives on the Cuban reciprocity bill. Four of the seven members from South Carolina voted to take up the bill and not one voted against doing so. The President enlarged on this topic of the relations between Cuba and the United States in yesterday's address. Said he: "As a matter of right we must give to Cuba a different—that is a better—position economically in her relations with us than we give to other powers."

Altogether, the visit to South Carolina is pleasing and useful both to the President and the people of the State. We do not believe the country will have occasion to regret the visit. Nobody will benefit more from it and the lessons it teaches and enforces than the South Carolinians themselves.

THE KINDERGARTEN SCHOOLS.

The question of the continuance of the public school kindergartens is likely to come up at the next meeting of the Board of Education for settlement, and Superintendent Cooley is quoted as saying that until kindergartens can be sustained in all the schools it will be best to discontinue them. Such a disposition of the question should not be made hastily. Kindergartens should not be discontinued until every plan for their continuance has proved impracticable.

At this period of kindergarten work it would be folly to deny its great importance. It is not a necessity to the higher school curriculum and perhaps it is superfluous to train American children in the direction of alertness of observation when they are already preternaturally gifted that way. But there is another point of view from which the kindergarten should be considered. In a city like Chicago, a large proportion of those who attend the public schools are of foreign birth or parentage and poor. They are often shy, suspicious, inept, sullen, and sometimes hateful. To such as these the confidence reposed in them at the kindergarten, the friendliness shown them, the system of gift-giving, the constructive games, and the manual training are invaluable. The system is not only of value to the child but to the mother who has neither the time nor the ability to instruct her children, and there is the added benefit to the mother that it is greatly accommodating to her to be spared the oversight of the child during a part of the day, so that she may have more time for her onerous duties.

Admitting the importance of the continuance of the kindergartens, it should be possible to maintain them. Whatever is done must not be prejudicial to the higher schools. There are but eighty-nine public kindergartens, with an average attendance of fifty-five at each. This is a small number as compared with the more than 300,000 children in the grammar and high schools. It would be a most serious matter to cripple these in order to maintain the kindergartens. But if the expense of the latter can be paid out of the back taxes and without impairing the usefulness of the grammar schools it will be unwise to discontinue them. The Board of Education should look at the question from every side before coming to a decision.

HONOR TO FITZ-SIMONS.

It is not in the power of Governor Yates to dishonor a man of the standing of General Fitz-Simons. A rebuke from the Governor, under the circumstances, is almost a decoration. The marvel is that the Governor can find a sufficient number of self-respecting men in the community to serve on his staff. The persons who really and truly believe in the sincerity of Governor Yates and have regard for him as a Chief Executive may accurately be denominated a "corporal's guard."

General Fitz-Simons is much better out of the service than in it so long as the chief of the militia of the State is Mr. Yates. The people of Illinois, and especially of Cook County, are fairly aching for an opportunity to express their opinion of Yates as Chief Executive. The sooner he gives the people the opening, directly or indirectly, the better they will be pleased. There is a quantity of surplus emotion on the subject which ought to have room for expression.

The occasion may come next fall. There is an election to be held then in this county. The ticket to be nominated may be fairly representative of Mr. Yates and some of his followers. Members of the Legislature are to be chosen. Presumably some of the nominees will be for Mr. Yates and Mr. Yates' policies. Generally speaking, the Yates "machine" may be on top and go before the public for approval, or the reverse.

This will be a lovely opportunity for the people of Cook County to say what they think of Governor Yates and his administration. They may tell the world that they have confidence or the reverse of it in him. The people will never, without improving it, permit such a chance to pass by.

LA SALLE STREET BOULEVARD PLAN.

The proposed change of La Salle street and La Salle avenue into a boulevard for reaching Lincoln Park via the Lake Shore drive overlooks the natural approach to the park and suggests another against which many objections may be brought.

The La Salle street route involves crossing nine street car tracks on the South Side, including the Randolph street crossing, the most dangerous of them all. From Monroe street to Randolph street La Salle street is occupied by cable car tracks. From Randolph street to Lake street the opening into the tunnel leaves only a narrow passageway on either side in a block devoted entirely to business and, of course, always crowded with vehicles. From Lake street to South Water street La Salle street is almost impassable by reason of the lines of vehicles standing along the sides. From South Water street to the river the center of the street is occupied by the ventilating shaft of the tunnel. On the north side of the river the situation is almost as bad, for La Salle avenue, from the river to Illinois street, is occupied by structures and tunnel openings corresponding to those on the South Side, and from the river to Chicago avenue it is given up almost entirely to factories, small shops, and saloons.

Why should such a route be urged? It is ten blocks out of the way from Michigan avenue. It involves the building of a special bridge, which may prove impracticable on account of the tunnel, and there are other disadvantages and difficulties not mentioned in the way of boulevard constructions. The natural approach to Lincoln Park from the South Side is Michigan avenue, thence to the Lincoln Park boulevard and Lake Shore drive. A more unsuitable approach to the park could hardly be selected than La Salle avenue. A more suitable and attractive one cannot be found than Michigan avenue. The crossing of the river by viaduct and bridge is simple and practical. There is no obstacle but the expense. That obstacle just now stands in the way of every other public improvement, and could be provided for as other improvements in the future will have to be. In selecting a boulevard connection between the South Side and Lincoln Park, why ignore the natural route which is obvious to any one, and against which no rational objection can be offered, and select a remote and roundabout one which will be attended by many difficulties and no compensating attractions?

A COMIC OPERA RAILROAD.

The Chicago and Northwestern has always been English enough to call itself a railway instead of a railroad and to run its trains on the left track instead of on the right. It has now begun to establish further distinctions between itself and its provincial neighbors. It has given up having sidetracks. It has auxiliaries. It has also given up having freight trains. It has trains of the second class. In these and in other ways, all embodied in a handbook recently distributed among its employés, it has undertaken to correct the vicious vagaries of language current on this brink of civilization and to replace looseness with precision, vulgarity with elegance, Bret Harte with Henry James.

Philosophically, fundamentally, cavilers might say that all this was wrong, that language is best cultivated on the laissez passer system, that popular speech should be allowed to grow and flourish and spread out its branches like a forest tree and not like a clipped park shrub. All vigor and spontaneity is sacrificed when popular impulse is checked. Here is the defense even of slang. Shakspeare found slang useful and so have most writers since who have written for the world and not for a set. Still, the purist usually thinks otherwise, and having decided for himself that certain things are right and certain other things wrong, determines to enforce his opinions on the world. Defeat does not discourage him. For many generations he has been trying to put a bit into the mouth of that leviathan, the English language, and to drive his captive down the center of the boulevard of correct speech, with crowds of cheering professors on each side. Generation after generation the attempt has ended in failure. Nevertheless, it still continues, and probably will continue always. It will not be successful till the leviathan is so old and feeble that it will not be worth harnessing.

The new rules of the Chicago and Northwestern railway, however, are by no means so extreme as the remarks here made might be construed to imply. They have provoked those remarks simply because they do make a violent and arbitrary change in a phraseology that has become part and parcel of the language of today. To call a sidetrack an auxiliary is like calling a switch a divergence or a car platform an exterior extension. However, the change is decreed, and with it another change which will be even more noticeable. Conductors and brakemen are hereafter to be as conspicuous for urbanity of manners as for nicety of speech. They are to be Beau Brummels and Samuel Johnsons at the same time. One may expect a scene like this:

Enter, the brakeman, in knee breeches, satin pumps, dress coat, kid gloves, and hat with plumes. As he passes the door he removes his hat with plumes and says: "Ladies and gentlemen, I have the honor to announce that the next station this train will stop at—I mean, at which this train will stop—is Glendale-on-the-Skokie. Do not forget your paraphernalia and impedimenta." At which one of the passengers says: "May I inquire why it is that we have been so unconscionably dilatory on our way out?" "The reason for that," replies the brakeman, "is that our engine-man, warned by an audible signal, thrice repeated, of the rapid approach of a through train of the superior class, was obliged to divert his own train to an auxiliary there to await further instructifications." So saying he again puts on his hat with plumes and goes out into the cinders.

The crew of the Pinafore were nothing compared with the prospective crews of the Northwestern trains. It will be: "Shovel the coal there faster, Jack." "If—," says the fireman. "If what?" says the engineer. "If you please," says the fireman, "that's the orders of the President of the road."

Some day, however, something will go wrong and when the President forgets himself and says, "Damn it, it's too bad; yes, damn it, it's too bad," there will be an indignant chorus of conductors, brakemen, engineers, firemen, and also of his sisters and his cousins and has aunts, to say, "He said 'Damn it'; he said 'Damn it.'" That will be a shock to the "system."

"OLD-TIME CHICAGO SPIRIT."

Mayor Harrison says in his message that "in considerable measure the existing civic evils"—chief among which is a lack of municipal revenue—"may be traced to a common origin, the great territory, sparsely settled and scantily improved, which makes up Chicago." The population being scattered over an extensive area, "public service," says the Mayor, "is spread out too thin. As a result great sums of money are spent for comparatively unsatisfactory work." This is now plain enough. Had it been equally plain a dozen years ago "expansion" would not then have been quite so popular as it was.

The evils which are due to this cause may be mitigated, as is suggested by the Mayor, by greater centralization of government and the assessment of property which ought to be taxed but which now escapes taxation. The average citizen is already taxed heavily enough. But if these things are done the city will still be hampered for lack of revenue until the vast vacant areas are built up and taxable wealth has so expanded as to justify the heavier taxation which at the present moment would be economically indefensible. In the meanwhile, all a municipal government can do is to economize and get the best possible results out of its limited resources.

The deficiencies in municipal service which the Mayor describes so forcibly and vividly are due in much greater measure to overexpansion than to a lack of "the old-time Chicago spirit." The Mayor says, "Chicago cries out today for a return to the old-time Chicago spirit which made the city's name famous the world around." Two years of that spirit, says the Mayor, "will accomplish more of purpose than a generation of helpless criticism, dawdling complaint, and pale-livered estheticism." The esthetes who have no red blood in their veins are, the Mayor explains, "the men who howl about smoke and billboards." Does he include also the members of the Municipal Art league, of which Mr. Franklin MacVeagh, a citizen richly endowed with public spirit, is the President? A man may "howl about smoke" and yet be as solicitous for the general welfare of the city as the Mayor is.

It is not just to this generation to say "the old-time Chicago spirit" is absent today. The "old-time Chicagoan" did what in his day were great things. He built the first water tunnel. This generation has constructed the drainage channel. The "old-time Chicagoan" raised the grade of the business district and bragged loudly of it. This generation elevates railroad tracks and builds sixteen-story structures and says comparatively little about them.

The Mayor says regretfully that "the men who made Chicago for the most part have passed away." Chicago is not yet made. It is still in the process of making, and will not be finished for centuries to come. This generation is doing its part of the work. It is doing over the work of the preceding generation where it was imperfect or temporary. It is dealing with municipal problems its predecessor knew nothing of or neglected. The last generation, imprudent and improvident sometimes in its grants of privileges, left as a legacy to its successor a traction question which is not easy of solution.

The men of this generation do not talk so much about Chicago as did "the old-time Chicagoan" who lived when St. Louis, Cincinnati, and Milwaukee were its boastful rivals, and when it seemed necessary to be continually advertising Chicago with tongue and pen. The boisterous Chicago patriotism of other days would be undignified now. The men of this generation are not degenerate sons of worthy sires. They, too, are doing great things for the city. Thirty years from now some Chicago pessimist will deplore the absence of civic pride and will urge citizens to emulate the great deeds of the Chicagoans of the World's Fair and drainage channel era.

It has been found practicable at county conventions to work in an indorsement of the State administration as a rider.

YESTERDAY was a sad and inglorious day for the Hon. Jim Tillman.

MAYOR HARRISON'S remarks must not be construed, however, as an unqualified indorsement of the "I Will" girl.

GOTHAM PUZZLE NEAR SOLUTION.

Mystery in Murder of Witness McAuliffe Now in a Way to Be Cleared Up.

TWO SUSPECTS ARE NAMED

GENERAL GOSSIP OF GOTHAM

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE, New York, April 9.

Detective Sergeant James Kiernan and Policeman John Gilligan were picked out tonight by two of the witnesses in the case of James McAuliffe, the chief witness against Wardman Glennon, and who alleged to have been done to death by the police, as the men who had something to do with putting McAuliffe into the cab, from which it is surmised that he was later turned out to die. No arrests have as yet been made.

Kiernan, these witnesses say, helped to put McAuliffe into the cab at the West Forty-seventh Street Police Station. Gilligan, they say, was the bluecoat who turned to Cohen, one of the witnesses, as McAuliffe was being put in the cab, and said:

"Now, get out of here, or I'll run you in."

This alleged identification of Kiernan and Gilligan as participants in the case took place tonight in the West Forty-seventh Street Police Station.

Kiernan has been regarded as the representative of the blackmail system in the West Forty-seventh Precinct. His promotion from wardman was regarded as a personal reward from Deputy Commissioner Devery.

McAuliffe was found dead on a sidewalk near his home several weeks ago. He had gone to visit relations the previous evening, and, owing to the bruised condition of the body, his friends declared he had met foul play. It transpired that he had spent the night in the West Forty-seventh Street Station on a charge of drunkenness and had been discharged in court the next morning.

Efforts to trace his movements from the courtroom have been continued by various persons, and finally Police Commissioner Partridge took up the matter. Two persons were found who declared they saw a man answering the description of McAuliffe put into a cab at the station. Others are said to declare they saw the same man thrown from a vehicle near where McAuliffe was found dead. The officers attached to the West Forty-seventh Street Station were paraded before two of these men—Aaron Cohen and John Lennon—at midnight. Both declared that Detective Sergeant James Kiernan was one of the two men they saw carrying a man from the door of the station-house toward a cab.

Charges alleging oppression, abusive processes, and interference in a civil action have been preferred against District Attorney Jerome and will reach the Governor tomorrow. A petition asking for the removal of the Prosecutor will accompany the charge. The charges grew out of the case of Policeman John C. McGee, better known as "Suspender Jack," who on April 2 was subpœnaed to the office of the District Attorney and questioned by Assistant District Attorney Sanford concerning the payment of alimony to McGee's wife.

The woman had sued for a separation, and the courts decreed that McGee must pay his wife $6 a week alimony. This he has refused to do, although ordered to make payment by Colonel Partridge, before whom McGee was brought up on charges.

The subpœna served on McGee was made to read: "In the case of the People against John Doe." In the upper left-hand corner was written: "See Mr. Sanford."

The case represented on the subpœna proved to be fictitious, as McGee afterward discovered when he talked with Mr. Sanford. Lawyer Frederick P. Randolph has preferred the charges through Lawyer Pingrose.

A decision by the Circuit Court of Appeals, just rendered, is of much interest to bankruptcy lawyers. The petitioner, a former silk merchant, schedules liabilities of $973,000 and assets of $198,000. His creditors vigorously opposed a discharge of the debts. In its decision the Court of Appeals says: "From Sept. 19, 1898, to April 12, 1900, the petitioner was hopelessly insolvent, yet in that period he lost in gambling-houses, at roulette and faro and other games of chance, more than $160,000, and paid this sum out of money drawn from his business, as well as about $75,000 which he lost in stock speculations. Knowing he could not meet his obligations, he turned to gambling and stock speculations in hope of retrieving his losses, but went from bad to worse and rapidly used up his assets and the money of his creditors."

On this account the referee's recommendation denying a discharge of the debts was upheld.

Now the valuation has been revised and placed at $200,000, so if Mr. Sage still has to pay 5 per cent his rent for land will go up to $10,000 a year. He owns the house. He built it something over forty years ago, and has lived there ever since.

"Why, it's outrageous," he said today, "to talk of such a raise in rent. They'll drive everybody off Fifth avenue if they don't look out. I don't want to move, for I have lived there over forty years, but I won't stay and pay anything exorbitant."

When the papers were served the ditty figured as a part of the complaint. Bowers remarked he was sorry he wrote the song. He met the young woman while he was singing on the Masonic Temple roof a little more than a year ago. She had written a letter to him asking advice how to get on the stage, and an interview which followed ripened into warm friendship.

was made by a man prominent in the saloon interest while discussing the result of the regular meeting of the Wine, Liquor, and Beer Dealers' Central association of the County of New York at the Lexington Avenue Opera-House on Tuesday. Nothing was accomplished then and the delegates were bound by no action of the meeting, and they left it with the conviction that, as the association held them to no policy, they were free to shift for themselves.

Several prominent saloonkeepers voiced the same opinion as the man who declared that all would do the best they could. None would, however, admit that the protection system would be revived. One man, however, declared:

"The only change is this: Formerly it was the Captain's shakedown, now it is the patrolman's," intimating that favors would have to be negotiated with the men on post.

In many fine white waist patterns there is drawn work of the most exquisite variety.

Pretty sets of wide turnover collars and cuffs are of white with bands of flowered lawn, or something of that nature, set in just inside the hem.

A peculiar trimming on a white dotted muslin imported frock is the flowered muslin with which a great part of it is covered. This is set on in odd little wavy bands, great numbers of them.

The great difference in dressing in France and dressing in the United States is that the French woman will elect only for the styles, fabrics and colors which individually suit and complement her.

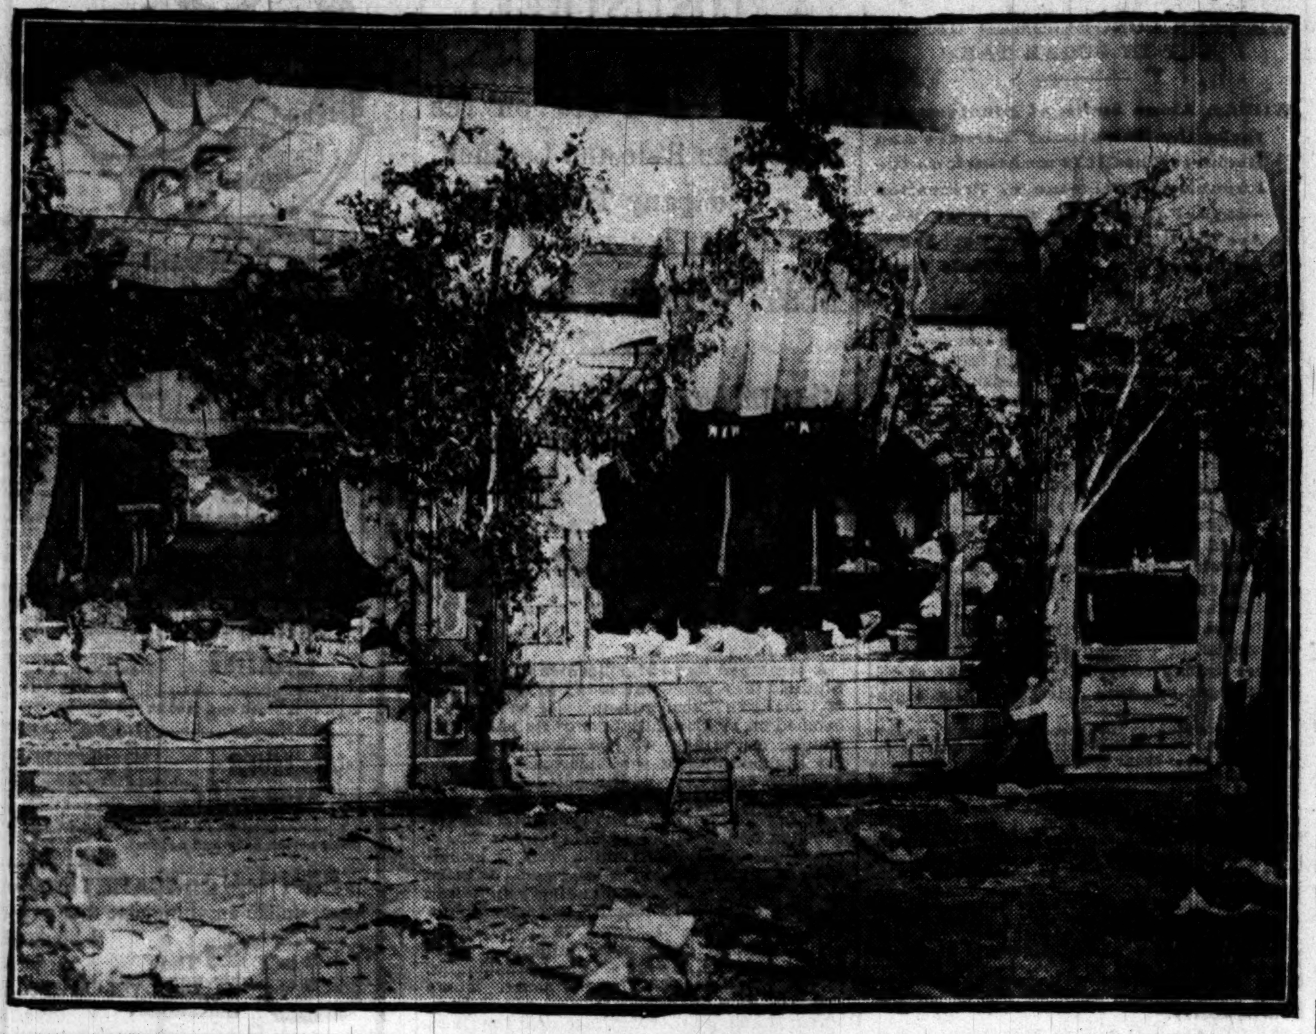

If there is one thing more apparent than another among new summer dress models, it is the continued popularity of tucks and lace bands and appliques and their extended possibilities in the way of variety.

Notwithstanding the slow progress that the French jacket (half fitting, and with seamless back) made during its first appearance, it has come to be more generally favored than the ultra-English covert coat.

Delightful little house blouses for the summer girl are to be seen in the shops now. Made in surplice shape, with frilled elbow sleeves, and in the most delicate lawns, dimities, and batistes, they are intended to be worn with white pique and duck skirts.

A fetching idea in lace is to be seen on the new stole. The lace is white, in a broad band, with large oval openings at intervals. These are intended undoubtedly to run ribbons through, but [illegible] an attractive finish is given to the [illegible] rows of narrow satin ribbon across [illegible] the narrow way, the opening being [illegible] of the lace.

FESTIVAL FOR OLD PEOPLE'S HOME A VERITABLE FLOWER LAND.

[From a photograph taken for THE TRIBUNE.]

The spring festival for the benefit of the German Old People's Home at Altenheim opened yesterday in the North Side Turner Hall. The result of weeks of labor on the part of the women of the Altenheim association was a transformation of the big dance hall into a flower land. In every booth useful articles were piled up behind banks of flowers, and the fancy and artwares added to the riot of color.

One large booth made of red roses had the central position. In the Turkish, Swedish, and Servian booths the young women serving are in costume. The festival will be open afternoons and evenings until April 12. There is a music program each afternoon, and special entertainments for each evening. Mrs. Theodore Brentano is President of the association, and was assisted in arranging the festival by Mrs. R. G. Calder, Mrs. R. Becker, Mrs. Gustavus Rockener, Mrs. William F. Juergens, and Mrs. Edwin Rafter. Others assisting on the committees are Mrs. William Birk, Mrs. F. W. Blocki, Mrs. Frank Kramer, Mrs. Philip Henrici Jr., Mrs. Gustav Hesser Jr., Mrs. G. W. Claussenius, Mrs. C. Klein, Mrs. H. A. Kirchoff, Mrs. Elfred Zeiger, Mrs. F. Henning, Mrs. F. Campe, the Misses Harder, Mrs. J. H. Witzel, Miss Alma Holinger, Mrs. P. H. Manz, Mrs. R. NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

DIE TOCHTER DES HERRN FABRICIUS.
A Drama in Four Acts.
BY ADOLF WILBRANDT,
Presented at Powers' Theater, Chicago, by Adolph von Sonnenthal and the Irving Place Theater Company of New York, April 9, 1902. The cast:

Eulenstein	Max Haenseler
Rolf	Alexander Rottmann
Frau Ida Reinhold	Hermine Warna
Frau Agathe Stern	Hedwig Lange
Hugo	Georg Buenger
Fabricius	Adolph von Sonnenthal
Frau Wohlmuth	Meta Buenger
Demmler	Wilhelm Kupfer
Abel	Willy Frey
Kaethchen	Grete Kupfer
Protokollfuehrer	Hermann Korn

Emotional plays are out of fashion at the present time, and it must be accepted as a special compliment to Mr. Sonnenthal's genius that a comparatively large audience attended the performance of "Die Tochter des Herrn Fabricius" at Powers' Theater last night.

It was Mr. Sonnenthal's third appearance during the present engagement and his second rôle. The play is in four acts and belongs to the most powerful creations of Adolf Wilbrandt, one of Germany's greatest dramatists of the present time. It is a strongly emotional play, full of a pathos which has the true ring of reality, replete with scenes and situations, profoundly stirring the interest and sympathies of every human heart. It tells a sad and pitiful story of a good and warm-hearted man who is cast away by the wife he loves because he does not suit her ambitions. He sinks lower and lower, until in a dark hour he commits a crime which the law punishes with imprisonment for thirty years. After his release he accidentally meets his daughter, who had also been sent adrift by his wife, and of whose existence he had never known. His daughter, a widow with one child, feels deep sympathy for her father, but for the sake of her child she hesitates to acknowledge him as her father. The latter is discovered in the house in which his daughter lives, and which he had entered to see his little grandson. He is arrested, and at the preliminary investigation refuses to save himself by divulging his relationship to the woman in whose house he had been found. Even when his daughter informs the examining Judge that the prisoner is her father and had only come to see her, the old man refuses to admit this relationship. Not until his grandson appeals to him does he break through the stubbornly maintained reserve and yields to the united appeals of his daughter and grandson. There is probably not another part in dramatic literature which offers such possibilities to the emotional power of an actor and to his ability of characterization.

That an actor of Mr. Sonnenthal's genius and conscientiousness would not miss an opportunity like that goes without saying. His Fabricius is a remarkable creation, a perfect study of one of the most interesting psychological phases of human life. In a masterly manner he impersonates the cowed and broken spirited ex-convict, whose cynicism, in spite of all the sufferings of twenty-four years, is only superficial and melts away before the sympathetic warmth of his daughter's love.

Mr. Sonnenthal was well supported by the members of the company. Each one of the important parts was in the hands of an excellent actor, and seldom has a better of even as good ensemble been seen here. Hedwig Lange played the part of Agathe Stern with dignified reserve, but proved in the last act that she does not lack emotional power of a high order. The Frau Wohlmuth of Meta Buenger deserves unstinted praise. One of the cleverest pieces of artistic characterization was the Demmler of Mr. Kupfer. Mr. Rottmann as Rolf, Hermine Warna as Ida Reinhold, and Max Haenseler as Eulenstein were eminently satisfactory. Little George Buenger filled the part of Hugo Stern to his credit.

The repertory has been changed owing to the great demand for a repetition of "Die Tochter des Herrn Fabricius." It will be repeated on Friday night instead of "Der Marquis von Villemer," originally announced for that night.

LES HUGUENOTS.
(In French.)
A Grand Opera in Four Acts.
MUSIC BY GIACOMO MEYERBEER.
Presented at the Auditorium, Chicago, by the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company, April 9, 1902. The cast:

Valentine	Miss Lucienne Breval
Urbain	Mme. Seygard
I. Dame d'honneur	Miss Bauermeister
II. Dame d'honneur	Mme. Van Cauteren
Marguerite de Valois	Mme. Sembrich
Raoul de Nangis	Mr. Alvarez
Le Comte de Saint Bris	Mr. Journet
Le Comte de Nevers	Mr. Scotti
Soldat Huguenot	Mr. Jacques Bars
De Tavannes	Mr. Reiss
De Retz	Mr. Viviani
Maurevert	Mr. Dufriche
De Meru	Mr. Dufriche
De Cosse	Mr. Vanni
Marcel	Mr. Ed. de Reszke

Conductor, Mr. Flon.

"Les Huguenots" received its only presentation during the engagement of the Grau company at the Auditorium last evening. The cast was a "big" one, containing no less than six of the leading principals of the troupe, and yet the audience was one of the lightest of the season.

Last year the same opera was offered with a similar all-star allotment of rôles, and the house was crowded to the limit of its capacity. It true Jean de Reszke sang Raoul on that occasion, and the glamour of his name doubtless had much to do with attracting the public, but, even remembering this fact, the small attendance last evening came in the nature of a surprise. The explanation probably is to be found partly in the Wagner trilogy having place in the repertory and claiming the major portion of public attention, and partly in the offering of a still bigger cast in the "Magic Flute."

Mr. Grau has gone a step farther in the constellation business this year than he did last, putting more stars into Mozart's opera than he did into Meyerbeer's, and since we are ardent star worshipers, we pay our dollars to gaze at the largest group. No one would regret the downfall of Meyerbeer and the rise of Mozart, but enthusiasm over the change of composers would only be possible were it known that music had anything whatever to do with the matter, and it is known that it hasn't. It's a question solely of stars, not of operas!

But the thought does intrude occasionally as to what Mr. Grau is going to do in the future. He now has a cast with eight stars—it draws the crowd. The one with six, that last year did the same, is now useless to him, for he loses money on it. If he brings ten stars together next year, then the eight of this season are rendered valueless. The limit soon will be reached, not so much because operas with twenty or thirty star rôles are lacking—such could be written—but because the supply of great singers is limited. We will accept nothing but the great. What will Mr. Grau do?

The performance last evening was one of excellence, although not so spirited and brilliant as that of a year ago. The light audience exerted a depressing influence, and, while all moved smoothly and well on the stage, there was wanting that life and animation that are essential to a stirring performance of "Les Huguenots." Meyerbeer's score contains so large a proportion of the trivial and artificial that only the utmost spirit infused into it by the singers engaged in its performance can lend it a semblance of real worth.

Mme Sembrich's sincere and lovely art made the opening of the second act an incident of beauty and gladness, and the splendid dramatic intensity Mr. Alvarez and Mme. Breval brought the singing of the one really live piece of musical writing in the opera, the duet in the fourth act, gave the close of the evening the brilliancy and fervor that rouse genuine and hearty enthusiasm. This duet was the point in which the performance this year o'ertopped that of last. The duet cannot be satisfactorily sung without voice—lots of it. No amount of art will suffice. Voice is indispensable, and the tenor this year had this indispensable factor and gave of it liberally. Mme. Breval was a worthy assistant of Mr. Alvarez in this scene, and the product of their combined efforts was a performance that will not soon be forgotten by those privileged to enjoy it. In the duet with Marcel in Act III., Mme. Breval did also praise-meriting work. She makes a Valentine beautiful to look upon and pleasant to watch, so graceful is her every movement and gesture.

Mme. Sembrich sang the music of the Queen with the peculiarly rounded, velvety quality of tone, the admirable phrasing, the exquisite clarity, and the technical flawlessness that distinguish her, and make her the artist par excellence. Mme. Seygard was a pleasing Urbain, singing the music well, albeit not with any extraordinary brilliancy, and acting satisfactorily. Mr. De Reszke repeated his familiar performance of Marcel, and Mr. Scotti was, as in seasons past, a courtly and vocally excellent Nevers. Mr. Journet sang Saint Bris with an abundance of tonal power and nobility, and with admirable understanding of the dramatic value of the rôle.

In the afternoon "Carmen" was given before an audience of good size. It was, however, but a weak performance when compared to the one given the Wednesday before, being as lifeless and dull as the other was spirited and sparkling. Mme. Calvé was vocally in bad condition, singing off pitch with remarkable persistency and taking the widest liberties with the music of the part, and acting in an entirely perfunctory and indifferent manner. Mr. Salignac was a Don José as weak and namby-pamby as any tenor well could make him, and sang at best but indifferently. Mr. Campanari choked in his first stanza of the Toreador song, and all but broke down. He did better in the second stanza, but fell down literally in the duet with Don José, and sang flat all the rest of the time. Mme. Marilly as Micaela was the most nearly satisfactory principal of the cast, singing her aria in the third act well. It was a performance to be forgotten with pleasure.

Tonight "Siegfried" will be given, the cast being as follows:

Siegfried	Mr. Dippel
Der Wanderer	Mr. Van Rooy
Alberich	Mr. David Bispham
Mime	Mr. Reiss
Fafner	Mr. Blass
Brunnhilde	Miss Milka Ternina
Stimme des Waldvogels	Miss Fritzi Scheff
Erda	Mme. Schumann-Heink

Conductor, Mr. Walter Damrosch.

The performance is announced for "7:45 o'clock precisely."

MORE HELP FOR CHICAGO OFFICE

ROOT TO AID CROZIER.

Secretary of War Hopes to Have Senate Confirm His Friend.

NEWS AT NATION'S CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE } Washington, D. C., April 9.

Senator Mason today recommended a large increase in the clerical force of the Chicago Postoffice, so as to increase the facilities for handling the mail and removing the cause of delay in the transmission. He has recommended that the force be increased to 875 clerks, and that there be 300 clerks of the $600 grade, 200 clerks of the $700 grade, 250 clerks of the $800 grade, and 125 clerks of the $900 grade.

More Clerks for Chicago Postoffice.

Senator Mason was at the Postoffice department today and conferred with the Postmaster General and Superintendent Beaver of the salary and allowance division about the increase at Chicago. Senator Mason strongly urged that the increased allowance be made. As he was leaving the department he said:

"For years I have endeavored to get the Chicago Postoffice on an eight-hour basis and, with the coöperation of the department, have succeeded within a few moments. The increases have been made from time to time, and more will be made, so as to enable the clerks to quit work at the end of the working day as fixed by Congress."

It is certain the department will grant an increase to the Chicago office, as the postal appropriation bill, which will be considered in the Senate tomorrow, contains a largely increased appropriation for clerk hire, and Chicago will, of course, receive a proportion of the extra allowance.

Secretary Root has determined to make a final effort to get the Senate to confirm the nomination of General Crozier as Chief of Ordnance of the army. He has seen some of the Senators who are known to be opposed to the confirmation, and is trying personal persuasion in an effort to convert them to the view of the administration regarding Crozier.

Secretary Root Still Favors General Crozier.

Today Senator Pettus, who is a member of the Military committee, and who voted against Crozier, had a long talk with Mr. Root, and Mr. Proctor has also been seen, and both to the same end, that they will not oppose the confirmation when the matter comes before the Senate, which it is expected to do on Thursday or Friday.

The friends of General Crozier are strong enough to hold off the action on the nomination until the return of the President from the Southern trip, and it may be possible that the Senate will not be able to confirm or reject the nomination until Mr. Roosevelt comes back to Washington. This is with the hope that Mr. Roosevelt's influence on certain Senators will be sufficient to have the Senate disapprove of the recommendation of the committee.

Most of the Senate is not favorably inclined toward Mr. Root. The antagonism manifests itself in many ways, and when the fortification bill reaches the Senate it is probable that it will be the occasion of some spirited discussion, especially in the Appropriations committee, to which the bill will be referred after it has passed the House.

Mr. Root does not conceal his anxiety over the situation, and the War department has realized that he feels offended at the attitude of some of the Senators and members, who have not come to his rescue when he was subjected to attack. The reports of the army transport service were intended for filing, and it was not meant that they should be published.

The War department is considerably embarrassed by the frequent criticism which has been visited upon the administration. The House Committee on Appropriations cut the estimates for fortifications down one-half, largely because of the controversies which have prevailed among the military authorities over types and technical questions, which have served to discourage liberality.

The provision for steel for seacoast guns, for instance, was cut down to less than $50,000, the estimate being nearly a million dollars, while the item for gun carriages, for which arm was estimated $500,000, amounts to but one-half that sum. Under this provision but one twelve-inch gun can be built and only three carriages during the next fiscal year. This will have rather a serious effect on the establishments at Watertown, Mass., and Watervliet, N. Y., where the War department has a carriage shop and a gun factory respectively.

Quite the most unfortunate feature of the difference of opinion between the War department and the Senate is the effect on the prospects of General Crozier. He is recognized all over the world as an expert ordnance office. He was the personal choice of President McKinley, and then President Roosevelt appointed him on his merits.

Senator Cullom today favorably reported from the Foreign Relations committee a resolution authorizing the President to invite the Canadian government to join in the formation of an international commission to investigate and report upon the conditions and use of the waters adjacent to the boundary line between the United States and Canada, including all the waters of the lakes and rivers whose waters flow naturally by the St. Lawrence to the Atlantic Ocean.

Commission to Study the Great Lakes.

This commission, which will consist of three members from each country, will also report on the effect upon the shores of the waters in question and the structures along the shores by reason of the diversion of the water from their natural channels and upon the interests of navigation.

The commission will also report upon the measures necessary to regulate or compensate for the diversions and changes as now authorized or contemplated.

The commission appointed by the President will consist of an army engineer, a civil engineer, well versed in the hydraulics of the great lakes, and one lawyer of experience in international and marine law. The commission is authorized to employ experts and other persons necessary for the performance of the duties imposed by the proposed law. General Gillespie, the Chief of Engineers, submitted a letter to the committee which was adopted as its report. He says:

"The language of the resolution appears to create a permanent commission. This is not considered necessary or desirable. It is believed that, having investigated and reported upon the important hydraulic and riparian questions which have already risen or may be regarded as immediately impending, the commission will have fulfilled its purpose."

From present indications there will be no limitation of debate on the Cuban reciprocity bill, and the talk may run on until the end of next week. There are already on file applications for nearly forty hours of time in the general debate. The policy of the Republican leaders is not to limit the discussion in any way, and especially not to provoke the beet sugar men. The belief that if the debate is allowed to run along without acrimony and without any violent speeches on either side, the House will soon tire itself out, and there will be but little opposition to ordering the previous question.

Cuban Debate Likely to Last All Next Week.

The real test of the fate of the measure will come on the motion to sustain the ruling of the Speaker, who will decide that general tariff amendments are manifestly not germane to the measure under consideration.

Against this ruling of the chair the Democrats generally will vote in opposition, and if they are joined by enough beet sugar Republicans, they might be able to open the doors for a general tariff debate.

The policy of the Republican leaders is, therefore, to let the orators of the House exhaust themselves on general principles.

It is not believed that any considerable number of the beet sugar Republicans will commit themselves to such flagrant party rebellion as to vote to upset a well-considered ruling of the Republican Speaker of the House. This would amount to reading themselves out of the party, and it is scarcely believed that more than eight or ten will carry their opposition to such lengths.

It is also the belief of the House leaders that public sentiment is becoming stronger and stronger every day in favor of Cuban reciprocity, so that every day of debate probably means a loss of one, or two, or three beet sugar votes on the Republican side of the House.

"Under certain conditions I would favor the retirement of the greenbacks," said Representative Burton of Ohio, "but there is no particular reason why the government should be in a great hurry to get rid of them. They are doing no harm, and, so far as I know, there is little or no demand on the part of the people for their retirement. I am not sure about the wisdom of asset currency, and desire to look into this question carefully before I commit myself to such a scheme. I do not look for any legislation on this subject at this session."

Burton of Ohio Says People Favor the Greenback.

Society turned out this afternoon to attend a musical, when Baron von Frankenstein of Vienna, brother to Freiherr von Frankenstein of the Austrian Legation, gave a recital. Lady Pauncefote, Signora Mayor des Planches, wife of the Italian Ambassador; Baroness Hengelmüller, wife of the Austrian Minister; Mrs. Roosevelt-Cowles, Mrs. Leiter, Mrs. Townsend, Mrs. Wadsworth, and other society women were patronesses.

Mrs. Barney entertained a large dinner party tonight. Among the guests were the Belgian Minister and Baroness Moncheur, Señor Riano, Chargé d'Affaires of Spain; Victor Ayguesparsse, attaché of the French Embassy; Representative Moody, the new Secretary of the Navy; Countess Cassini, Mr. and Mrs. May, and Captain Charles McCawley.

A reprint has been ordered of the House River and Harbor bill as it has been perfected by the Senate Committee on Commerce, and a meeting will be held next Saturday to pass upon a measure. As passed by the House the bill carried an appropriation of about $60,000,000. Approximately $10,000,000 has been added to this, and the pork has been distributed almost entirely among the Southern States.

Senate Adds $10,000,000 to River and Harbor Bill.

The explanation of this vast expenditure is there has been no river and harbor bill enacted into law for nearly three years, the last one having been literally talked to death on the last night of the Fifty-sixth Congress by Senator Tom Carter of Montana, who talked against time until morning came and the session ended.

Owing to the more or less successful efforts to pass the pork around evenly it is now hoped that no Senator will attempt to repeat Mr. Carter's great feat.

Mrs. Henderson, wife of the Speaker of the House, has joined her husband at the Normandie after a winter in California. She, with the Speaker, were the guests of Secretary and Mrs. Root at a box party tonight.

Henry Watterson has declined the tender of an appointment as a member of the Board of Visitors to the United States Military Academy. In his letter of declination, which expresses cordial thanks for the compliment paid him by a Republican administration, Colonel Watterson does not give any reason for declining, but he has let the War department officials know privately that his real reason is that he is going to Europe this summer.

Henry Watterson Declines the Appointment.

When he was here recently to make an address before the Virginia Democratic association of Washington, Colonel Watterson was asked if he would accept a place on the board if it were tendered to him by the President. He said then that he thought it would be better to defer a formal tender until after the President had read his speech before the association.

Colonel Watterson said a great many things about the President's strenuousness in his remarks to the Virginia association and was apparently of the belief that when Mr. Roosevelt learned of these he would not be anxious to have the Kentucky editor serve on the Board of Visitors. But the President told Adjutant General Corbin to ask Colonel Watterson to take the place, and it was in response to this tender his note of declination was written.

Ye Corner for Ye Cook.

Baked apples, cream, a plain omelet, bacon, pancakes, and coffee are appetizing for breakfast.

Ham hails may be made with half cupful of bread crumbs mixed with two eggs well beaten, fine bits of cold boiled ham, and the whole mixed and fried.

If you want glazed sweet potatoes boil several medium sized tubers until tender; scrape off the skin, cut in half, put in a baking pan, sprinkle with sugar, pour over a little melted butter and brown.

Doughnuts are not the easiest thing in the world to make. Take two cupfuls of granulated sugar, one-half cupful of lard, one-half cupful of sour cream, one teaspoonful of soda, a pinch of salt, and flour enough to make a soft dough.

An easy way to impart a tang of garlic to salads is to put a clove of garlic in a quart bottle of oil and let it remain there for twenty-four hours. In that time the oil will have absorbed a flavor which is quite strong enough for a delicate taste.

Lemon sherbet with ginger: Boil two cupfuls of water, with one cupful of sugar fifteen minutes. Add half a teaspoonful of gelatine dissolved in two tablespoonfuls of cold water. Strain through cheesecloth, and add half a cupful of and two tablespoonfuls of syrup from a ginger jar when cold. When frozen beat in two tablespoonfuls of preserved ginger, chopped fine.

For a fillet of beef, cut two pounds into round slices half an inch thick and sprinkle with pepper and salt; fry in two ounces of butter seven minutes at the most, and brush over each piece with glaze. Place a border of mashed potatoes on a dish, lay the fillets on it with alternate slices of baked tomato and the fried beef fat. Also have a piece of maître d'hôtel butter on each fillet, and the center with nicely cooked vegetables and some ground a little good beef gravy.

ARCHE CLUB PREPARES FOR BIRTHDAY PARTY

The Arché club is preparing for a birthday party to be given at Grand Boulevard Hall next Thursday evening. Birthdays are always interesting events among the women's clubs, for each of the members is expected to confess her age.

Those who have charge of the Arché club party, however, have arranged to distribute small pouches which will safely conceal the confessions. A coin for each year is to be the form of the confession, and the members are being urged to use greenbacks for denominators to make their burdens lighter. The proceeds will go to the philanthropic work carried on by the club.

Mrs. William C. Foster, who returned recently from Trinity College, Dublin, will assist Mrs. Thomas Banning in entertaining the club. The program is announced in the following birthday rhyme by a member of the club:

Will you come to our next Birthday Party,
April seventeenth at eight p. m.
At Boulevard Hall? All are welcome
Who bring these credentials with them.
Come and drink at the fountain of gladness;
Taste once more the rare dainties of youth;
Fairy godmothers promise attendance,
With reveleries rarer than truth;
Should you wish to play cards—no that's telling;
Music, dancing, and if you but knew!
So bring in a bag full of "shiners"
Our philanthropy fund to renew;
Count the years of your life out in nickels,
Dimes, or quarters, nor scorn to use gold.
You may own to nine summers or ninety—
Do be generous rather than old!
Neglect not your friends nor your neighbor;
Bring one, two, a dozen, or more;
Every coin-bearing friend of the Arché
Cordial welcome shall meet at the door.

REPORTS ON STRIKE BILL

HOUSE RECEIVES THE ANTI-INJUNCTION MEASURE.

Committee on Judiciary, Through Chairman Ray, Analyzes Proposed Law in Which Labor and Railways Are Much Interested—Does Not Sanction Force or Violence, but Permits Agreements in Restraint of Trade if They Are Not Criminal.

Washington, D. C., April 9.—The House Committee on Judiciary, through Chairman Ray, today filed its report on the bill popularly known as the Hoar-Grosvenor anti-injunction and anti-conspiracy bill. The measure has attracted much attention in labor and railroad circles. Mr. Ray's report summarizes its purposes as follows:

"If this bill becomes a law in all labor disputes between employers and employés the following conditions will exist:

"It will not be a crime merely to make a contract, combination, or agreement to do an act which may be in restraint of interstate or foreign commerce, if such act when committed by one person acting alone would not be a crime.

"It will not be a criminal conspiracy for two or more persons merely to contract, combine, or agree to do an act in restraint of interstate or foreign commerce if such acts would not be criminal if actually committed by one person acting alone.

"No injunction or restraining order will lawfully issue based solely on such contract, combination, or agreement.

"It will be a crime for two or more persons to contract, combine, or agree to do any act in restraint of interstate and foreign commerce which is criminal when committed by one person acting alone.

"It will be a criminal conspiracy to contract, combine, or agree to do any act in restraint of interstate and foreign commerce if such act would be criminal when actually committed by one person acting alone.

"Nothing in the law will sanction a resort to force or violence or intimidation by a show of force in aid or furtherance of any trade dispute, or make innocent or non-punishable any act done (aside from the mere making of an agreement or contract), that is otherwise punishable as a crime."

IN DEFENSE OF GENERAL SMITH.

Major Waller's Testimony Refuted by Official Orders Printed by the War Department.

Washington, D. C., April 9.—Major Waller's statement that Brigadier General Smith had ordered him to kill every native of Samar more than 10 years of age is so at variance with the General's known sentiments that the War department today published the following order issued by him to the men of his command:

"Headquarters Sixth Separate Brigade, Taclabon, Leyte, P. I., Feb. 22, 1902.—From the reports received of late from every quarter of the Island of Samar, the brigade commander is constrained to the belief that active opposition to our occupation of the island has crumbled away. There are undoubtedly a considerable number left in the mountains who remain in opposition to us, but their power of resistance has been shattered. We have in the past compelled them to respect our powers in arms; we must in the future compel them to respect our generosity of heart toward a vanquished foe and our purity of purpose in waging war upon their unguided leaders and their followers.

"Henceforth then it must be the labor of our officers and men to assist the loyal natives in repairing the ravages of war. No opportunity should be lost to instruct them that the Americans have come among them, not to take from them any of the good things of life, but rather to give them more and in greater measure than they have ever enjoyed before. But every member of the brigade is enjoined never to lose from sight the fact that he is dealing with a people which through peculiarities of their island topography have developed along lines quite divergent from those traveled by the great majority of their fellow-Filipinos. Our troops must always keep in mind that the standards of the natives of Samar were announced to the world at Balangiga. Watchfulness and kindliness henceforth must go hand in hand.

"And now that the period when our troops must be constantly on the move has, in the judgment of the brigade commander, virtually passed, he takes pleasure in revoking his former order forbidding the residence within the brigade of the families of officers."

WILL REPORT PHILIPPINE BILL.

House Insular Committee, by Direct Party Vote, Rejects Democratic Plan for Republican.

Washington, D. C., April 9.—By a strict party vote the Insular committee of the House today voted down a substitute proposed by the Democratic members, "to establish a stable and autonomous government in the Philippines," and then by a like party vote ordered a favorable report on the measure prepared by the Republican members establishing a complete form of civil government for the islands. Mr. Cooper will make the report tomorrow and will seek soon thereafter to bring the measure before the House. The chief interest today was in the substitute proposed by the Democratic members and prepared by Representative Jones of Virginia. It proposed eventual independence to the Philippines, the islands to remain under the Philippine commission until July 4, 1908, then eight years of qualified independence, then complete independence, the insurrection meanwhile to cease. The United States to have three coaling stations and two naval stations. There were twenty-six sections in the substitute.

CAMPAIGN OFFICERS CHOSEN.

Republican Congressional Committee Holds Meeting and Prepares for Year's Work.

Representative Babcock of Wisconsin, chairman.
Representative Sherman of New York, vice chairman.

Colonel W. B. Thompson, Washington, treasurer.

The chairman was authorized to appoint an Executive committee of nine members and to fill any vacancy existing in the membership of the committee

SEE DANGER IN CUBAN BILL

WESTERN CONGRESSMEN OPPOSE CUT IN SUGAR TAX.

William Alden Smith of Michigan Attacks the Reciprocity Measure and Declares That It Is an Attack on the Republican Doctrine of Protection—Says Farmers of the West Who Are Trying to Establish Beet Sugar Factories Are Unfairly Dealt With.

Washington, D. C., April 9.—The feature of the second day's debate in the House on the Cuban reciprocity bill was an impassioned speech in opposition to the measure by William A. Smith, a Michigan Republican. He assailed the Republican leaders who were advocating the bill, boldly charging them with being false to the Republican doctrine of protection. He announced that he was willing to vote to overrule the chair in order to support an amendment to take the differential off refined sugar. Mr. Morris of Minnesota, another Republican who made a strong speech against the bill, also made a similar announcement.

Mr. Smith presented the question from the viewpoint of the Republicans who have opposed Cuban reciprocity on account of the beet sugar interests. He said, in the beginning:

I am opposed to this measure because I believe it is calculated to breed strife and dissatisfaction with the other sugar countries of the world which are thus discriminated against. I believe it will have a tendency to provoke commercial hostility among the other West India Islands and our neighbors in South America. I am opposed to this measure because, in order to give it effect, it becomes necessary to violate a solemn promise of the Republican party deliberately made in solemn convention to the American people; because I believe it will be harmful to the agricultural and industrial classes of the United States, whose great interests have been confided to our care, because I believe it will be harmful in the extreme to the Island of Cuba; because I believe that the principal beneficiary will be the American Sugar Refining company, who do not need our sympathy.

Appeals for the Farmers.

Mr. Smith then entered upon a discussion of the policy of protection, which had resulted in the upbuilding of American industries, with especial reference to the establishment of the beet sugar industry as a rival of the sugar trust. He continued:

The farmers of the country have been encouraged by the Republican party in their ambition to produce the sugar of the country. It was a distinct promise to the farmer that he need not fear that the Republican party would permit the cheap labor and cheap sugar of any tropical territory to be brought in in a manner which would destroy the infant industry of the beet sugar production which the farmers of the United States have under the fostering care of the Republican party been building up during the last few years.

Great Future for Sugar Beets.

He then quoted Mr. Payne, Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio, and Mr. Steele of Indiana, predicting a great future for the beet sugar industry if the tariff was not disturbed, and added:

The great States of Michigan, California, New York, Colorado, Utah, Oregon, and Montana took these distinguished statesmen at their word; had faith in the promise of our party declaration; abandoned the cultivation of wheat and corn, developing a new industry, thus encouraged. I know it is claimed that this cut of 20 per cent will do our present factories no harm; but when the Dingley law was passed and you invited us to engage in this business you did not say that you would even agitate a change in the tariff, much less reduce it by 20 per cent.

Repeatedly during the delivery of Mr. Smith's remarks his Republican supporters on the floor applauded him. A number of Michigan beet sugar manufacturers in the galleries joined in the demonstration of approval. When he concluded with an eloquent peroration in eulogy of the policy of protection the whole Republican side burst into applause.

Another Voice from Minnesota.

Mr. Morris [Minn.], another of the Republicans opposed to the bill, and the author of the rebate plan of relieving Cuba, which was rejected by the Republican caucus, made an exhaustive argument against the measure. He cited the evidence of witnesses before the committee, whom he described as "disinterested," to show that the cost of producing sugar in Cuba had been exaggerated; that instead of being two cents a pound it was one and a half cents, and that therefore at the present price in Havana the Cubans would receive a profit of .31 cent per pound. He further argued that there was no moral obligation upon the United States to make the proposed concession. No country had done more for another than the United States had done for Cuba.

If more was necessary, Mr. Morris said, he was willing to go further and relieve Cuba by the rebate plan, which, he declared, was the only method by which the relief would reach those for whom it was intended. He read the report of the Ways and Means committee against the proposition for free sugar from Porto Rico, which said the sugar trust would receive the entire benefit of the removal of the duty. The report had been prepared by Mr. Grosvenor, but all the Republican members of the committee had subscribed to it. If the statements were true then, they were true now as to Cuba. He continued:

We are not here to make laws for the benefit of soldiers of fortune who go to Cuba instead of home, and of such buccaneers as Mr. Havemeyer, the head of the sugar trust. But, gentlemen [turning to his Republican colleagues], if you are determined to do this thing, if you insist upon giving the sugar trust a present of two and a half millions, let us give the sugar trust a dose of its own medicine. Let us force the trust to drink of the cup which it commends to others. Let us take the differential off refined sugar, under which the trust has grown strong and powerful.

Asks Democrats for Help.

He called on the Democrats to stand with the Republicans and "hit" the sugar trust and "hit it hard." The Democrats cried out that they would join with the Republicans and applauded vigorously.

Mr. Mondell [Wyo.] followed with a set speech in favor of the bill. He argued that conditions in Cuba made it necessary that the relief contained in this bill should be granted if the new Cuban republic was to be inaugurated with any hope of success. Free Cuba to be successful must be prosperous. Industrial disaster there would mean chaos, chaos would mean intervention, and intervention would mean annexation. As a friend of the beet sugar industry who desired to put off the day of annexation he said he would support the pending bill.

Mr. Ball [Tex.] opposed the bill. He contended that it would afford no relief to Cuba. The bill was a Republican measure, and being such he was ready to assume the responsibility of taking his stand with the Democrats of Louisiana in opposition to it rather than with the Republicans of Pennsylvania in favor of it. He denied that the bill was in line with Democratic doctrine, because it was admitted that it would not result in reducing the price of sugar to the American consumer. Its sole beneficiary, he argued, would be the sugar trust.

He called attention to the section of the bill which required that Cuba should agree perpetually to protect the United States to the extent of 20 per cent of her tariff as against other countries, and declared that that section alone made it absolutely indefensible from a Democratic standpoint.

DEBATE ON THE CHINESE BILL.

Senators from New Hampshire and Vermont Oppose the Pending Measure as Being Unnecesary.

Washington, D. C., April 9.—Throughout today's session of the Senate the Chinese exclusion bill was under consideration. Mr. Gallinger of New Hampshire and Mr. Dillingham of Vermont opposed the bill, and Mr. Turner of Washington supported it. Mr. Gallinger urged that the pending bill was unnecessary, unjust, and un-American, and was clearly in contravention of our treaty obligations with China.

In an extended address Mr. Turner appealed to the Senate to pass the proposed bill, not merely for the protection of the people of the Pacific States but to prevent the entire body politic from being contaminated by the Chinese.

Mr. Dillingham advocated the reënactment of the present Geary law. He declared that representatives of the Pacific States had expressed themselves as perfectly satisfied with the operation of the existing law, and there was no proper reason for a change, particularly as the change would involve great trouble and expense.

BLOCKI DEMANDS A "LOST STREET."

He May Use Force on the American Hide and Leather Company Today.

MUST VACATE AT ONCE

CITY COAL UNDER GRADE.

A combined force of policemen and Deputy Sheriffs may start out today to reclaim one of Chicago's "lost streets." If the move is decided on by Commissioner of Public Works Blocki, an attack will be directed against the big building of the American Hide and Leather company, which occupies part of Dix street.

Acting Mayor Walker, following up the decision of the Supreme Court in the Elsendrath case, has taken out a writ of assistance, a legal weapon rarely used, directed to the Sheriff, and commanding him to aid the city officials to regain possession of the public street.

The leather company's building, made partly of brick, covers a big area belonging to the city, according to the court. There also are other concerns occupying Dix street, which is a short thoroughfare near the river, south of Chicago avenue, and near the Chicago and Northwestern railway tracks. The value of the ground withheld is said to be more than $250,000.

"The Paepcke Lumber company is the neighbor of the leather company, and refuses to allow the city to rent the street to the leather company," said Mr. Blocki last night. "As the Paepcke interests own land abutting on the street their protests must govern, and the Hide and Leather company building has to go. I cannot afford to grant any delay. The company wants time to get into other quarters, but I do not see how I can allow it to keep on using a public street."

"It is up to Commissioner Blocki," Acting Mayor Walker said. "The company has no right at all to the street, and other people who have been expelled refuse to stand by and see the leather company remain there."

City's Coal Under Grade.

Trouble arose yesterday over the character of the coal the Dearborn Coal company has been delivering to the city. This is the company which Charles Martin, recently defeated for reëlection as Alderman, is supposed to be interested in. At the time the bids were opened the charge was made that the Alderman's connection with the company helped secure the contract.

According to the story told by Commissioner Blocki yesterday, Manager Callahan of the company explained to him some time ago that on account of difficulty in getting cars it would be impossible just then to deliver the Maryland smokeless coal, as per contract. He asked permission to substitute another coal, which he said was "just as good," until the necessary transportation for the Maryland coal could be secured.

This permission was granted and about sixty tons delivered, but a test showed the substitute was not as good as the contract coal, and Mr. Callahan was told yesterday that unless he delivers what his contract calls for it would be annulled.

Would Modify Merit Law.

The bridewell inspectors say they will ask the next Legislature to so amend the civil service law as to authorize them to discharge guards at the prison at will and without trial. They say that at present it is impossible to get evidence of brutality on the part of guards, as the prisoners are afraid to testify against them. The proposed change of system will be fought by the Civil Service league on the ground that it is the entering wedge for the repeal of the law. The matter came up in connection with an investigation started yesterday into charges of cruelty by guards.

Money For Election Judges.

The 11,000 election judges and clerks who served at the spring election of 1901 will be paid today at the Controller's office. It will take $133,000 to meet the pay roll.

Blocki Praises Mrs. Paul.

Commissioner Blocki denies emphatically there has been any complaint entered against Mrs. Paul for her work as superintendent of the Nineteenth Ward. "She is hard at work," said he, "and promises to make the ward clean, something no one else ever has done."

Smoke Offenders Fined.

Fines for violation of the smoke ordinance were imposed by Justice Gibbons as follows: Safety Vault company, 85 Dearborn street, $25; Burky & Milan, 162 Clark street, $5; Rose & Quinlan company, Chicago avenue and Wells street, $5.

WOMEN REPLY TO SECRETARY.

Baggage Inspection Committee Makes Further Suggestions Regarding Reform.

Washington, D. C., April 9.—The special committee of women on baggage inspection reform at United States ports, consisting of Elizabeth C. Hobson, Mary Guynn, and Mabel F. Boardman, have sent to Secretary Shaw an open letter in reply to that recently made public by him regarding such inspections.

In this letter they call attention to one of the committee's representations which they claim the Secretary has overlooked—viz.: the importance of having an officer on the docks where passengers may be able to obtain money for payment of duties on showing their letters of credit or giving satisfactory proof of their accountability.

The committee takes exception to the remark in the Secretary's circular that relatively few people save Americans travel. They call attention to the numerous passenger steamers daily crossing the English Channel, and to the crowded railway trains passing all the frontiers of Europe and containing so many travelers that the 150,000 who sail annually from our shores are a mere fraction. They declare the delay at the foreign custom-houses is almost unnoticed, and the traveler rarely has anything of which to complain.

Des Moines, Ia., April 9.—The Supreme Court this morning ordered a new trial in the Hossack murder case. The defendant, Margaret Hossack, is serving a life sentence for the alleged murder of her husband. His head was split open with an ax two years ago while he was asleep beside his wife. She claimed the crime was committed by burglars.

INDIGENT DEFENDANTS GET ABLE ATTORNEYS.

Judge Kavanagh Appoints Prominent Lawyers as Counsel for Those Who Have No Money for Pay of Counsel.

John M. Harlan was appointed by Judge Kavanagh yesterday to defend Andrew Rogers against an indictment for larceny. Rogers made oath that he had no money with which to employ counsel, and the court appointed Mr. Harlan as attorney for the prisoner. The ethics of his profession, as well as his oath as an attorney, compel Mr. Harlan to accept the appointment.

Judge Kavanagh imposed a similar duty on several other prominent lawyers.

John Barton Payne was among those named. Ernest McGaffey, member of the Board of Public Improvements, was chosen to defend John Woods, who was indicted on a charge of burglary. Anthony O'Malley, who was indicted on a charge of assault growing out of a brawl, will be defended by Arthur J. Eddy. F. H. Scott, of Hamline, Scott & Lord, was appointed to defend James Ward, who is under indictment on a charge of robbery. F. R. Babcock was named to defend Mary Wodaczsyk, who was indicted on a charge of larceny.

Judge Kavanagh believes that an indigent defendant is as much entitled to able counsel as a wealthy defendant. He also believes that attorneys who practice altogether in the civil courts ought to give some of their time to criminal work.

GOLDEN JUBILEE OF PHYSICIANS.

ITS FOUNDER IS PRESENT.

Dr. N. S. Davis Tells of Early Days of the Organization and Its Members.

CHAIR DRAPED FOR FENGER.

Fifty years of medical practice in Chicago were reviewed by the speakers at the banquet of the Chicago Medical society at the Auditorium last evening, celebrating the semi-centennial of the organization. Dr. N. S. Davis, who founded the society in 1852, came for the speechmaking and warned physicians against attempting too many things in their practice.

"I have heard of doctors in Chicago who are attached to so many hospitals that it seemed to me that if they visited each one during the week they would accomplish nothing else," he said. "We, like the men in many other professions, are prone to attempt too much. A man should occupy the field he intends to cultivate and work it well, but he must not try to cultivate the earth."

Chair Draped for Dr. Fenger.

The chair at the center of the speaker's table, which would have been occupied by the late Dr. Christian Fenger, who was President of the society, was left empty and draped in black. Dr. Frank Billings gave an eloquent tribute to Dr. Fenger, and at his request the audience drank a silent toast to the memory of the departed member.

Dr. Alexander Hugh Ferguson, Vice President of the society, acted as toastmaster.

The proceedings took on the nature of a tribute to Dr. Davis. Every speaker directed a number of compliments to where he sat, half hidden behind a vase of flowers, and when he arose to speak the applause lasted for several minutes. The 300 banqueters drank his health standing, when he concluded his remarks.

"My work is nearly over," said the aged physician, "and I find that I can do only a little every day and then rest in my comfortable home, and wait for the end to come. I am happy that I have lived so long and have seen the growth of this society from its small beginning to the 1,100 members it now has. I cannot attend your night meetings, but I can sometimes break over the rules, as I did tonight, for the pleasure of seeing you again. I thank you for your cordial reception and hope to see you all many times."

Warring Factions of Doctors.

Dr. Davis had told of the start of the society, and the different crises through which it had passed. To show the way in which physicians were divided into warring factions when the city was young, he related the story of a man whose leg had been nearly torn off in a street accident. Several doctors of one clique had made preparations to hold the operation where the accident happened, when another faction arrived and succeeded in driving the first lot away from the patient. One physician of the time, he said, kept up his reputation with "thunder and lightning" pills.

Urges Better Organization.

Dr. J. T. McAnally, President of the State Medical society, spoke on "Organization of the Medical Profession." He said the time has come when the medical societies must enlarge their scope.

"Medical men are coming to believe that the scope of our societies is too narrow," he said. "We cannot longer ignore material and social interests of the members if we are to keep a compact organization. The matters of uniform fee bill, dead beat practice, offenders against the medical statutes, and other things can be taken up through the societies."

Dr. I. N. Danforth, one of the older members, gave a number of reminiscences of the early days of the society and the different methods of practice then in vogue. The medical paper of the evening was on typhoid fever and was read by Professor V. C. Vaughan of the University of Michigan.

LABOR CONDITIONS NOT BAD.

Editor of Bradstreet's Finds Many Points Indicating a Better General Situation.

New York, April 9.—Dealing with the strike situation as it exists today, the editor of Bradstreet's says that the present appearance of unrest in several industrial lines is due to the natural desire of the workers to obtain a larger share of the prosperity. The strikes of 1886 and 1887, when 400,000 men went out, are recalled and the fact presented that there are now 1,500,000 more industrial workers employed than there were then, with far less friction in proportion.

Talk Over Coal Strikes.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 9.—[Special.]—The National Executive board of the United Mine Workers of America, which is meeting here, indorsed the local strike in Michigan, the Hopkins County strike in Kentucky, and considered the situations now existing in Indiana and West Virginia.

The anthracite situation was left for tomorrow's deliberation. It is impossible to forecast what the result of the conference will be. That the miners are determined to stand by their rights as they see them and back the anthracite men in their demands is not to be doubted, however.

Larger Vessel for Lincoln Park Line.

The steamer Post Boy, which was operated by the Graham & Morton line last summer between its docks at State street and Lincoln Park, has been sold to the Macatawa Park company for $6,000 and will be taken to Holland, Mich. A larger boat will be put in the Lincoln Park service.

Ye Spring Gardener's Corner.

A diagram of the garden will work wonders toward its eventual beauty. In no other way can mistakes and disappointments be so successfully minimized.

"Quality rather than quantity" is a safe rule for amateur gardeners. Choose a few really good plants for the coming summer, and concentrate your best efforts on them.

Know the plants as you would people if you would have them respond fully. Find out their habits, their likes and dislikes. The study is one of unfailing pleasure, and it pays rich interest in perpetual bloom.

Plan for a selection which will provide blossoms all season. Most annuals are at their best during June, July, and early August. Cosmos, asters, ten-week-stock, pansies, and Marguerite carnations will bloom until frost.

When the bulbs have finished blooming place weak ones in a retired corner and feed well all summer. Next season they will surprise you with renewed strength and beauty, but some new ones should be purchased every year.

For large groups and tropical effects invest in Rudbeckia, hollyhocks, cannas, Caladiums, dahlias, Delphinium, and Ricinus. The winter house plants will help out the foliage corner, and will gather renewed strength and energy at the same time.

Do not despair of any empty lot or garden, no matter how bleak and discouraging it may appear. Dig up, rake thoroughly, apply fertilizer in liberal quantities, and expect the best. Portulaca, geraniums, and nasturtiums can be depended upon in almost every case.

For bright color use petunias, poppies, phlox, eschscholtzia, and nasturtiums. For climbers, nasturtiums again, flowering beans, morning glories, Japan hop, and wild cucumber. For edging, sweet alyssum, candytuft, and lobelia. For low beds, verbenas, portulaca, and Gaillardia.

In making a rockery, begin with a foundation of small stones, broken bricks, or similar material. Build in circular fashion against a wall or corner, finishing with large rocks. Fill crevices with good soil and fertilizer as you build, and supply seeds [illegible] after moistening thoroughly with fine

THE CIRCUS HAS COME TO TOWN.

With forty clowns "on the pay roll" the circus came to town last night—forty clowns, sworn to and attested by Ringling Bros. There were times when it seemed to rain clowns from the Coliseum roof. There were enough of the merrymakers to stock twenty of the old time "greatest shows on earth." The situation was about as near the millennium as the average small boy ever gets.

Only one traditional feature was omitted when the Ringling show opened its season for 1902 yesterday. That was the parade. The circus management did not care to risk the elephants on the streets, it was said. After four months of stable life it was feared that Venus and Gypsie, and the rest might get the "rum-dums"—that's what the circus man called it—if they saw a Wabash avenue cable car. A congestion of elephants and Wabash avenue cable cars was too awful to contemplate.

But otherwise, except for the odor of old canvas, it was the regulation circus opening, with all the time honored features and a score of novelties. It was all there, three rings and two elevated stages, which is one better than the traditional.

"Display No. 1" was all that the press agent had promised, and the press agent had promised a good deal. Here is the word picture he painted:

"Display No. 1—Brilliant Introductory Pageant Representing the Inaugural Ceremonies of the Grand Fêtes of Ancient Rome—A Kaleidoscopic Panorama of Regal Magnificence, Completely Filling All the Rings, Stages, and Immense Hippodrome Course, Concluding with a Unique Equine Ballet—A Beautiful, Moving Scene of Color, Grace, and Art."

There were trained seals as expert with their noses as a Japanese juggler is with his fingers, performing bears that gave imitations of wounded grizzlies trying to escape and then dying, horses that could do the cake walk, and Oriental dancers who squirmed around as if they were in pain. There were "incomprehensible high-air divertissements," "astonishing evolutions," and "peerless exhibitions of miraculous accomplishments."

The Fortune brothers appeared in what should be called an "acrobatic rough house," but the program says it is the "absolutely first appearance of Europe's most famous horizontal bar champions in an entirely new comic conceit." They say—meaning the circus people—that they have to work shifts of men on this "rough house" act—that a man can only stand one night a week of it.

It was the biggest opening the show has had, according to the proprietors. The menagerie has been installed on the two floors of the Coliseum Annex, in the midst of a palm garden, which is another new idea in the circus business.

Truly it was a big circus and a big crowd.

BATTLE ON AT HIGHWOOD

THREE ARRESTS IN STRUGGLE OVER TOWN PRESIDENCY.

Other Followers of W. F. Hogan Are Threatened with Warrants, the Adherents of Michael Gibbs Charging Wholesale Fraud—Struggle Declared to Outdo That in the First Ward—"Czar" Tries to Capture All the Halls—Both Sides Have Money.

Three men have been arrested and it is asserted that warrants will be sworn out for a dozen more this week for alleged illegal voting in the recent election in East Deerfield Township, Lake County. The men against whom charges have been made are all supporters of William F. Hogan, the "Czar of Highwood," who is a candidate for reëlection to the Presidency of the Village board.

The charges were preferred by supporters of Mike Gibbs, opposition candidate, and are incidents in a Mayoralty campaign which has stirred the north shore from Highland Park to Lake Forest. The Deerfield poolroom is the issue in the campaign, and the fight is so bitter that members of one camp refuse to speak to their political antagonists.

"Talk about the fight on 'Bathhouse John,'" said Charles Gordon, one of Gibbs' lieutenants, yesterday; "it isn't in it for a minute with this Highwood game. We make the First Ward look like 30 cents, Mex."

Outdoes First Ward Struggle.

William F. Hogan has been Mayor of Highwood for eight years and wants the office again. The village election will be held next Tuesday. He is also Assistant Supervisor of East Deerfield Township, having been reëlected at the township election on April 1. It was at this election that the alleged illegal voting is said to have been done. The men upon whom warrants have been served are E. L. Des Jardens, cashier of the Chicago and Milwaukee Electric railway; E. A. Welsh, a saloonkeeper at Highwood; and Byron H. Stevens.

Des Jardens and Stevens, it is alleged, voted at Highwood while living at Highland Park, and Welsh voted at Highwood while living at Lake Forest. Members of the Gibbs party say that ten other men are on their list and will be prosecuted before election day. These men say that they acted on the advice of State's Attorney Talcott of Lake County in voting at Highwood.

Tries to "Corner" All Halls.

There are about 230 voters in the village and it is admitted on both sides that the majority either way will not be large. The Hogan party claims that the Gibbs faction is trying to intimidate voters who are supporting the "Czar," in an endeavor to win at any cost. Members of the Gibbs party declare that Hogan not only refused to allow them to meet in the village hall, but tried to lease all other halls in the village to deprive them of a meeting place. A hall was found, however, and both parties are holding meetings nightly.

The Lake County Citizens' association, which was organized three months ago to fight the Deerfield poolroom, is supporting Gibbs, and, it is said, is sending money to Highwood from both Highland Park and Lake Forest to further his candidacy. There is no lack of Hogan money, either, and the politicians spent it with a lavish hand yesterday.

STOPS WOMAN FROM SUICIDE.

Policeman Tuey Prevents Mrs. Fannie Passmore from Ending Life in Lake Michigan.

Because she had been excluded from the homes of her husband and her parents, Mrs. Fannie Passmore, 19 years old, sought the lake last night, intending, it is said, to end the lives of herself and infant. She was prevented from accomplishing her alleged intent by Policeman Tuey of the Central Detail Police Station, who stopped the woman at Michigan avenue and Adams street and took her and the child to the Harrison street annex.

Mrs. John McFarland, 91 years old, was ejected by constables last night from the house at 5128 La Salle street, in which she has lived twenty-five years. Her household goods were thrown into an alley in the rear of her former home. Neighbors notified the police, and Lieutenant Clancy had the aged woman taken to the Stock-Yards Police Station for shelter.

CHOCTAW RAILROAD IS SOLD.

Speyer & Co. Purchase System, Paying $80 for Common and $60 for Preferred.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 9.—Announcement was made today by Edward B. Smith & Co., bankers, that the Choctaw, Oklahoma and Gulf railroad company has been sold to Speyer & Co., bankers of New York. The announcement says the price paid was $80 for the common and $60 for the preferred, both ex-April dividend. The purchasers agree to take at the same price all stock offered.

It was not officially announced for whom Speyer & Co. is acting. Mr. Smith intimated the sale would bring over $21,000,000 to this city, where most of the stock is held.

Francis I. Gowan, President of Choctaw, tonight said the transfer would mean a revolution in the management of the road.

The stock issue of Choctaw amounts to 176,000 shares of common, par value, $8,800,000, and 120,000 shares of preferred, par value $6,000,000.

Carter of Montana, chairman of the National Louisiana Purchase commission, who is now here, said today that if the work of construction necessary to make the exposition a success can be built in time the fair will be opened, but if it appears that this cannot be done the directors will set the date back another year.

QUIT WORK ON NEW ADDITION TO AUDITORIUM ANNEX.

Demand That Pay Be Increased Five Cents an Hour, Which Is Refused—Action Taken to Indicate Course to Be Pursued by Employes on Other Large Buildings—Four Hundred and Fifty Men at Rock Island Depot Walk Out.

The first strike of the bricklayers in enforcement of their demand for 55 cents an hour took place yesterday. Thirty men employed on the new addition to the Auditorium Annex asked for an increase of five cents an hour, and when it was refused they packed up their tools and quit.

The officers of the union declined to recognize the strike. The men struck as individuals—not as members of the union. By doing so they technically avoided breaking the agreement made by the union last year that there would be no strikes so long as the contractors paid the union wages and employed union men.

"The men will have to adjust their differences themselves," said Secretary Smith of the Bricklayers' union. "We have nothing to do with the strike and will pay no attention to it."

Foreshadows Larger Strike.

The strike indicates the course the bricklayers will follow pending action on the proposition to strike in two weeks. It is held they will quietly leave their work and tie up buildings all over the city. They base much of their hope for success on the fact there is such a demand for bricklayers all over the country that it will be impossible for local contractors to fill the positions of their former employés.

The bricklayers were the first to break away from the old Building Trades council in 1900, and other labor bodies, it is declared, would enjoy nothing better than to see them compelled to make a hard fight. The union is not affiliated with the Chicago Federation of Labor or with the Board of Business Agents, which has charge of the building trades.

Strike on Rock Island Depot.

About 450 building laborers struck yesterday on the new Rock Island Depot. They demanded an increase in wages from 25 to 28 cents an hour, and Grace & Hyde, the contractors, denied it. The men insist they have been deceived by some one, as they were given to believe that a new agreement, granting 28 cents, had been signed, becoming effective on April 1. They learned later that the agreement does not go into effect until June 1. The contractors were given just three minutes to decide whether they grant the demand.

The strike of the laborers tied up the building. The carpenters were laid off because there was nothing for them to do. The contractors later opened communication with the carpenters to see if they would work with non-union laborers, and were informed that the carpenters as a body would take no official action, but the union could not be responsible for the actions of the workmen individually.

Convicted Under Label Law.

President G. W. Perkins of the International Union of Cigarmakers received word yesterday that Albert Goldman of Rochester, N. Y., had been convicted in New York City of selling counterfeit label goods. Goldman received a sixty-day sentence, the first prison sentence ever inflicted on a counterfeiter or handler of counterfeit label goods.

Conkey Shortens the Day.

The W. B. Conkey company of Hammond, Ind., has granted its employés a nine-hour day, with the same wages they were receiving for ten hours' work. The change was made after Mr. Conkey had investigated wage scales and the number of hours constituting a day in the principal plants in Indiana.

Drug Clerks to Surrender Charter.

The Executive committee of the Retail Drug Clerks' union met at the Great Northern Hotel yesterday and decided to surrender the State charter and to continue the organization as a society instead. This was found necessary on account of the trouble the drug clerks have been having with S. T. Hart, former Secretary of the association.

TWO METAL POLISHERS SHOT.

Strangers Attack Charles Kinnear and Companion, Wounding Him and Lars Hanson, Who Is Passing.

Two men, whose names are unknown to the police, attacked Charles Kinnear and John Sellberg, metal polishers employed at the Stromberg-Carlson manufactory, as they were going home from work last evening. The attack was made on the Jackson boulevard viaduct, just east of Canal street, as Kinnear and Sellberg were in the act of passing the two strangers. One of them struck Kinnear with a "billy," missing him, and the other fired two shots from a revolver, one of which inflicted a flesh wound in Kinnear's left side. There was a brief struggle between the four men, which ended in the escape of the strangers. Kinnear was taken to the County Hospital for surgical treatment and then removed to his residence at 56 Tell court. Sellberg disappeared after he had seen Kinnear cared for by the police.

Scarcely five minutes after this fight, the Desplaines street police were notified that Lars Hanson, another metal polisher, who lives in Evanston, had been shot in the right side, and that the shooting took place at the same place on the Jackson boulevard viaduct. He told the police that he had been accidentally wounded, and it is supposed that one of the two shots fired at Kinnear struck Hanson. He was able to go home unattended.

It is the theory of the police that labor troubles are behind the shooting. There has been a strike among the metal polishers at the Stromberg-Carlson company's plant, 72 Jackson boulevard, and considerable bad feeling is said to prevail.

Mystery in School Building Fire.

Mystery surrounds the origin of a fire which destroyed the Drexel schoolhouse, Sixty-fifth street and Oakley avenue, yesterday morning. The police are endeavoring to discover a clew of the origin of the blaze, but as no one was in the building at the time their efforts have proved fruitless. It was a two-story frame structure. The loss is estimated by the Board of Education as $7,000.

SOUTHERN BUYS L. AND N.

BIG RAILROAD DEAL RUMORED IN WALL STREET.

System Controlled by Morgan Said to Have Purchased Majority of Stock in Rival Line—Heavy Trading in Two Issues Points to Some Such Development, but All Concerned Refuse Either to Confirm or Deny the Story.

New York, April 9.—[Special.]—It was reported in Wall street today that the Southern railway company had acquired control of the Louisville and Nashville railroad company by purchase of the stock of the latter company in the open market and by private sale. Neither confirmation nor denial of the report is forthcoming, but the story is regarded as not improbable in view of the recent purchase of the Atlanta, Knoxville, and Northern, and the possibility of the acquisition of the Evansville and Terre Haute and Chicago and Eastern Illinois, which would give the Louisville and Nashville a straight line into Chicago.

Heavy Buying of Stocks.

This belief was also increased by the enormous buying of Louisville and Nashville stock in the last few days, the transactions today and yesterday amounting fully one-half of the entire capital issue of the company. Coincidently remarkable activity and strength have developed in the Southern Railway shares.

J. P. Morgan & Co., the controlling interest in the Southern Railyway; August Belmont, chairman of the board of Louisville and Nashville; President Spencer of the Southern Railway; and Charles Gates, John W. Gates' son, speaking for his father, all denied knowing anything of such a deal.

The theory of the purchase by Southern Railway found many believers in Wall street on the theory that "the ticker tells the tale."

Indications of Deal.

It is pointed out that the Louisville and Nashville has been extending into the Southern railway's territory and that therefore the only way to prevent this would be for the Southern to obtain, if not actual control, at least influential representation in the Louisville and Nashville's directorate. A special meeting of the Southern Railway company has been called for several weeks hence, and that one of the purposes of this meeting is to increase the number of the company's directors. It is suggested that this may be to give representation to interests identified with the Louisville and Nashville.

In other quarters the movement both in Louisville and Nashville and in Southern Railway is ascribed solely to John W. Gates and his friends as a speculative venture; in other quarters it is declared to be for control by the Moore brothers; while in still others it is said that some prominent insiders have been caught short of their own stock, much as in the case of Northern Pacific.

L. AND N. MAY BUY TWO ROADS.

Report in Chicago Differs from That Sent Out from the East.

The information in Chicago regarding the Louisville and Nashville is different from that in the East. Prominent railroad officials here believe that the Louisville and Nashville road will soon acquire control of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois and Evansville and Terre Haute railroads, thus securing an independent outlet to Chicago. The issue of $15,000,000 stock recently authorized by the directors of this road is taken as an indication that something of an important nature is contemplated. Insiders who evidently know what is going on are said to be responsible for the large advance in Louisville and Nashville stock during the last few days by divulging the secret to others.

The deal, it is said, would have been consummated before now but for the financial complications in the Evansville and Terre Haute. Strong efforts are being made to adjust this trouble and thus remove the main obstacle in the way of the sale of the road. E. C. Hooley of New York, the new President of the Evansville and Terre Haute; President Carpenter of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, and other prominent officials of the two roads have just returned to this city from Evansville, where they made a thorough investigation of the Evansville and Terre Haute's affairs. None of them was willing to make a statement regarding the matter, and Mr. Hooley and others who were with him left for New York last evening. It is an open secret that the Louisville and Nashville a short time ago tried to get the Chicago and Eastern Illinois at 160 a share, but H. H. Porter, who holds a majority of the stock, refused to sell at that figure. President Smith of the Louisville and Nashville has not been anxious enough to get north of the Ohio River to pay the price demanded by Mr. Porter, but conditions have so changed lately as to make the extension of the Louisville and Nashville to Chicago necessary. The Southern railway is controlled by J. P. Morgan, and the latter, together with General Thomas, controls the Monon road. It is quite certain that the latter will be made a part of the Southern railway system before long, and Mr. Morgan, it is said, would like to get control of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois also, so as to keep the Louisville and Nashville out of this territory.

Rock Island to Extend Line.

The statement recently made that the Rock Island had decided to extend its line to the gulf coast has been confirmed by the formal filing of an amendment to the charter of the Chicago, Rock Island and Texas railway company, its Texas corporation, providing for the proposed extension. The route named is from Fort Worth, passing through Dallas, Corsicana, Centerville, Madisonville, and Houston. The distance is about 205 miles. It is stated that the work of construction will begin as soon as the survey can be made, and that the road is to be completed within twelve months.

Agree on Line Rate Reduction.

Traffic officials of the Western roads, at a meeting held in the Great Northern Building yesterday, agreed to make the live rates from all Missouri River points to Chicago, both through and local, 18½ cents per 100 pounds. This is a reduction of five cents and was made to offset the reduction of five cents made a few months ago in rates on packing-house products, the Interstate Commerce commission having ruled that the manufactured article must not pay a higher rate than the raw material, which applies to live stock and packing-house products.

The Central Passenger association held its regular monthly meeting in the Monadnock Building yesterday. A proposition to sell summer excursion rates to Eastern resorts to offset the cheap excursion rates made by the Colorado lines was the principal subject under consideration. Strenuous opposition is made by some of the lines to the making of such cheap rates to any other resort than Niagara Falls. The Pennsylvania insists on including Atlantic City. If Atlantic City is included, all roads will make correspondingly low rates during the summer to such resorts as can be reached by their lines. The trunk lines will have to be consulted, and they may upset whatever action the Central Passenger association roads may take, as far as cheap rates to points east of Buffalo and Niagara Falls are concerned.

Will Incorporate New Line.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railway company is about to incorporate the Billings and Northern railroad. The object is to build a line from Billings to Great Falls and connect with the Great Northern. It is said to be the plan to get around the litigation and Northern Securities.

Barge Dragged Over the Tunnel.

After a delay of more than a day four tugs last night succeeded in dragging the big barge Granada over the Washington street tunnel. Part of the cargo had to be shifted to put the vessel on an even keel, it having been found that its bow had been loaded too deeply.

"The Tribune" will move into its new building May 1, 1902.

I Will Cure You of RHEUMATISM

No Pay Until You Know It.

After 2,000 experiments, I have learned how to cure Rheumatism. Not to turn bony joints into flesh again; that is impossible. But I can cure the disease always, at any stage, and forever.

I ask for no money. Simply write me a postal and I will send you an order on your nearest druggist for six botttles of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure, for every druggist keeps it. Use it for a month, and if it does what I claim pay your druggist $5.50 for it. If it doesn't, I will pay him myself.

I have no samples. Any medicine that can affect Rheumatism with but a few doses must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs. It is folly to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood.

My remedy does that, even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. No matter how impossible this seems to you, I know it and I take the risk. I have cured tens of thousands of cases in this way, and my records show that 39 out of 40 who get those six bottles pay, and gladly. I have learned that people in general are honest with a physician who cures them. That is all I ask. If I fail I don't expect a penny from you.

Simply write me a postal card or letter. Let me send you an order for the medicine; also a book. Take it for a month, for it won't harm you anyway. If it cures, pay $5.50. I leave that entirely to you. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 670, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

Thursday, April 10th, 1902.

Contrasted prices are frequently looked upon with suspicion by prospective buyers. It has become a habit with some stores to quote everything as reduced from some previous high mark. When we advertise comparative prices, the comparisons mean something. Sometimes they mean that we are closing out a season's lines below cost in accordance with our fixed policy of never carrying goods over from one year to another. Sometimes they mean we have taken advantage of a manufacturer's dull season and secured noteworthy price concessions on condition of giving him orders. Sometimes importers and manufacturers are overstocked and in need of ready cash and turn to our immense retail business as a natural outlet. Always and invariably there is a reason for our contrasting our prices with the regular quotations. Chicago shoppers regard our store news as authoritative information on saving opportunities.

All records broken in our great carpet salesroom.

Our great daylight carpet salesroom, occupying an entire floor in our Wabash ave. building, has, during the past week, been the scene of the busiest carpet selling ever known in Chicago.

Our April carpet sale is by far the greatest event of its kind ever inaugurated; the splendid bargains of previous years have prepared the public for the extraordinary saving which accrues to the benefit of our customers.

Nearly one year ago we began our preparations and the mills were set to work making up carpets in enormous quantities during July and August, the ordinarily dull months of the year. All the leading manufacturers in America contributed their best to enhance our assortments, and the liberal price concessions obtained in the buying are divided with our customers. In addition to this we reduced our profits to a very close margin in view of the vast number of sales which we are now transacting. Economical housekeepers find it to their advantage to buy liberally at this time.

Roxbury Brussels at 80c, Lowell ingrains at 65c. These have been the standard so long nobody disputes their excellence in design and quality.

The best feature about it is that it is a thoroughly well made chair, every part having received the utmost care in the manufacture.

It's only at Mandel's that you could expect anything like this, for this grade of Morris chair is standard and always sells readily at a much higher price.

Annual April sale of lace curtains.

It seems as though the bargains were growing better every day. We've received hundreds of new cases and they have opened up beautifully.

The European makers have outdone all their previous efforts. New machinery has in many cases resulted in visible improvements in the lace until, as a matter of actual fact, many of the lace curtains which we can sell you at a very moderate price are to all appearances as good as the old fashioned hand-made patterns, which were the pride of our forefathers and cost them so many hundreds of dollars.

The variety of curtains offered is very great and prices are the lowest ever known in Chicago. Everything we saved through buying early and everything we can spare from our regular profits is shared with our customers to make this the greatest bargain sale of the year.

Corded Arabian lace curtains—A large consignment of these beautiful and exceedingly popular lace curtains here for your selection at the lowest prices ever offered on such superior grades. There are forty-five designs from which to choose, at a saving of at least 33⅓% on every pair. The prices range from 2.75 up to $15 per pair, and you've a great variety to choose from.

Wonderful values in the new tussore silks.

A delayed shipment just received of extra wide (27-inch) English and French tussore silks, both plain and fancy. The first lot of these silks came on time and were sold out in a few days.

This lot is sixty days late on account of the maker getting behind with his orders, but it's all the better for you now, as we were allowed a great price concession on account of their tardy shipment and you'll reap the benefit in the remarkably low price asked.

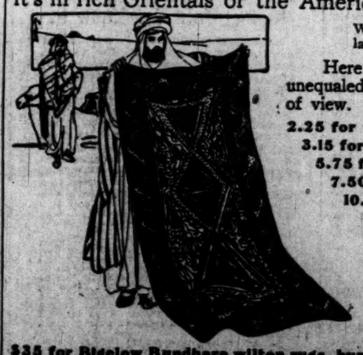

The very finest 36 and 27 inch tussore in the granite effects, pin and pekin stripes; diagonals, both French and English makes; sold the world over for 1.50 per yard, special at $1; also a full line of those handsome embroidered pongees in small dots, rosebuds, floral patterns, dice and ring patterns—a collection surpassing that of all other Chicago stores combined—per yard, 85c and $1.

Plain shantung and pongees: Extraordinary values in twenty-one inch genuine imported shantung, only 100 pieces at 50c per yard; also fifty pieces 27-inch pongee, renowned for its serviceability and washable properties, a splendid grade for 58c; twenty-five pieces of the same grade, 33 inches wide, at 68c.

Our millinery organization is in such close touch with Paris that the very latest foreign ideas are at once made known here.

The best features are reproduced by our talented designers, who, however, add inimitable touches that are distinctively American, giving them a tone of charming originality not seen in other makes.

We keep over 200 milliners busy making up the hats we are quoting at $5 and $6. This will give you some idea of the great demand for them. Among the new colors you'll find the new champagne yellow, zinc white and silver gray—two charming styles in the new Mandel hats at $5 and $6.

NEWS OF THE INSURANCE FIELD.

Chicago Board of Underwriters Allows Important Matters to Wait for a While.

The more important matters to have come before the quarterly meeting of the Chicago Underwriters' association yesterday were deferred to an adjourned meeting on April 23. By that time the effect of the reduction of the fire department will be more apparent. The question of violations of the commission and brokerage agreement, out of which may grow a reduction of commissions, also was put over. The Executive committee reported that the subcommittee on violations had agreed to a unanimous report, but the parent committee had not yet had a chance to consider it.

Manager Glidden reported that the association's special appropriation for the prosecution of incendiaries had achieved good results. Of nine alleged cases in which the association had assisted the city officials four cases already had been tried and convictions secured.

R. W. Hosmer, I. J. Lewis, and H. W. Magill were elected on the Executive committee.

The quarterly meeting of the Insurance Survey bureau was held yesterday. During the last three months 3,500 inspections have been made. Most of the force is still at Kansas City, where nearly a thousand risks have been inspected by eight men, and there is still two months' work for them.

The Fire Insurance club of Chicago has elected the additional directors consequent upon the change in the bylaws on Tuesday night. For the long term H. W. Carlisle of Carlisle, Chandler & Co., Thomas Cooper of the New Hampshire, and Frank Overlock of the Commercial Union, and for the short term E. A. Bremner of Moore, Janes, Lyman & Herrick, L. M. Linnell of the German-American, and Charles T. Moses of the Queen.

Varying sentiments are expressed by company managers on the proposed agreement for a reduction of commissions put forth by J. L. Whitlock of the Glens Falls. All admit the need of a reduction in expenses, especially in the large cities, but the antagonisms and suspicions between union and non-union companies are apparent, although Mr. Whitlock purposely avoided that point. Many union managers hold that they have agreed, under the graded commission plan, to pay their agents 15, 20, and 25 per cent commissions, and that they cannot go back on that. Others differ with Mr. Whitlock on his classification of ordinary and preferred business.

LAKE SHIPPING NEWS.

Navigation Opens at Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 9.—Navigation opened here today, more than two weeks earlier than last year. The steamer Kennebec was the first to sail and was followed by the Progress, Minnesota, Robert Wallace, and Barge Ewen.

Freights and Charters.

Most of the grain offered for shipment was in small lots. Rates were 1½ cents for corn and 1¾ cents for wheat to both Georgian Bay and Lake Erie.

CLEVELAND, O.—Coal is coming forward a little more freely and a number of ships are being placed for the first trip. Chartering in the ore trade is light. One boat was placed to load at the head of the lakes for Ohio ports today at 75 cents, and some tonnage has been placed at Marquette at 65 cents. Cargoes are offered freely at Escanaba at 55 cents, but owners are holding for 60 cents.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—Coal chartering is light, but all the shippers will be in the market for boats this week. The shortage of fuel is delaying the departure of some of the fleet. Charters: Marshall, Tilden, Duluth, 30 cents; Wyoming, West Superior, 30 cents; Chili, Chicago, 40 cents. The total amount of coal chartered up to noon was 20,350 tons.

"FITZ" WANTS TO FIGHT ABROAD.

Cornishman Asks Jeffries to Meet Him in London as His Latest Dodge.

"ENGLAND OR NOWHERE."

PUTS HIM IN BAD LIGHT.

New York, April 9.—[Special.]—The chances of Jim Jeffries and Bob Fitzsimmons ever coming together at San Francisco or Los Angeles seem to have vanished so far as the Cornishman is concerned. Today Fitzsimmons came out with a statement to the effect that he positively would refuse to tackle the boilermaker in the State of California. He declared that if Jeffries means to meet him the bout would have to be held in England.

Now that it is impossible to box at Charleston, Fitzsimmons is inclined to consider England as the most available place, and to this end notified Dr. Ordway today, asking the latter to open negotiations and bring off the match at the National Sporting club, in London.

Ordway is satisfied to have the encounter decided abroad during the fistic carnival next June, and has an appointment with Fitzsimmons for tomorrow. Should the fight be brought about it will be the first time in the history of latter day pugilism where two representative fighters from this country have met to decide the world's heavyweight honors on foreign soil.

Jim Kennedy, representing the Yosemite Athletic club of San Francisco, received a telegram from Billy Delaney saying Jeffries had accepted the club's offer of 70 per cent of the gross gate receipts. Fitzsimmons, when informed of this, said that he would box Jeffries in England or nowhere.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 9.—[Special.]—Jeffries made public the following statement today:

The decision of the Governor of South Carolina is what I expected. It was for this reason I did not accept the Charleston proposition. I think Fitzsimmons knew the contest could not take place there, and was simply looking for a repetition of his experience through Texas and Arkansas, when he dodged every issue in his meeting with Corbett. Los Angeles was sincere in its offer, had the forfeit money in the bank, and offered the best inducements, with a certainty that the contest could take place. Prospects looked bright for a big week, but what the club will do now I cannot say, as it withdrew hope of securing the match some time ago. I don't think the officials are prepared to promote it now on the original date, as the time is too short, and I have not talked with them since they withdrew.

I sincerely believe Fitz was looking for a chance to crawl out of the match when he insisted on Charleston. I don't believe he means business, and I am thoroughly disgusted with him. I signed in good faith, but he has acted suspiciously all through. The local club here does not believe he will fight, and I doubt if it will spend another quarter opening negotiations with him.

JAMES J. JEFFRIES.

The officials of the Century A. C. have been notified of the action of the Governor of South Carolina in prohibiting the fight. Manager McCarry says: "We shall consider the situation. I do not know whether we shall put in our old bid over again—we may. The fighters have tried Charleston and failed. Now they look to us. Jeffries has been agreeable to Los Angeles from the start, but "Fitz" has some nonsensical idea that the Century A. C. is in league with Jeffries on the present fight proposition."

"LANKY BOB" IS SIDESTEPPING.

[BY GEORGE SILER.]

The big match between Champion Jeffries and Bob Fitzsimmons, which appeared so certain until the last few days, is practically off. The much talked of, sure-to-pull-it-off Charleston organization died with its boots on, and Fitz's abhorrence for anything with the name California attached to it caused the bottom to drop out of the match.

The latest from the Fitzsimmons end is that he will fight "Jeff" nowhere but in London. Besides which he says he wants to fight any six white heavyweights in the world, one each night for five nights, and windup with Jeffries on the sixth night for the heavyweight championship of the world.

This looks awfully strong on paper, but will be taken with a large grain of salt by the sporting public. Fitz in denouncing California says he "got skinned" there once, and, therefore, will never fight there again.

Admitting he was robbed in San Francisco, the fact remains the men who were instrumental in robbing him are, with the exception of Tom Sharkey, dead cocks in the pugilistic pit. Furthermore, he has had dealings with Sharkey, one of the principal conspirators, since then. Bob evidently forgets he made no mention of refusing to fight in California when he signed the articles, nor when the bids for the fight on March 15 were opened.

He said at that time he wanted until April 1 to think the matter over and to permit other clubs, if they so chose, to bid for the contest. This, it is needless to say, was not in strict accordance with the articles which his signature made binding.

However, the match is off, and Fitz will undoubtedly be censured for presuming he would get robbed if he fought on the coast.

The local boxing game has taken a slump. Of the numerous clubs formed since the opening of boxing the America club is the only organization of standing which opened its doors this week. The Wabash, Pyramid, Aurora, and Connemara Cuckoo clubs, for various reasons, did not open shop. The Wabash intended giving a show on Friday night with Dave Sullivan and "Young" Mowatt in the windup, but Sullivan dodged the issue.

The Pyramid management could not secure an attraction, and say their arena on Nineteenth street will remain closed until they can secure a satisfactory windup. The Aurora club had practically matched "Wild Bill" Hanrahan and Harry Peppers for its Tuesday night entertainment, but a squabble between the contestants and their respective managers as to the division of the purse broke up the match. The Connemara Cuckoo's had nothing in sight, but has arranged a match between Tommy Sullivan and Eddie Santry for April 18.

The Douglas Park Athletic association, one of the numerous small clubs holding boxing entertainments on the outskirts of the city, will give a show at Douglas Park hall tonight, with a battle royal between five colored men as its feature. The bouts are arranged are as follows: Jerry Horan vs. "Young" Skeptner, 112 pounds; Tom Sculley vs. Billy Thomas, 132 pounds; "Spike" Hogan vs. "Young" Cristo, 124 pounds; "Bull" Owen vs. Billy Reed, 122 pounds; and the battle royal windup.

Tomorrow night the Eighteenth Ward Athletic club will give its regular weekly show at Bricklayers' Hall, with Mike Bartley and Johnnie Martin in the windup. On Saturday night the Chicago Athletic association will hold its regular semi-monthly show with probably "Wild Bill" Hanrahan and Harry Peppers in the windup.

The America club will lay on its oars until Monday, April 21, when it will present to its patrons Martin Duffy and Tom Couhig in the windup.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Champaign, Ill., April 9.—[Special.]—It was the Fourth of July today to the [illegible] of enthusiasts who went out to Illinois Field to see Selee's battalion administer a defeat to the varsity nine. If it wasn't the Fourth it was at least "skyrocket" day, for the players on both teams repeatedly cracked the ball up into the clouds, and frequent two and three base hits and a home run were registered.

It was the worst defeat the university team has suffered since the Chicago youngsters put in their appearance at Champaign. The score was 13 to 6. The Illini players did well for five innings, during which time Lundgren was in the box, but when he was relieved by Fred Beebe, the freshman twister, the youngsters simply bombarded him, sending four men across the home plate in the sixth inning. After passing the seventh they again started pounding Beebe's fancy assortment. Two more came home in the eighth and three in the ninth. The way they landed on the former Hyde Park twister's curves was enough to drive any pitcher to the tall uncut, but Beebe stuck to his task gamely.

Eason, after a good morning's practice in the warm sunshine—for it was ideal baseball weather—felt like turning loose some speed and asked Manager Selee to let him pitch. He shot the ball across the plate for three innings. After this he was relieved by "Pop" Williams, who did not allow a varsity man to register. After the game was safe Selee sent Guy Smaple to the slab for the last two innings.

Selee's men looked for all the world like winners in the first inning when Congalton, Dexter, and Arthur Williams scored as the result of Parker's error, a base on balls, and Dexter's skyrocket to the fence in left field, which was good for three bases. But Huff's men came right back at them and made two runs in the same round, on a walk, errors by Eason and Tinker, and Stahl's three-bagger, which hit the fence in left field.

The varsity took the lead in the second round when they made another cluster of two. In the next round Parker again distinguished himself when he knocked a home run. There was nothing doing after this until the sixth, when Beebe tried his hand. Selee's men had been waiting anxiously for a crack at the youngster. Eight men faced him, and singles by Lowe and Kling, two bases on balls, a passed ball, and a two-bagger by Miller enabled Lowe, Tinker, Kling, and Miller to score. After this the contest grew tiresome to the spectators, but Selee's men continued to fight as if the Illini and not themselves held the advantage, and made four more runs to cinch the victory.

PRACTICE GAME FOR BADGERS.

Wisconsin Baseball Team Defeats Westport by Score of 14 to 9—Collegians Use Twenty-two Men.

Madison, Wis., April 9.—[Special.]—The varsity won the first game of the season today from Westport in easy fashion by heavy work at the bat. The general work of the Wisconsin team was ragged and there was no pretense at team work, twenty-two men being given a chance in the game. The most encouraging thing, from a Wisconsin standpoint, was the heavy stick work, Brobst, Berg, Matthews, and Harkin knocking out three base hits. In the box Erickson did the best work for the cardinal, striking out three men and having good control of the ball. Matthews was wild at times and generous with passes to first. Score:

WILLIAMS GIVES YALE GAME.

New Haven, Conn., April 9.—[Special.]—Yale was given a game by Williams today because the Massachusetts college players went to pieces in the sixth and seventh innings. Lawrence lost the game by wild pitching. Wear's wonderful throw to the plate with the bases full, preventing Williams from scoring in the sixth inning, was the feature. The game was played between showers. The score:

Northwestern University had an easy time with the North Division High School ball team at Sheppard Field yesterday afternoon, and in five innings scored enough runs for a half dozen games. The university men sent eleven men around the bases with little effort in the fifth, and the game was then called on account of darkness. North Division was unable to hit or field, while the university played a snappy game and hit the ball at will. Score:

Pittsburg, 18; Little Rock, 6.

Hot Springs, Ark., April 9.—[Special.]—The Pittsburg champions outclassed Little Rock all around today, defeating the Southern league team 18 to 6. Poole, Doheney, and Merritt pitched for Pittsburg, and Skopec, Allemang, and Guese for Little Rock. Skopec was driven from the rubber in the first inning, six runs being scored off his delivery. Lefty Davis injured his knee in the sixth, falling while running from second to third, and he will be out of the game several days. Pittsburg will go to Little Rock for two games.

SOCIAL CLUBS TO PLAY BALL.

If They Can Limber Up, Clubmen Will Renew Youthful Stunts on the Diamond.

Members of the Lincoln, Menoken, and Ashland clubs have been agitating the question of the formation of a baseball league of Chicago social clubs and the playing of a schedule of games on Saturday afternoons.

The Lincoln club has started the ball rolling with an appropriation of $150. Frank L. Fry, an architect, at 164 La Salle street, appeared before the Board of Directors and suggested that a club composed exclusively of members of the Lincoln club be formed, to meet similar aggregations from the Ashland, Hamilton, Menoken, and Press clubs, and the Oaks of Austin. The directors unanimously voted the sum, and officers of the nine were selected, as follows: President, Frank L. Fry; manager, Albert Hawkins; Captain, Everett Murphy.

BALTIMORE MUST SHOW JOHNSON.

OPPOSED TO SHECKARD.

BAN AFTER UMPIRE LYNCH.

President Johnson put a new twist into the affairs of the American league and its attitude toward contract jumpers yesterday by declaring that it was not at all certain either Pitcher James Hughes or Outfielder Sheckard would play with the Baltimore club this season, and indicating that there was a possibility that McGuire might not catch for Detroit.

"As I understand the case of Pitcher Hughes," said the American league executive, "he was not under contract to the Brooklyn club, but some of the dispatches indicate that he was. If he had signed a contract with Brooklyn he cannot play with the Baltimore club and must go back to Hanlon, so far as we are concerned. If he had not signed a contract, of course, Baltimore has the right to take him under existing conditions.

"It is not certain that Sheckard will be allowed to play with Baltimore. That is for the league owners to decide. I have been opposed to taking Sheckard all along, and at the time the Baltimore club first broached the matter to me I wrote strongly advising against it. I told them public sentiment was against it and against players of Sheckard's stripe. They were told that the consent of the other club owners must be obtained before they could play Sheckard, and so far as I know no effort has been made to secure that consent. I doubt if they can get it, as there is much opposition in the league toward that player on account of his conduct on the diamond last year, as well as because of his desertion of McGraw.

McGuire's Case Peculiar.

"McGuire's case is a peculiar one, and the league clubs have not taken action on that, either. He signed an agreement last fall with Detroit stronger than the one by which Brush attempted to establish his right to Parent and Winters of the Boston club. By making that move Brush established a bad precedent, and Detroit made the argument that it had a right to McGuire's services if Cincinnati had any claim on Parent.

"In every other case where the American league has taken back a player who jumped us last year I have insisted on an expression from each club member, with the understanding that if any club put in a dissenting voice the player could not be signed. In each case there has been no dissent made, because extenuating circumstances have been brought forward in favor of the player. But the whole business has put the American league in a bad light, and there must be an end to it. Once the bars were let down it became difficult to draw the line, but one must be drawn.

"Under no circumstances will Hughes play with Baltimore if he has signed with Hanlon. There never was a chance for Demontreville to play with any American league club, because Boston has his contract for this season. Every other case except those of Sheckard and McGuire has been decided by the club owners themselves. It is up to them now to decide these."

May Sign Umpire Lynch.

There is a good chance of President Johnson's replacing Umpire Cantillion by Tom Lynch, who refused an offer from the National league last week. It transpires that Mr. Johnson has been negotiating with Lynch for some time, and the only obstacle has been the umpire's refusal to officiate at Sunday games. Yesterday, however, he had a long letter from the umpire and made him a proposition in return which he thinks will be accepted. Lynch, it will be remembered, retired from the National league several years ago because he received no backing from the league itself in his efforts to suppress rowdyism and to protect himself from the abuse of the players. He possessed the fullest confidence of the public at all times, but was too autocratic to suit players or magnates in the old league. He would prove a valuable exchange for Cantillion.

LONG TRAMP FOR WHITE SOX.

Champions, Unable to Practice, Visit Grave of Jesse James, Famous Outlaw—Leave Springs Today.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Excelsior Springs, Mo., April 9.—[Special.]—Fourteen White Stockings, including Prince, today made the eighteen-mile trip to the grave and old homestead of Jesse James, the famous outlaw. While there they secured an American Derby tip from Frank James, who was a member of the band in those days when the mention of its name caused terror to express agents and train crews. They heard also a kindly version of the acts of the James boys from their aged mother, 78 years old, who still lives on the old farm.

Early tomorrow the White Sox will say good-by to Excelsior Springs for another year. Two exhibition games are scheduled at St. Joseph and two at Kansas City. On Sunday night the team will leave Kansas City and, without returning to Chicago, will go direct to South Bend, Ind., where a week's practice is scheduled with the Notre Dame College team.

CHAMPIONS BACK THEMSELVES

White Sox Willing to Bet $2,500 They Will Lead Any Other Team in Pennant Race.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Excelsior Springs, Mo., April 9.—[Special.]—Jimmy Callahan this afternoon authorized the statement that he had raised a pool of $2,500 among the White Stockings to be wagered at even money on the chances of the champions finishing ahead of any other one team in the American league race. Of this amount Callahan himself will take $500. Concerning the offer Callahan said:

"I have seen much talk in the newspapers about fans and players in other cities wanting to bet we would not win the pennant. Now, of course, I think we have the best chance, although I would not want to bet that way at even money. But I have talked it over with the boys and we stand ready to play $2,500 even that we will finish ahead of any one team any one else may pick. That looks like a fair proposition.

"The race this year looks pretty open, and, moreover, it's taking too many chances to pick one club, considering the chances for accidents, especially where four or five clubs promise to be bunched, as this year. We will post a forfeit with any reputable newspaper or sporting man upon notice of the acceptance of our challenge."

GOOD DAY FOR "FATHER BILL."

Wins Half the Card, Including the Handicap, Which Was Only Exercise for Himself.

Washington, D. C., April 9.—[Special.]—A heavy, tough track and a drizzling rain made conditions unfavorable for good racing at Bennings today. Still, the attendance was large.

Bill Daly's horses, Locket, Trump, and Himself, won the last three races. Three prime favorites were beaten.

The feature of the card was supposed to be the handicap, but the scratching of Intrusion, Orontas, Woodtrice, and Carroll D. reduced the field to Himself, 112 pounds; Ohnet, 100; and Calgary, 87. Because it was believed Himself could not stay a mile and forty yards, 8 to 5 against him was obtainable in the early betting. He proved to be master of the situation at all points, and the race was not strong work for him. Ohnet floundered badly at the finish and had to take last place.

Cormorant performed so villainously while at the post for the first race that he was left, and his entry will not again be accepted. He went through a fence, compelled Odom to dismount, tossed him after he had remounted, and wound up with a broken bridle. He was not permitted to further delay the start. The 3-year-old filly Price, owned by H. T. Oxnard, won the race and gave promise of a brilliant future. Thrown back to last in the starting rush, she leisurely worked her way to the front and finished like a high-class stake animal. Benckart, presumed to be a good mudhorse, set the early pace, but tired. The winner made Fonsoluca stop.

OWENTON SHOWS GOOD TRIAL.

Lexington, Ky., April 9.—[Special.]—The American Derby candidate Owenton, in the stable of J. C. Milan & Co., worked the best six furlongs here today of any horse trained on the Kentucky association track this season. He ran in 1:15½ with a strong wind blowing in his face, and what makes the performance all the more remarkable is the fact that he had 125 pounds up.

Owenton will be shipped to Lakeside tomorrow and will be specially prepared for the great event. His owners stand to win a small fortune on him, they having backed him at odds of 100 to 1.

A suckling brother of J. E. Pepper's crack filly Par Excellence, a brown colt by imported Kantaka, dam Lady Pepper, by Hindoo, has just arrived at Meadowthorpe stud.

ARTICLES FOR MATCH RACE.

Charter Oak Park Management Has the Details Fixed for the Lord Derby-Boralma Contest.

New York, April 9.—A. J. Welsh of the Charter Oak track has arrived here with articles of agreement for the match race between E. E. Smathers' Lord Derby and Thomas Lawson's Boralma for a side stake of $20,000. The articles call for the race to take place on Sept. 2, which is the second day of the Charter Oak meeting, the racers to receive 60 per cent of the gross receipts. Both owners have accepted the Charter Oak offer and already have posted their forfeits to bind the match. The articles will be signed immediately.

Veteran Trainer Dies Abroad.

Washington, D. C., April 9.—[Special.]—Word was received at Bennings from England today that Anthony Taylor, one of the oldest trainers in this country, died in England several days ago. Taylor went to England on Feb. 15 last. In his time he had trained horses for such well-known men as Pierre Lorillard and August Belmont.

Died from Injury in Stable.

Paris, Ky., April 9.—Richard Craddock Sparks, a well-known horseman residing near Lair Station and owner of Idle Chief, died today after five days' semi-unconsciousness, brought on by the horse pressing against him. Mr. Sparks was a nephew of Colonel J. G. Craddock, the well-known Paris editor.

Three consistently rolled series of 948, 935, and 955 pins enabled the Commercial league quintet to secure first place in the Illinois Bowling association tournament last night.

Captain Ernie Peterson had a capable team under his command, and with himself as anchor and W. V. Thompson as leader the inside men had cause to feel confident. Their total of 2,838 pins was made by clever work, as the side was credited with only eleven errors, of which six were made by one player. Gus Burkhardt and Peterson both rolled errorless games.

Next to the Commercial league came the Glenwood league, the work of the team being somewhat of a surprise. They passed the 900 mark three times, gathering in all 2,802 pins and landing in third place ahead of the Unity league.

J. V. KIRBY IS IN CHARMED CIRCLE

Dunne's American Derby Candidate Makes His Three-Year-Old Bow.

RESULTS ON OTHER TRACKS.

Memphis, Tenn., April 9.—[Special.]—Pat Dunne's American Derby candidate, J. V. Kirby, won a race at six furlongs at Montgomery Park today, and Theory and Sevoy, two of the best of the sprinting division here, finished behind him.

It was the first public appearance of the son of Bassetlaw, and the impression he left was a flattering one, and it is doubtful if there are many 3-year-olds in the West that can take his measure at six furlongs, at least, and there is no reason to believe he will not go further, as he was drawing away from his company at the end of the journey today.

Charles W. Meyer, who is also entered in the American Derby, was second and he ran a much improved race. The trouble with Schorr's horse has always been sore shoulders, but today he showed no signs of his old complaint, and if he continues to improve there is every reason to believe he will carry the gold and black of the Memphis turfman in the big event to be run at Washington Park on June 21.

Five started and Sevoy was the public favorite, with Theory the second choice. They made all the early pace and led the others to the stretch turn, where J. V. Kirby and Charles W. Meyer moved up. The former went to the outside, while Woods took the Schorr colt to the rail and found an opening for him and got him to the front before the others were well straightened away for the run home. J. V. Kirby wore him down before the sixteenth pole was reached, and drew steadily away and was nearly two lengths to the good when the winning line was crossed. Theory outstaid Sevoy and easily got third money.

Another Victory for Dunne.

Pat Dunne showed up a good 2-year-old in Allan, a son of St. Andrew and Alannah, which won the four and a half furlongs and beat Schorr's Topgallant colt, Onatas, which is generally believed to be one of the best of the latter's band of 2-year-olds.

The Mississippi purse, which was supposed to be the star number of the program, had only four starters—Nitrate, Wax Taper, The Lady, and the Montgomery Handicap winner, Circus. Wax Taper had an easy time with 110 pounds on his back. He indulged Nitrate and The Lady with a lead to the turn, when he ran over them, and was pulled up all through the final furlong, and won by two lengths. The other three finished in a bunch, with The Lady in second place and Nitrate a short nose before Circus.

Lady Wadsworth hung up a new record in the seven and a half furlongs, which opened the card. She was the favorite, and led her field all the way, and clipped a quarter off Lee King's mark of 1:36¾, made last year.

Notes of the Memphis Track.

Jockey Nash Turner has been engaged to ride Wain-a-Moinen in the Tennessee Oaks.

George Bennett bet $1,000 against $10,000 with Joe Ullmann today that Abe Frank would win the American Derby.

Alan-a-Dale, who is being prepared for the Kentucky Derby, is being trained at the trotting track here. He has bad legs, and in order to keep weight off them he is being worked to a sulky. His owner and trainer, Tom McDowell, sent him a mile this morning in two minutes, and he pulled up sound.

TALENT UPSET BY LONG SHOTS.

Holtman's Bad Starting Defeats Several Horses and Fourteen Outsiders Finish in Money.

San Francisco, Cal., April 9.—[Special.]—More long shots finished inside the money at Oakland than on any previous occasion, and this despite a well educated racing public. Fourteen out of the eighteen horses that ran one, two, three were all the way from 10 to 100 to 1. There were some inexplicable reversals of form, even for this time of the season, but Holtman's bad starting was responsible for the defeat of several horses that might have won with anything like an even break.

Holtman's barrier work appears to get more uncertain with each succeeding day, and he burned up thousands of dollars today for the betting public. He apparently has lost confidence in himself, with the result that he is not starting with anything like the good form that marked his first visit to California.

In addition to the bad starting, the racing public is called upon to contend with bottled up good things and most indifferent riding.

LARRY YOUNG IS GIVEN AWAY.

Memphis, Tenn., April 9.—[Special.]—"I can't understand why they insist on regarding Larry Young as a factor in the American Derby," said J. W. Schorr between races at Montgomery Park. "They offer only 60 to 1, and on that account I expect a lot of people think that I am going to start him, when, as a matter of fact, I gave the colt away this morning, and his remaining days will be spent in drawing a buggy for a friend of mine."

Mr. Schorr stated that it was a 1,000 to 1 chance that his colors would not be seen in the American Derby next July. He has several horses left eligible to start, but none of them has shown quality enough, and the local owner announced he had practically abandoned hope of having a representative in the race.

Some of the non-winners which developed from last year's crop of 2-year-olds were disposed of today. Pat Carlin, by Major Richards—Dicey; Frank Carlin, by Lord Esterling; Emma Traumiller, by Esher; and Miss Edd, by Esher, have been thrown out of the Schorr barn because they could not give any symptoms of racing speed.

The Esher mares were sent to the Bennett farm to be used for breeding purposes, and Pat Carlin and Frank Carlin were given away, as was Larry Young, for use to road driving. The most prominent 3-year-old at present owned by Mr. Schorr is Commissioner Forster, in charge of John F. Schorr, and at present racing with success at the San Francisco track. Commissioner Forster, however, is not eligible for any Western Derbies.

There was a reaction to the previous close on a bearish Michigan crop report and some selling by holders who were afraid of a bearish government report, but heavy buying for St. Louis account, covering supposed to be prompted by lack of moisture in the Southwest forced a sharp rally. This was the speculative feature of the trade and was as prominent on the rallies as on the decline. May sold from 71⅝c to 72½c, and closed at 72¼-⅜c. The July limits were 71⅛-¼c and 73⅛c, the close 72⅞-73c. September advanced from 71¾c to 73¼c, but settled back to 72¾c. There was some selling early on the expectation of a bearish government report, some buying later on a revised theory, or rumor that the condition shown would be lower than generally expected. There was a break of 1½c in May wheat in St. Louis on settlement by some shorts, but it had no effect on this market. Kansas and Oklahoma were still dry, but possible showers were predicted for today. Complaints from that quarter of the prompt need of generous rains were more strenuous. A decrease of 2,322,000 bu in world's stocks as reported by Bradstreet's, compared with a decrease of 422,000 bu last year, was followed by the break of the day. The Michigan State report gave a condition of 85 per cent "and improving," compared with one of 72 a year ago, but noted a slight decrease in acreage. In spite of the firmness of English markets seaboard exporters declared bids generally 1¼c out of line. Sales of 176,000 bu were reported. Duluth claimed 112,000 bu, and local sales were put at 125,000 bu. Primary receipts were 233,791 bu, compared with 488,695 bu a year ago. Clearances were 434,078 bu. St. Louis houses were large buyers, covering for Kauffman and other shorts. The Northwest took off May hedges, but probably sold July. There was less inclination to sell September, and shorts ran up the market on themselves. There was local support by Dunn, Rankin, Pringle, and Trego. An idea that Captain Phillips was selling through Milmine-Bodman started the break, and on the later rally it was again assumed he was selling some of his recently acquired line.

Corn Tendency Upward.

There was a nervous market in corn, with quick fluctuations within the relatively narrow range of ⅝c. Small receipts and considerable covering for St. Louis account were the chief factors in producing the moderate advances of ⅛@⅜c, but the price still looked high enough to induce liquidation and short selling, and offerings were free enough to force some setbacks from top prices. May sold from 58⅝@59¼c, and closed at 58⅞c, only ⅛c up from Tuesday. July sold from 59c to 59⅝c, and closed at 59⅝c, a gain of ⅝c. September stopped at 58⅝c, gaining ⅛c. Receipts were only 33 cars, and but 35 are estimated for today, while receiving houses generally declared country acceptances practically nothing. One house, however, bought 65,000 bu in Illinois and Iowa. There was a fair shipping demand, particularly for yellow corn, but as a rule better premiums were demanded than offered. Sales were 85,000 bu here, and the seaboard reported 56,000 bu. Reports from St. Louis of sales of 100,000 bu, making 200,000 bu for this week, to the South, with only 100,000 bu contract grade left there, were a market help. St. Louis and Kansas City were both stronger than Chicago. Clearances were only 4,074 bu. Bradstreet's reported a decrease of 841,000 bu in world's stocks, compared with one of 1,031,000 bu last year. Primary receipts were 227,320 bu, compared with 355,309 bu a year ago. Liverpool was strong, futures ⅜d higher, spot up ¼d.

There was little interest in oats and only a moderate response to the strength in other grains, gains of ⅛c in May and July and ⅛@¼c in September. May showed the most activity, ranging from 42¼@42⅝c, and closing at 42½c. July and September kept within the modest bounds of a ¼c range and closed at 34c and 29-⅛c respectively. There were more reports from Illinois of oats getting a poor start and reseeding being necessary over large areas, but no disposition apparent in the pit to take them with much seriousness. There was no significant trade in May, but they were to be had whenever called for. Shipping demand was quiet, but 50,000 bu were sold for export at the seaboard. Clearances were 17,570 bu. Bradstreet's reported an increase of 287,000 bu in world's stocks, compared with a decrease of 39,000 bu a year ago. There were 63 cars inspected in, including 14 contract, and 24,900 bu No. 2 oats were inspected out of store.

Provisions Show Good Strength.

The strength in the provision list was something of a surprise to the trade, as it was hardly prepared for the excellent buying, which was done on both local and foreign account. The foreign contingent appeared to think much of all varieties of product, though quotations from the other side showed no changes. The packers generally bought lard and the brokers ribs. Closing prices were 5@7½c higher on pork, 7½c up on lard, and from 7½@10c better on ribs. Hog receipts here were 27,000, against 26,000 the previous week. The eight packing points had 59,100, against 47,100 a week ago and 73,600 last year. Cash demand was active, though shipments of cured meats were slightly smaller than a year ago, 1,597,000 lbs, as compared with 2,862,000 lbs, and shipments held up better, being 918,000 lbs, against 919,000 lbs last year.

Rye did a little better, May selling at 54¾c, ½c higher than the day before. July was quoted at 55¼c.

The barley tone was firm, with the few samples offered readily taken. Holders were rather stiffer in their views and buyers more inclined to pay advances asked. The screening range was from 45@58c, and the malting from 61@67c, the outside for choice.

Offerings of timothy seed were decidedly irregular in quality, cash lots selling from $6.00@6.50. Larger quantities of old seed came out. Contract seed was quoted $7.00. Clover was quoted at $7.90 for contract, country lots bringing $5.00@7.25.

Flaxseed trade was extremely dull, No. 1 Northwestern at $1.75 bid and May nominally $1.67. Bag lots of Southwestern, delivered, sold at $1.65½. There were 6 cars here, with 3 cars shipped. Duluth had 2 cars and Minneapolis nothing.

Trade Gossip on 'Change.

Estimated arrivals for today are: Wheat, 15 cars; corn, 35 cars; oats, 105 cars; hogs, 26,000.

An elevator man was bid ½c over May f. o. b. for old 2 yellow corn, but is holding for 1c over in store on the theory that if receipts continue so small there is bound to be a sharper shipping demand.

Interior elevator stocks in the Northwest were lower on April 1, at 2,269,000 bu, than on either May 1 or June 1 for three years. The only dates in that period when supplies were lower were as follows: July, 1901, 1,856,000 bu; August, 1901, 336,000 bu; August, 1899, 979,000 bu; September, 1899, 2,022,000 bu.

There was a sale of 50,000 bu Manitoba wheat to London at 2⅝c over Chicago May, c. i. f. Buffalo, about the shipping basis of Chicago Northern.

There was an idea in the wheat trade that St. Louis interests, which covered so liberally, might have had some inkling of the probable appearance of the government report on wheat condition, to be out this afternoon. There was some selling here early on the theory that it is useless to expect anything but a break after a government report, but shorts were even more inclined to even their trades. There was a feeling that, while appearances in the Southwest are promising now, there might be a rapid deterioration if rains should be delayed ten days or two weeks, and a suspicion the crop reporters might take this consideration into account. Some traders look for a condition as low as 80, compared with an April condition of 91.7 in 1901, but the more general expectation is for a figure as high as 85. After the official close there was a break of ⅜-½c on the Milwaukee curb, which closed at 71⅞c for May. Late strength in railroads on the stock market suggested the expectation of a bearish crop report and made wheat traders nervous.

St. Louis Deal Settled.

It was reported from St. Louis that the May wheat deal there had been closed by a settlement on the part of the shorts. The longs were supposed to have July and September sold in Chicago against their May line in St. Louis, and it was claimed some of the May buying here was the taking off of those hedges.

Chief Grain Inspector Bidwill says regarding the new grade of "standard oats" that the rule provides that standard oats shall be reasonably free from foreign grain, the same as provided for No. 2 white and No. 2 oats, but not sufficiently sound and clean for No. 2 white oats, and must weigh not less than 28 lbs to the measured bushel.

PRODUCE TRADE STILL SLOW.

Weather Continues Against the Market, Though the Street Is Well Supplied with Green Stuff.

Produce dealers are not buying much these days, and as a consequence trade volume is small. In butter the tone is slightly easier. It was also so in eggs. Strawberries are in large supply and not much wanted. Potatoes remain steady, except for seed stock, which during the week shows a decline of about 25c, the season being over.

MAY ENLARGE THE BOARD

LIKELY TO ADD MORE TRACTION DIRECTORS.

New York Members May Retain Places—Walter H. Wilson, Back from New York, Denies City Railway Negotiations, but Admits Private Purchases of Stock Have Been Made—Moores Control American Can Co.—H. F. Akien Mentioned for President

The Board of Directors of the Chicago Union Traction company may be enlarged to admit more Chicago members. In that case some of the New York members who have been talking of retiring in order to make room for Chicagoans on the board will likely retain their places.

It is understood that H. B. Hollins, who had considered resigning from the board, will remain. P. A. B. Widener, one of the largest stockholders, whose resignation is now in the hands of officials, may withdraw it. The advantage in enlarging the board will be that the New York members can stay and still enough Chicago men can be elected to assure the presence of a majority of directors when meetings are desired. The main object which induced some of the New York men to retire was to facilitate the securing of a quorum at meetings of the board.

Mr. Wilson on Traction Affairs.

Walter H. Wilson, Vice President of the Union Traction company, who returned yesterday from New York, where he stopped on his way home from the South, denied that any negotiations are pending between the City railway and the Union Traction companies.

He said it was true that some of the leading stockholders of the Union Traction company have bought some City railway stock, and that he knew of one lot of 2,500 shares that was offered to a director by a City railway director that was accepted. All told, he added, not above 5,000 shares have changed hands in this way.

Mr. Wilson said that if the ninety-nine-year' act, which the company believes is valid, was confirmed by the courts, and the corporation was given all the privileges to which the directors believe they are entitled, they should still seek to do what was right by the public.

Moores Still Control Can.

All doubt as to the position of the Moores in American Can was set at rest by the receipt by stockholders yesterday of requests for proxies for the annual meeting. These proxies run to William H. Moore, James H. Moore, and F. S. Wheeler. The meeting will be held at Jersey City on April 22. The notice says that directors will be elected to fill the places of those whose terms expire then, and that any other business properly before the meeting will be transacted.

It has been reported at various times that the Moores were entirely out of Can, but the request for proxies in their names shows that they control the company. It is denied that there is any dissension in the management. After the consolidation was effected it was found that the first year would have to be devoted to concentrating the business at remunerative points. Now that this is accomplished the company is in better shape for next year.

H. F. Akin, now Vice President of the Can company, will probably become President to succeed Edwin Norton, unless D. G. Reid takes the place. Mr. Norton, as stated yesterday, is traveling in Europe at present, but he is abroad for his health and not in connection with business affairs. On account of his health he is said to be anxious to relinquish the position of President. It is doubtful if he will return to this country in time for the annual meeting of stockholders.

It is announced in this connection that F. S. Wheeler has been elected general auditor of the company, to succeed Lawrence A. Norton, who retired to join a new company affiliated with the corporation. Mr. Wheeler is essentially a Moore man, having been associated with the Moores in National Steel and the other similar industrial concerns.

Title and Trust Earnings.

The statement of the Chicago Title and Trust company for the six months of its existence to April 1 shows that it is earning at the rate of 9.58 per cent annually on the stock. Net earnings for the period were $239,505. After paying the half year's dividend of 3 per cent, or $150,000, a surplus of $89,505 is left. The company did not do so well by a small margin in the last quarter as in the previous quarter. Net earnings for the last quarter were $117,577, as compared with $121,928 in the previous quarter. The surplus after the quarter's dividend was $42,577.

The report issued by the company yesterday does not mention any charges for depreciation. It is generally believed these should be made during the year, as there was a duplication of plants in the consolidation.

Financial Topics.

President Ingalls of the Big Four railroad will address the Chicago Bankers' club at its meeting on April 19.

The controlling interests in Rock Island are said to disclaim responsibility for current fluctuations in the stock. Manipulation is rendered comparatively easy by the scarcity of floating stock, and this condition is evidently being used to advantage by some one.

Directors of the People's Gas company are scheduled to meet the last week of this month to act on dividends. Officials here say there is no reason to believe that other than the usual rate of 1½ per cent for the quarter will be declared. Business is excellent and the disbursement can be maintained.

Details of the proposed reorganization of the finances of the Mexican Central railway will probably be made public some time next week. The plan includes the retirement of the general mortgage 4 per cent bonds, as well as the first and second income bonds. Statements that Mexican National interests will take part in the reorganization of the Mexican Central are said to be premature.

President Lowry of the Twin City Transit company says: "The increase in the dividend on the common stock from 4 to 5 per cent was based on the satisfactory earnings. Indications are that the earnings will gradually increase. The directors believe that for the present earnings will fully justify dividends on the common stock at the rate of 5 per cent and that in the more remote future a higher rate can be paid."

Reports from Butte, Mont., say that several mines of the Amalgamated Copper company, tied up by strike, have resumed operations.

George Higginson Jr. has been elected Vice President of the Metropolitan Elevated in place of President George B. Harris of the Burlington railway.

General Electric was strong on the report that a 66 2-3 per cent stock dividend would be announced on May 5.

In connection with the recent activity in St. Paul, Northwestern, and Rock Island, New York reports say it is a fact that for some years a rate agreement has existed between St. Paul and Northwestern and that these two roads, years ago, agreed not to violate one another's territory. This agreement has been faithfully kept, and today relations between the two roads are entirely harmonious. To this, however, Rock Island is not a party.

Money Market.

The New York banks so far this week transferred through the Subtreasury $350,000 to Cincinnati for crop purposes. Of this amount $50,000 went yesterday, and further transfers are expected.

It is reported from Washington that authority has been received by the New York Subtreasury to accept, as may be offered for telegraphic transfer to Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, and New Orleans, deposits of funds to the amount of $200,000 a day to each point until further orders.

The National City Bank loaned $1,000,000 in New York on call. Money closed there at 5½@6, with the last loan at 6 per cent. The ruling rate was 6 per cent.

Southern Pacific.

Strong bull points are current on Southern Pacific, and the bull pool in this stock is again in active operation. At the same time parties in a position to know assert that there will be no movement of importance at the moment, but that later on it will be taken in hand and given a prominent position in the speculation. The earnings are large and are increasing and will be considerably enlarged when the necessary arrangements are completed for handling the output of the Texas oil fields, for which the company has in course of construction a large number of tank cars. The utilization of this oil as fuel as a substitute for coal will result in a material saving to the Southern Pacific, and while the question of a dividend on the stock has not been considered, it is the opinion of those best informed that the company will enter the dividend ranks within a year.

Dividends Declared.

The United States Cast Iron Pipe company declared a regular quarterly dividend of 1 per cent on the preferred stock, payable on June 1.

The Pacific Coast company paid a regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on the first preferred and 1 per cent on the second preferred and common stock, payable on May 1.

Union Traction Strong.

Strength was shown by Union Traction common stock again yesterday on the Chicago Exchange. It advanced on the purchase of 3,300 shares to 20⅜ and closed at 20¼, a net gain of ⅜. It is said that among the buyers recently have been some of the local political crowd, who wanted to take on blocks before a settlement of the franchise question. This, however, is not confirmed. It is not disputed that some of the people in the company feel much more cheerful over the outlook than for a long time before, and that there has been some good buying.

Mr. Theodore H. Price, who has been bulling cotton since it sold at seven cents per pound and is now the recognized leader of the present enormous speculation in cotton, in an interview this evening says that it is his confident belief that very much higher prices for cotton will be shortly reached.

Mr. Price is regarded by some as the James R. Keene of the cotton market. He bases his belief in higher prices upon the remarkable prosperity of the country and the impending settlement of the war in south Africa. He says that the figures of the visible supply, which will be published on Friday, will be startling and sensational, and will fully confirm his earlier predictions of a cotton famine. Mr. Price says further that the backwardness of the new crop has introduced into the situation a fresh bullish factor. His reports indicate that the new crop is about three weeks late and that there is a substantial reduction in both acreage and fertilizers. Mr. Price says that the world consumes 225,000 bales weekly, and that three weeks' delay in the maturity of the new crop means that there will be an additional consumption of 775,000 bales to be supplied out of this year's already inadequate supply. Mr. Price says that it is obvious that existing stocks of cotton will be more than consumed at the present rate of consumption, and that cotton must inevitably go to a figure which will check this consumption. He says that two years ago, when the position was even less acute than it promises to be this summer, cotton sold at 12 cents per pound before there was any substantial diminution in the world's takings. He says that it is therefore impossible to name a figure at which the advance is likely to stop.

ACTIVE DAY IN MARKET

TWO RAILROAD STOCKS CONTRIBUTE THIRD OF BUSINESS.

Louisville and Nashville and Southern Railway Common Lead Wall Street List, First Named Scoring Big Advance—Community of Interest Suggested by Developments—Many Other Traction Issues Score Gains and Some Sharp Rises Are Made.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, April 9.—[Special.]—Transactions in both railroad stocks and bonds today came close to the high records of activity for this year, and, notwithstanding some irregularities, the tendency of prices was upward, some decided exhibitions of vigor being noted. The market the greater part of the day was unaffected by an active and firm money market, at rates ranging between 5 and 6 per cent, and a flurry in call funds to 7 per cent shortly before the close of business had comparatively slight reactionary influence. A sharp advance in the price of wheat failed to attract much attention.

The total transactions aggregated over 977,000 shares, of which two stocks, Louisville and Nashville and Southern railway common, contributed considerably over one-third. They overshadowed the movements in any other individual shares. The first mentioned was irregular in movement, but left off nearly 5 per cent higher, following yesterday's improvement of 2½ per cent. Southern railway common was especially prominent late in the day, when large blocks of the stock changed hands within trifling price changes.

The street was inclined to regard the movements in the two stocks as significant of community of interest developments.

Moderately large transactions occurred in Atchison common, Union Pacific, St. Paul, Missouri Pacific, Norfolk and Western, Southern Pacific, Chicago Union Traction, Manhattan railway, St. Louis Southwestern preferred, Southern railway preferred, and Wabash preferred, and net gains were established extending to 1¼ per cent in the first named, although nearly all of them finished at recessions from the earlier high prices.

Numerous net advances, some of them sensational, took place in the usually less active shares and in the miscellaneous stocks and so-called specialties. These included Wheeling and Lake Erie first and second preferred, Des Moines and Fort Dodge, Fort Worth and Denver City, New York, New Haven and Hartford, Père Marquette, and Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic common and preferred, and improvements ranging up to 5 points in Keokuk and Des Moines were recorded.

In the industrial list the most material gain was enjoyed by Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing—11 points on transactions of over 11,000 shares. There were rumors of a closer working arrangement with the General Electric company. The stock of the last mentioned concern retained nearly 3 per cent of an extreme advance of 5 points. Other strong features included American Locomotive, Continental Tobacco preferred, International Power, International Silver, and Rubber Goods common and preferred. Amalgamated Copper was fairly active and sustained a fractional net decline.

The railway bond market was generally strong, with activity most conspicuous in Green Bay and Western B debentures, Wabash B debentures, Union Pacific convertible 4s, Chicago Terminal Transfer first 4s, and Central Railroad of Georgia first, second, and third incomes.

Silver bullion today in the London market sold down to the lowest price on record, 23⅞d per oz., a figure only once before recorded—in the fall of 1897. The weakness which marks a 3½ decline in a year is ascribed to the poor trade situation in India, the small purchases by France, Russia, and Spain, and the unsettled state of the Chinese market.

IN NEW YORK MONEY MARKET.

NEW YORK, April 9.—There was a notable speculative movement in the stock market today, which is universally attributed to the operations of a combination of wealthy Western men. Louisville and Nashville was again the leader of the market in point of activity and sustained strength.

Realizing set in near the close, and some important stocks closed with net losses, notably New York Central, Manhattan, Chicago and Northwestern stocks, and Rock Island.

Some of the active speculative bonds were affected by realizing, and the market generally was irregular. Total sales, par value, $5,535,000.

Close: Money on call firm, 5@7 per cent, closing bid and asked 5½@6; prime mercantile paper, 4½@5 per cent; sterling exchange easy, with actual business in bankers' bills at 487⅛@487¼ for demand and at 485⅛ for sixty days; posted rates, 486 and 488½; commercial bills, 484½@485⅛.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS.

General Tendency of Cash, Bonds, and Other Securities at London, Paris, and Berlin.

NEW YORK, April 9.—The Commercial Advertiser's London financial cablegram says: "The stock market was idle but firm today. Consols dipped 5-16 on nervousness over the budget outlook, but recovered ⅛. Americans were firm, closing at the top. The settlement disclosed hardly any bulls. The general contango began at 4½ and eased off to 3½, with even less in St. Paul, Canadian Pacific, Louisville and Nashville, and Southern Pacific. New York bid up Louisville and Nashville 2 points in ten minutes. The Metropolitan District underground railroad stock has been strong during the last few days. A clique is buying, and it is reported the Speyers are now backing Yerkes."

LONDON, April 9.—Money today continued to be in strong demand. Discounts were firmer.

TEA MEN DIVIDED ON TAX

Retailers Generally Approve of the Action, but Wholesalers and Jobbers Doubtful as to Results—Merchants Allowed Six Months in Which to Dispose of Accumulated Stocks—Growers Claimed They Received a Better Price with No Tax.

Local tea dealers are somewhat divided as to the wisdom of Congress in taking the tax off tea on Jan. 1, 1903. Retailers generally favor the abolition of the 10 cents a pound duty paid since June, 1898, but larger dealers—importers, jobbers, and wholesalers—are doubtful as to the propriety of taking off the tax.

The tax on tea was left undisturbed six months longer than on other articles in the war revenue measure to enable tea handlers to dispose of accumulated stocks and to have the market generally in better condition when the tax expires.

Foreign growers have strongly opposed the tax, claiming they received better prices for their crops when there was no tax.

Under the tax, receipts have gradually increased. On the 1898-'99 crop they were 82,908,000 pounds; 1899-1900 crop, 85,907,000 pounds; and 1900-'01 crop, 91,941,000 pounds. It is estimated that on the 1901-'02 crop not over 76,479,000 pounds will come forward. The average before the tax was about 90,000,000 pounds annually.

One of the greatest benefits of the tax has been in keeping out low grade teas, which it was not profitable to import.

The keeping out of impure tea will hereafter be accomplished by what is known as the "standard" law, which will still remain in effect. Under its operation all tea below a certain grade will be returned to the country whence it came, the loss falling on the importer.

This month's total promises to fall at least 25,000 short of April, 1901, or about 225,000. Five loads of 1,576@1,638-lb shorthorn steers sold at $7.40, with about eight loads averaging 1,420@1,479 lbs at $7.25@7.35. Twenty-three 1,304-lb Wisconsin steers sold at $7.15, being about the highest on record for Wisconsin cattle. Few native steers sold below $5.75. Native butcher and canning stock ruled firm at $1.50@2.75 for canning cows, $3.00@6.00 for poor to fancy cows and heifers, $2.75@5.75 for bulls, and $3.50@6.00 for veal calves. Stockers and feeders sold slowly and prices ruled weak, with sales at $2.90@5.40.

There was a moderate run of hogs, and the quality was much improved, in fact, as good as any time recently, there being a large proportion of heavyweights and more good butchers among the arrivals. Early sales were at steady prices, with the later market weak to 5c lower. Shippers and speculators were the principal buyers at the start, while packers waited until the urgent outside orders were filled. Notwithstanding the fact that the late market was lower, some droves cost more than on Tuesday, owing to the improved quality. One load averaging 306 lbs sold at $7.07½, with 244@330-lb averages at $7.05, and 196 lbs as high as $6.85. The average price for the day was $6.78.

NINE FISH IN 500-FOOT NET.

Two Days' Work at Cedar Lake Makes Total Catch Ten—Effort Is Decided a Failure.

Another day was spent by educators, scientists, and Indiana farmers yesterday in seining Cedar Lake, and the total catch was nine fish. As the catch on Tuesday was but one croppie, the increase was remarkable, but strangely the distinguished party of fishermen are about ready to call their effort a failure. The experts have now decided that the 500-foot seine is too small. The purpose of the seining was to free the waters of pirate fish, that the lake might become the home of black bass.

LOCUST PLAGUE SAID TO BE DUE

Indiana State Geologist Declares Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, and Kentucky Will Suffer.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 9.—[Special.]—State Geologist Blatchley said today that Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, and Kentucky will be infested with the seventeen-year locust plague this summer, and that Indiana will have more locusts than all the other central States put together.

Only eastern Illinois will be affected, he says. The last appearance of the insects in Indiana was in 1885. They are expected to make their appearance about May 1.

Geologist Blatchley is advising that few fruit trees be planted this year, as the locusts will practically destroy them.

SKYSCRAPER FOR RETAIL DISTRICT

Big Steel Construction Building to Go Up at State and Adams Streets.

LONG TERM LEASE BOUGHT

PRICE NOT MADE PUBLIC.

Another skyscraper is to be erected in the heart of the retail district. George Lytton, son of Henry C. Lytton, has purchased from Henry Siegel of Siegel, Cooper & Co. the ninety-nine-year ground lease of the property at 213-215 State street and 207-209 Wabash avenue, just south of Adams street.

At the expiration of the pending lease on the State street property on May 1, 1903, Mr. Lytton will begin the erection of a modern steel construction building, at least twelve stories high and possibly sixteen, to cost in the neighborhoor of $500,000. The Wabash avenue property will be improved during the present year with a modern six-story building.

The State street property has a frontage of 42½ feet, a depth of 145 feet, and is improved with a four-story stone front building. The fee of No. 213, which is owned by Charles H. Bears, has a frontage of 22½ feet, while the fee of 215, with a frontage of 20 feet, is owned by the John D. Jennings estate. The fee of the Wabash avenue property, which is 46x172 feet, is owned by Mrs. Frances E. Curtis. The terms of the deal, which was negotiated by Ismond & Brown, are withheld for the present.

The leases of the property were acquired by Mr. Siegel in 1898, when his firm was planning to move from their present site to one in State at the southeast corner of Adams street, reaching through to Wabash avenue.

The annual rental of the two State street holdings is $20,000, which, capitalized on a 4 per cent basis, gives a value of $500,000. This gives a front foot value of $11,776 and a square foot valuation of $81.13. The annual rental of the Wabash avenue property is $12,000, which, capitalized at a 4 per cent basis, gives a value of $300,000, or $6,521 a front foot.

The filing for record this week of the assignment of the ground lease of the property from H. B. Gimbel to Mr. Siegel was refered to as a preliminary to Mr. Siegel's disposition of his leasehold interests in the property. It now appears that it involved the disposition of his State street leasehold interests as well. Mr. Lytton is said to have made the purchase on his own account as an investment.

Residence Property Sold.

The Thomas A. Wright residence at 3601 Michigan avenue was sold at foreclosure sale at the auction-room of the Real Estate board yesterday to Mrs. Harriet B. Borland for $38,000. The property has a frontage of 59 feet and a repth of 143 7-10 feet.

The American Trust and Savings Bank appeared as the grantor in several deeds filed for record yesterday with an aggregate consideration of $56,950. To John R. Coombs it conveyed four pieces in Yale avenue, between One Hundred and Nineteenth and One Hundred and Twenty-second streets, for $27,700, and to Theophilus King the bank conveyed two pieces for $29,250.

Edmund V. Church has quit claimed to S. Leonard Boyce the leasehold interest and the building and chattels at 200-206 Wabash avenue. The lease was made for thirty years from March, 1882, at an annual rental of $2,700 for the first ten years and appraised for each succeeding five years. The fee of the property is owned by S. Leonard Boyce and Charles W. Boyce.

Two 4 per cent West Side loans, a low rate for that section, have been negotiated by Edgar M. Snow & Co. They loaned $25,000 for five years on the fee at the southeast corner of Canal and West Randolph streets, 75x150 feet; and $10,000 on the property at 148 West Randolph street, 20x152 feet. They also made a loan of $25,000, five years, at 4 per cent, on the property at 191-193 Fifth avenue, 35x90 feet, with three-story brick building.

Lease Goes on Record.

The lease by the Board of Education of property at the northwest corner of Dearborn and Monroe streets, made to the National Safe Deposit company in 1881, went on record yesterday. Twice the lease has been supplemented by stipulations other than those contained in the original lease. The lease as it now stands dates from July 1, 1900, and extends for ninety-nine years. The property is 95x192 feet, and brings the Board of Education an annual rental of $50,148. The property is occupied by the First National Bank Building.

CORONER'S JURY ASKS CARS TO RUN SLOWLY BY SCHOOLS.

Verdict at Inquest Over Body of Girl Killed While on Her Way to Studies—Trolley Victim Identified.

That the traction company should run its street cars slowly in the neighborhood of public schools was stated in the verdict of the jury at the inquest over the remains of 8-year-old Sophia Kuhn at the Passavant Hospital yesterday. Patrons of the Ogden School, Pearson and State streets, to which school the Kuhn girl was on her way when struck by a street car, are signing a petition to be presented to the traction company, and Coroner Traeger will ask Alderman Minwegen to have the matter brought up before the City Council.

The man who was run over and killed by an Elston avenue car, near Division street, on Sunday evening, was identified yesterday as Hilirous Parolik. Identification was made by the man's widow, who lives at 574 Holt avenue.

Miss Huldah Erving, 5544 Sangamon street, was awarded a verdict of $5,275 in Judge Hanecy's court yesterday against the Chicago City railway company for injuries sustained while alighting from an electric car.

WAGES GO UP IN SKYSCRAPERS.

Managers of Down-Town Office Buildings Give Employes Benefit of Increased Rental Receipts.

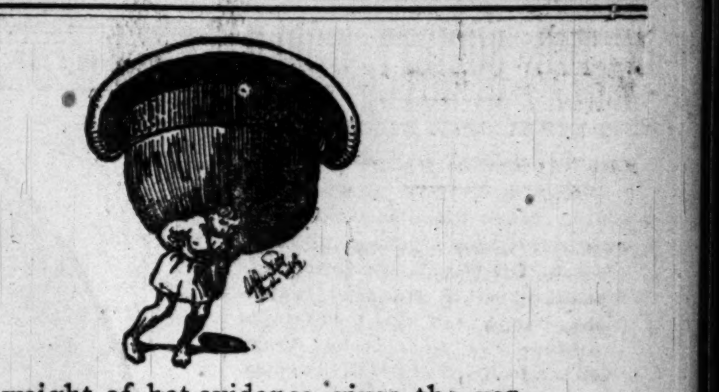

Owing to the general prosperity and the increase of rental receipts, managers of many down-town office buildings have decided to raise the wages of their employés. Hundreds of men who toil in the great skyscrapers will be benefited by the increase, and the scale of wages for janitors, elevator operators, window washers, and engineers, it is said, will be higher than that of any other city in the country.

In many instances the men have already felt the benefits of advance in office rents, but the greater number of increases will come about May 1, when the new leases are being signed. It is thought by many building agents that all other buildings will have to follow in the raise or sacrifice service, the general tendency being towards securing better service and the most trustworthy men.

Chief among the agents who will increase their pay rolls considerably are Aldis, Aldis, Northcote & Co., who have charge of a score of office buildings, including the Monadnock, Marquette, and Venetian Buildings.

In speaking of the proposed increase Arthur T. Aldis said:

"We have increased the wages of many of our employés all the way from 5 to 10 per cent, and we are planning an increase of all others who have been in our employ for a term of service sufficient to warrant confidence in them."

The weight of hat-evidence gives the verdict to our new effects in Derbies and soft hats.

For a $3 retainer we give you $5 worth of style, elegance, and service.

A $4 hat-fee secures in our new Derby hat a finer quality of fur-felt than is used in any $5 hat we know of; a sort of innate unapproachableness is its chief trait.

Better beware of the sightly cheap fur-felts and the deceptive wool-felt hats so prodigally displayed in this region. They're under indictment by those who know hats.

Sunny spring neckwear; patterns and shapes fascinating; prices likewise; 50c to $1.50. Springish styles in shirts, gloves, hosiery, and men's indispensables of all sorts.

CANCEROUS ULCERS

Are in many respects like other ulcers or sores, and this resemblance often proves fatal. Valuable time is lost in fruitless efforts to heal the sore with washes and salves, because the germs of Cancer that are multiplying in the blood and the new Cancer cells which are constantly developing keep up the irritation and discharge, and at last sharp shooting pains announce the approach of the eating and sloughing stage, and a hideous, sickening cancerous sore begins it destructive work.

No ulcer or sore can exist without some predisposing internal cause that has poisoned the blood, and the open discharging ulcer, or the festering sore on the lip, cheek or other part of the body will continue to spread and eat deeper into the flesh until the blood has been purified and the Cancer germs or morbid matter eliminated from the circulation.

In February, 1899, I noticed a small lump on my lower lip. The doctor cauterized it but another came and broke out into an open sore. I began to take S. S. S. and after I had taken seven bottles the place healed entirely and no signs of the disease have been seen since. W. P. Brown, Hollands, S. C.

S. S. S. cleanses the blood of all decaying effete matter. It has great antidotal and purifying properties that soon destroy the germs and poisons and restore the blood to its natural condition. And when pure blood is carried to the ulcer or sore the healing process begins, the discharge ceases and the place heals over and new skin forms. S. S. S. is a strictly vegetable blood purifier containing no mercury or mineral of any description.

If you have an ulcer or chronic sore of any kind, write us about it, and medical advice will cost you nothing. Books on Cancer and other diseases of the blood will be sent free to all who desire them.

MISS ETHEL PECK BECOMES MRS. GEORGE P. EARLING.

Wedding Takes Place at Noon in the New England Congregational Church, Dr. Frank Gunsaulus Officiating—Several Hundred Invitations Issued and the Building Is Crowded—Miss Mary Maud Avery Wedded to Mr. William H. Pruyn Jr.

The fashionable wedding of yesterday was that of Miss Ethel Peck, daughter of Mr. George R. Peck, and Mr. George Peebles Earling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Earling, which was celebrated at noon at the New England Congregational Church, Dearborn avenue and Delaware place. Dr. Frank Gunsaulus performed the ceremony.

The day was perfect, and the Easter decorations of lilies and palms was an effective setting for the handsome spring toilets worn. Several hundred invitations were issued and the church was filled to its utmost seating capacity.

An organ program was played while the guests assembled, changing to the wedding march from "Lohengrin" as the bridal party entered. The ushers were Mr. Hyatt Cox, Mr. Joseph Gunsaulus, Mr. Charles Peck, brother of the bride; Mr. David Owen, and Mr. Louis Alstead of Milwaukee. Following them were the five bridemaids—Miss Mary Boyle of Louisville, Miss Wilhelmina Forgan, Miss Mary Peck, sister of the bride; Miss Clara Whedon, and Miss Julia Terry of Galesburg.

Mrs. George Neal Wilson, the bride's sister, who was married at the same altar a few months ago, preceded the bride, who entered with her father. The groom, with his brother, Mr. Sherbourne Earling, who acted as best man, was waiting at the altar.

The bride wore a princess gown of white liberty satin elaborately trimmed with Flanders point lace. The tulle veil was fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms, and her bouquet was a large loose bunch of white sweet peas. The matron of honor and the bridemaids were dressed alike in white louisienne silk and cream lace, with large tulle hats trimmed with pink and white roses. Their bouquets were pink sweet peas.

There was no reception after the ceremony, but a wedding breakfast for the bridal party and relatives was given at the Peck residence, 17 Delaware place. Spring flowers were placed about the drawing-rooms, and in the dining-room the mantel was banked with pink roses, and the table was trimmed with white lilacs. The bride received many beautiful and costly presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Earling will spend their honeymoon in the East and possibly will visit Canada. They will spend the summer at Oconomowoc, where the Peck and Earling country places adjoin each other.

Among the guests were many from out of town, a number from Topeka Kas., being Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blood Smith and their daughter, Miss Helen Smith; Mr. Charles Willis Gleed, and Miss Helen Rossington, who was accompanied by Miss O'Connor of San Francisco. Others were Mr. A. A. Robinson, President of the Mexican Central railway, and his daughter, Miss Robinson; Miss Pritchard of Janesville, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Earling of Milwaukee, and Mr. H. B. Earling of Marion, Ia.

Miss Mary Maud Avery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Avery, and Mr. William Henry Pruyn Jr. were married at 8 o'clock last evening at the residence of the bride's parents, 512 West Adams street, the Rev. John Henry Hopkins officiating. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Katherine Avery, as maid of honor, and Mr. Samuel R. Pruyn was his brother's best man. There were no bridemaids, but two little flower girls—Alice Harvey and Pauline Smith. George A. Colburn and Truman W. Brophy Jr. were ushers.

The bride's gown was of white peau de soie with an overdress of chiffon and lace, and her bouquet was lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore white point d'esprit and carried pink roses. The flower girls wore pink crepe frocks and carried small baskets of pink sweet peas. The color scheme of pink and white was carried out with roses and Easter lilies. Mr. and Mrs. Pruyn will be at home after June 1 at 231 Forty-second street.

Mrs. Helen M. Rockwell celebrated her ninety-ninth birthday yesterday at the residence of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene S. Pike. Mrs. Rockwell, who was born in Colbrook, Conn., came from Ohio to Chicago twenty years ago to make her home with Mrs. Pike. She has another daughter, Mrs. J. H. Morley, who lives in Ohio, but who was unable to be present yesterday. Mrs. Rockwell received her friends informally during the afternoon. The rooms of the Pike residence were fairly banked with flowers which the visitors brought. As has been her custom for years, Mrs. Pike presented her mother with a bouquet containing as many American beauty roses as the number of her years.

At the opera yesterday afternoon and on Tuesday evening society people were well represented in the boxes and even more so in the orchestra chairs. In the latter circle were Mrs. Potter Palmer and her sons and Mr. Adrian Honoré, Mrs. Arthur Caton, who brought Miss Catherine Eddy and Miss Caroline Kirkland; Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Abram Poole, Mr. and Mrs. Ashbel Newell, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ryerson. Mr. and Mrs. John M. Harlan were with friends in a box. Mrs. T. S. McClellan and her daughters occupied a box and Mme. Gadski was their guest.

Mr. Allison Armour, with a party of friends which will include Mr. and Mrs. Jordon L. Mott Jr., Mrs. Moreton Frewen, and Miss Frances Isham of Chicago, will sail for Europe today in Mr. Armour's yacht, Utowana. They will go direct from New York to Gibraltar and the Mediterranean.

Dr. and Mrs. Louis Falk of 116 Waller avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Cora Francesca Falk, to Mr. Franklin Mason Miller.

Among those having the entertainment in charge are Mrs. I. N. Danforth, Mrs. S. F. Leonard, Mrs. William Dandy, and Mrs. James Frake. A number of West Side young women will pose in the tableaux, among them being Miss Edith Kohlmat, Miss Genevieve Birkhoff, Miss Edith Wilson, Miss May Leonard, Miss Franc Keith, Miss Fay, Miss Eckhart, and Miss Taylor.

The Jackson Park club will give a waltz reception this evening. The bachelors of the club will give a banquet and smoker for the benedicts on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Rockwell King and Miss King of 63 Hawthorne place are in New York for a short stay.

HUSBAND FINDS REFUGE BEHIND A BARRICADE.

Frank C. H. Strasburger declares that from April, 1899, to April, 1902, his home in Parnell avenue, Englewood, was divided into two hostile camps. One was occupied by Mrs. Emily M. Strasburger, his wife, and he in another part of the house was entrenched behind a barricade of bolts and bars. The living-rooms were regarded as neutral territory, and became the scene of numerous pitched battles between the belligerents.

Strasburger says the long campaign resulted in his utter discomfiture. He left his barricaded quarters a few days ago and sought an abode elsewhere. Yesterday he filed suit for divorce against his wife, and asked the court to end hostilities by an injunction restraining her from pursuing him.

Mrs. Georgiana Harding filed a bill for divorce against her husband, William Harding, alleging that he has been guilty of acts of cruelty toward her.

DAUGHTER OF NOTED EVANGELIST MARRIED.

MISS MAUD TALMAGE.

Washington, D. C., April 9.—[Special.]—Miss Maud De Witt Talmage, daughter of the Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, was married at noon today at her father's residence, 1400 Massachusetts avenue, to Mr. Clarence Frederick Wyckoff of Ithaca, N. Y. The Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage of Chicago, brother of the bride, performed the ceremony, and her brother-in-law, Mr. Daniel Delevan Mangam of New York, gave her hand in marriage.

On account of the serious illness of Dr. Talmage, who was unconscious of the happy event transpiring under his roof, only a few relatives, with the young girls who were to be bridemaids, had the first plans of the wedding been carried out, were of the party. While Dr. Talmage is not sinking, his condition is not so favorable as a few days ago, and it is thought best to keep the excitement attendant upon the wedding from him.

In the family party with Mrs. Talmage were Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Donnan of Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Mangam, Mr. and Mrs. Warren G. Smith of New York, and Mr. Edward G. Wyckoff of Ithaca. The friends who were to be bridemaids and who witnessed the ceremony were Miss Nell Evans, Miss Alice Burdette, Miss Mary Warner, Miss Mary Wells, Miss Sally Faulkner, and Miss Georgiana Gibbs of Philadelphia. Mr. Kenneth Chisholm of New York was best man, and Miss Hazel Talmage Smith, a niece of the bride, was bridemaid. The bridal robe was of rich Irish lace over white silk and chiffon, a bridal veil and orange blossoms completing the costume.

A wedding journey to Japan had been planned, but on account of the serious condition of Dr. Talmage the bride and groom will remain within easy reach of Washington. Mr. Wyckoff is a Cornell graduate and was one of Peary's arctic explorers.

SAY SCHOOL BOARD DODGES

TRUSTEES ACCUSED OF EVADING KINDERGARTEN ISSUE.

Committees Announced to Report Next Wednesday Are Planning No Meetings and Superintendent Cooley Admits He Does Not Know When the Matter Will Be Settled — Citizens Ready to Present Arguments, but Can Find No Official Ears to Listen.

The Board of Education is accused of dodging the kindergarten question which it has been expected to settle this week. The School Management and Finance committees, who are announced to report next Wednesday night, are planning no meeting, and Superintendent Cooley said yesterday he did not know when the matter would be settled.

Citizens interested in retaining the kindergartens were prepared to come before an expected session of the committees yesterday. It was thought the matter would certainly come up at the regular meeting of the School Management committee this afternoon, if not settled before.

From all information that could be secured last night no report will be made next Wednesday night, and the public agitation of the question will be allowed to cool before final action is taken.

Mrs. P. J. O'Keeffe and others interested are urging an early decision, because the kindergarten teachers are begnining to look elsewhere for work.

Petition for German Course.

President Harris received a flood of letters ysterday from parents, protesting against the abolishment of the German course. The letters had the same form with a different name signed to each one, and most of them addressed in the same handwriting.

"There is no disposition on the part of the Board to abolish the German work in the schools," said President Harris. "We are simply placing it on a level with English."

Plotting Against Tax Work.

The meeting of the Howland club last Saturday, at which the Teachers' Federation was criticised, and the meeting announced for next Saturday at Kinsley's, where it is rumored a similar program will be carried out, are regarded by many of the school principals as parts of a well laid plan.

"These things are not mere coincidences," said the principal of a West Side school, "nor is it a mere accident that but one side of the Howland club meeting was reported. As a matter of fact, the defense of the teachers' tax fight was more spirited than the criticism and was not answered. When Professor Tolman made his attack half a dozen principals jumped to their feet and protested.

"The trouble is the principals have become interested in the work of the federation, and the school authorities are behind these meetings, which are planned for the purpose of heading off any movement toward cooperation of teachers and principals in the federation work."

Teachers' Club Meets Saturday.

The Chicago Teachers' club will meet next Saturday at 2:30 p. m. in room 913 Masonic Temple. There will be nomination of officers for the ensuing year. Miss Emma L. Church will deliver a stereopticon lecture on "Japanese as a Key to Italian Art." Miss Mary Bartelme will speak of her work as "Public Guardian."

PLAN A BROAD ART LEAGUE.

Call Issued for the Purpose of Forming a Society to Embrace All Branches.

A meeting of artists has been called for Saturday afternoon in room 613 Masonic Temple for the purpose of forming a Society of Associated Arts. This society will admit to membership oil, watercolor, and pastel artists, etchers and engravers, illustrators and designers of book covers, mural artists, sculptors and architects, designers in art glass and mosaics, designers in metals, wood, and leather, ceramic artists, photographers and pyrographers, scenic artists, and lithograph and poster artists. CLARK STREET IS HISTORY

CHANGE IN CHARACTER, NOT IN ITS NAME, IS WANTED.

Chief O'Neill Calls Attention to His Order, Effective May 1, by Which He Says Thoroughfare Will Be Revolutionized — General Fitz-Simons Says Use of McKinley Avenue Would Reflect on Memory of Martyred President—Business-Men Object.

Chief of Police O'Neill says that within a year the main reason for wanting to change the name of South Clark street to McKinley avenue will have been removed. He asserts the street will be redeemed. Few businessmen along the thoroughfare favor the proposed change.

Two months ago Chief O'Neill sent notices to the Clark street saloonkeepers, warning them that after May 1 women would not be allowed in the saloons. He told them to bear this in mind when they were making their leases for buildings.

"May 1 is only three weeks off," said the Chief yesterday, "and after that the street that honors the memory of George Rogers Clark will honor it in a different style. The ordinary saloon trade will not keep up many of these saloons without the presence of women. The street car lines and churches will have redeemed Clark street."

Leave It Alone, Say Merchants.

Business-men say endless confusion would result from any alteration in the name, and General Fitz-Simons thought it would be unjust to load the notoriety of Clark street on the memory of the martyred President. A few opinions expressed by the business-men follow:

J. Irving Pearce—A change would result in much confusion. Clark street is known all over the country, and, while some parts of it have a bad reputation, the character of the entire street is getting better.

H. S. Clarke, Hibernian Bank—Better leave it alone. It would be like changing the name of an old institution, and would lead to much confusion and do no good.

Harry L. Hamlin, Grand Opera-House—It is ridiculous. They might as well change the name of Broadway in New York. Better wake up the people and clear up the street itself.

Change Character of Street.

F. M. Atwood—I have advertised this location for years and do not want to see it all undone. I am more in favor of changing the character of the street. The name itself is not bad.

Charles E. Graves—I am not in favor of it. A better move would be to take down the overhead signs.

General Fitz-Simons — Clark street was named after George Rogers Clark, a great discoverer and explorer in this region, and the name has a distinctive meaning to all old settlers. It is a good name and should be left alone.

Acting Mayor Walker—Let Clark street live up to its name. It perpetuates the name of a gallant old pioneer, and in due time will be a credit to it.

EXCITED BY A STRANGE PIT.

Investigation Reveals What Is Thought to Be a Huge Water Tank Deeply Buried.

What was believed to have been a bottomless pit was discovered on the West Side yesterday, but after great commotion and considerable excitement it was found that the pit was about fifteen or twenty feet in depth. It is believed to be a huge water tank buried, but how it came to be beneath the soil was not explained. The discovery was made in the blacksmith shop of Charles E. Larson in the rear of 108 West Randolph street. A heavy piece of steel fell on the ground and disappeared. This led to the investigation.

Marquise de Fontenoy Letter.

Copyright, 1902, by the Marquise de Fontenoy.

THE destruction of Euston Hall by fire on Saturday is calculated to excite a good deal of sympathy for its aged owner, the octogenarian Duke of Grafton. For he is exceedingly poor—that is to say, for a peer of his rank, and it is difficult to see how he will be able to rebuild his ancestral home and to restore its former glories. Moreover, he has had more than the ordinary share of domestic sorrows, both through his eldest son, Lord Euston, and his only daughter, Lady Eleanor Harbord.

Lord Euston indeed, a fine specimen of manhood, standing over 6 feet 4 inches in his stockings, has been for many years endeavoring, but in vain, to free himself from the bonds of an altogether odious marriage, which he contracted in a moment of temporary mental aberration. His wife, the Countess of Euston, who on the death of the old Duke of Grafton will become Duchess of Grafton and a full-fledged peeress of the realm, bore, prior to her marriage in 1871 to Lord Euston, the name of Kate Walsh, although her "nom de guerre" in the half world of which she was a member was Kate Cook.

Lord Euston quickly came to his senses, and, settling upon her $50,000, left her in England and went to Australia, where he remained for several years. On his return she commenced suit against him for alimony and restitution of conjugal rights, the $50,000 which he had settled upon her prior to his departure having been embezzled by the lawyer intrusted with the investment of the sum. Lord Euston declined to have anything to do with her and set to work to get rid of his matrimonial bonds. The investigation that had been carried on by his lawyers while he was in Australia had led to the discovery that Lady Euston had been previously married to a man by the name of George Manley Smith, who was still alive at the time of her marriage to Lord Euston.

Smith was found living in New Zealand and was brought over to England by the Duke of Grafton and his family for the purpose of giving testimony as to his marriage with Lady Euston when the case came on in the divorce court. His evidence was perfectly satisfactory and convincing as far as his marriage to Lady Euston was concerned. But on cross-examination Lord Euston and his father were horrified to find that Smith in his turn had a wife living at the time when he went through the ceremony of marriage with Kate Walsh, and that, therefore, the latter was not legally married until she wedded the Earl of Euston. The case, therefore, was decided by the courts against the Earl, and the woman remains to this day his legal wife, and when her noble father-in-law breathes his last will blossom forth as the Duchess of Grafton.

The Countess, while she has managed to steer carefully clear of anything that could afford to the Earl a pretext for securing a divorce from her, every now and again comes before the public in a manner extremely mortifying to the man whose name she bears and to his relatives. A year or so ago a young plumber of the name of Charles Hill was arrested by the police in London while endeavoring to sell a pair of sapphire earrings and a lady's jeweled watch. On being charged with theft he declared that the jewels in question had been presented to him as a gift by the Countess of Euston. The latter, on being questioned by the police, denied having ever seen the plumber. But on the following morning, when the man was brought before the police magistrate, the butler of the Countess appeared and declared that his mistress would not appear to prosecute the man and would make no charge against him, adding that the man was perfectly right in saying that the jewels had been presented to him by Lady Euston and should be discharged. He added: "Her Ladyship has been ill for a number of years, is not quite right in the head, and often gives away jewels to any one who comes along, no matter whether visitors or workmen employed about the house."

The fact that the Countess should thus be irresponsible would be sufficient to render her safe from any divorce court proceedings, no matter how much ground her husband might have for the latter, as the English law does not admit of a woman mentally irresponsible being held accountable for her actions in the divorce court.

The Duke of Grafton is of royal ancestry, the first Duke having been the son of King Charles II. by that Barbara Villiers who was created by the "Merrie Monarch" Duchess of Cleveland, and the present Duke by virtue of this descent bears the royal arms of England, "bruised" by a baton sinister. The present Duke is a soldier by profession and served with considerable distinction in the Crimean war, where he received a shot in the chin which caused his life to hang in the balance for many days. He joined the household of Queen Victoria as equerry when Edward VII. was a mere boy, and the King, who has always held him in high regard, has insisted on his continuing to form part of the royal household in the rôle of honorary equerry. He is rather old-fashioned in his ideas and somewhat despotic with his tenants, insisting that not only every tenant but also the latter's family should attend some place of worship regularly on Sunday and Christmas day under penalty of notice to quit. As Lord Euston has no children the dukedom will eventually pass to the now 19-year-old son of Lord Alfred Fitzroy, who is about to enter the profession in which his grandfather, the old Duke, won so much distinction.

Mention of Lord Euston's divorce court proceedings reminds me that last Sunday's newspapers contained dispatches to the effect that Lady Francis Hope (May Yohe) contracted a marriage at Yokohama with Major Strong immediately on receiving news that a decree of divorce had been granted. In the event of this statement being correct, Lady Francis has rendered herself guilty of bigamy. For the decree granted to Lord Francis is one known in legal phraseology as "nisi," and it is not until six months later, when the matter again comes before the court and the decree is declared "absolute" by the Judge, that the divorce is legal and complete.

This form of procedure has been established in order to give time to the official known as the King's Proctor to ascertain whether there is any obstacle to the divorce in the way of collusion between the petitioner and the respondent, or in the case of the petitioner having been guilty of infractions of the marriage laws and vows in the same degree as the respondent. Many a "nisi" decree of divorce has been thus held up by the King's Proctor after having been pronounced by the Judge, and when the King's Proctor has proved the charges on which he bases his objections to the decree the Judge refuses to make the decree "absolute."

That is why it is called a decree "nisi" in the first place. It means a decree of divorce unless something turns up within the following six months to interfere with it. It is, therefore, not until six months hence that Lady Francis can contract any legal marriage with Major Strong, or that Lord Francis will be released from his matrimonial bonds.

The French courts have just ordered the restoration to the ducal house of Gramont of a certain number of government bonds deposited with the authorities in 1862 for the purpose of furnishing the annuity of $2,000 which the Duke de Gramont-Caderousse was sentenced by the courts forty years ago to pay to the widow and children of the Parisian journalist Dillon, whom he had killed in a duel. After the Duke's death the annuity was continued to be paid from his estate, and it has only just ended by reason of the demise of the last surviving child of the slain journalist. This goes far to explain why French duelists are so careful not to inflict mortal or even serious injury upon their adversaries. They are afraid of having to pay heavy damages in the event of fatal results.

CLEAN HOUSE; CLUBS WAIT

WOMEN'S MEETINGS CONFLICT WITH SPRING FIGHT ON DIRT.

Members Put to Test of Deciding Whether to Attend a Mothers' Congress or Care for Home Affairs Make the Latter First Consideration—Banner Piemaker to Leave and a Party Will Be Given for Her—Assembly of Nurses.

The relative importance of mothers' meetings and housecleaning was put to a test at the meeting of the Hull House Woman's club yesterday. Members of the club are old-fashioned enough to consider domestic duties of first importance. They will be represented at the Mothers' congress, which meets on April 17 and 18 at the Warren Avenue Congregational Church, if housecleaning does not prevent.

Mrs. Sallie Hallowell was chosen as a delegate from the club. When Mrs. Pelham, the President, asked her if she could attend she said:

"That will depend on whether I am through housecleaning. It is my busy time."

Mothers Too Busy to Attend.

Mrs. Henderson lives near the place of the meeting and expressed her intention of attending. The club made her a delegate. There was an impression among the other members of the club that mothers in general would find the meeting hard to attend, since at present many of them have to move or clean house.

Miss Julia Lathrop and a number of unmarried women, who play an important part in the "Mothers'" congress, will be able to attend. In fact, the Program committee makes the explanation that unmarried women make the best "mothers" for club meetings, as the real mothers are too busy to write papers and read them.

Champion Piemaker to Leave.

The moving season has touched the Hull House club in another respect. Mrs. Alpha Fuller, whose ability to make the best lemon pies in Chicago has been an undisputed challenge for years, is to leave the city. Mrs. Fuller stirred up the club women a year ago by asserting that cooking was becoming a lost art. At the time many club members told of going into the kitchen and making pies that equaled those of their grandmothers, but none was ever offered in competition with Mrs. Fuller's New England pies.

Mrs. Fuller has been one of the leading members of the Hull House club and was one of its founders. She conducted what was known as "the linen chest," and many families in the Nineteenth Ward have been helped in sickness by this institution, which furnished them with necessary articles.

As a sort of farewell to Mrs. Fuller a thimble party will be given next Thursday, and the linen chest will receive a final replenishment. Mrs. Fuller has lived on Blue Island avenue since it was a country road and the location of the principal "inns" of Chicago.

Work Among Jewish Women.

Mrs. Henry D. Solomon of the Council of Jewish Women addressed the club on "Women in Organizations." She told of the difficulties experienced in organizing the Jewish women because of the prejudices of men, but said it had been demonstrated that for philanthropic and charitable ends women's organizations were most effective. Mrs. Solomon suggested it was time the public, through the Board of Education, took upon itself the support of vacation schools. She spoke briefly in favor of the kindergartens.

Trained Nurses to Meet.

Injunction for a Y. W. C. A.

Judge Tuley granted an injunction yesterday restraining the West Side Young Women's Christian association from using that name to designate its society. The injunction was granted on petition of the Y. W. C. A. of Chicago, which alleged that the use of the name by the defendant tended to lead the public to believe that it was a branch of the Y. W. C. A. of Chicago.

ENGLEWOOD SENIOR CLASS WILL PLANT A TREE TODAY.

Event Will Be Made One of Pomp and Ceremony at the High School—Latin Speech and Original Poems Given.

The Englewood High School senior class will plant a tree today—a scion of the Washington elm at Cambridge. The event will be made one of pomp and ceremony. The exercises will follow those once used in planting class trees at colleges, but which have been abandoned. The tree is seven feet high, and has grown from a seed of the tree planted ten years ago by Professor J. E. Armstrong, principal of the school.

The class will form in procession at Professor Armstrong's conservatory this afternoon and carry the tree to the school and through the halls and classrooms. Mortimer Flynn will dedicate the tree in a Latin speech, an original song by Miss Sinclair will be sung by the class, and orations by Fred Dillon and Will Kleppinger will be delivered.

Professor Armstrong will then plant the tree, each member of the class placing a shovelful of earth at the roots. This will be followed with a poem read by Miss Ida Robinson, and Professor Edwin Miller will read some original verses. A stone, similar to that at the Washington elm, will be placed at the foot of the tree, telling of its ancestry and by whom it was planted.

BOOK ON REINCARNATION PROVOKES HERESY CHARGES.

Lebanon, Ill., April 9.—[Special.]—Because of the authorship of a book advocating the doctrine of reincarnation of souls and offering scriptural reference in support thereof the Rev. Columbus Bradford, known in Chicago, where for four years he had charge of an undenominational church, has been removed from the pastorate of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Okawville, and at the next meeting of the Lebanon district conference he will be called on to answer the charge of heresy.

Dr. Bradford translates literally the scriptural phrase, "Ye must be born again," and argues that souls are incarnated in infants and permitted a new opportunity. The book is named, "Birth a New Chance."

Dr. Bradford's removal was made last week, but the reason did not develop until yesterday when a delegation visited the Presiding Elder, the Rev. R. D. Woodley, and protested against the removal.

A council of ministers of the district called here last night, and the action of the Presiding Elder was approved, and Dr. W. J. Van Cleve of East St. Louis was appointed to formulate charges of heresy and prosecute the case.

QUICK DROP IN STRAWBERRIES.

Fruit Retails at 20 Cents a Quart, Bringing It Within Reach of Thousands of People.

Strawberries at 20 cents a quart, considered a low price for this time of the year, placed that fruit within the reach of thousands of Chicago people yesterday. The berries, which come from Louisiana and Florida, are reported of excellent quality. Over 5,000 cases of twenty-four pints each were received from Louisiana yesterday. Texas and Mississippi will be contributing their product to this market in a few days. Reports indicate an abundance of strawberries, which seems to be sustained by the rapid fall in price.

SMALLPOX AGAIN INVADES ZION.

Dowieite Exposed to First Case Prefers Faith to Vaccination and Comes Down with Disease.

Smallpox has claimed another victim in Dowie's Zion. He is John Strech, an occupant of the "college" at 1251 Michigan avenue. He was removed to the Isolation Hospital. He caught the contagion from Frederick Speller.

In the same room with Speller slept three other men, two of whom had been vaccinated. The third was Strech. Dr. Spalding urged the latter to be vaccinated, but Strech said he was praying. The other two so far have escaped the disease.

Other cases reported to the Health department are as follows:

SMALLPOX SCARE IN KENOSHA.

Kenosha, Wis., April 9.—[Special.]—Kenosha became alarmed this afternoon when the doctors reported to the health officer that Joseph Jobin, a workman living at the West Side Hotel and boarding at the boarding-house of Mrs. Louise Whitbeck, had been ill with smallpox. As soon as it became known that Jobin had had the samilpox since Friday the boarding-house was deserted and the health officers set about to secure a general vaccination of all the people who had been with Jobin, both at the hotel and at the boarding-house. The Mayor called a special meeting of the Council this afternoon, and on the demand of the Health department orders were issued for the building of an isolation hospital. Workmen set to work this evening to erect the building on Washington Island.
